Shanghai

a city of many things... and many people

Shanghai is many things: But mainly it is a city of people.

An estimated 12 million people, in fact, making it China's biggest city and comparable only to Tokyo in sheer numbers.

Shanghai's streets are constantly crowded—something like Hong Kong's when almost everyone turns out during Chinese New Year.

And the people in them are inquisitive: people to whom a foreigner is still largely a strange face.

It is this inquisitiveness, therefore, which sees people throng around a visitor each time he stops in the street.

Shanghai is a city of fine buildings, and—architecturally—it is China's least Chinese city.

Indeed, the city's cosmopolitan and colonial heritage reflects today in the grandiose stone buildings which Westerners began to erect after first setting foot in Shanghai in 1832.

And it is, perhaps, the city's hotels—acknowledged as among the best in China—in which can be seen architecture which retains so much of the past.

Most of them were built in the early 1920s and '30s and ring true of the time when Shanghai, affectionately, was referred to as "Paris of the East" and, notoriously, as the "Wickedest city in the East."

There's the old French Club, too, once known as "The Ritz of the Orient" and still a place for visitors' enjoyment today as the Jing Jiang Club, a branch of the Jing Jiang Hotel.

The club and the hotels have gaudy and ornate art dèco interiors and impressive facades which make them easily recognisable landmarks as they tower above row upon row of red-tiled tenements across the ultra-flat landscape on which Shanghai is built.

Shanghai is a city of history: Captured by the British in 1842, it opened to foreign trade that year and was partitioned into British, French and later Japanese Concessions.

Great industries were founded and flourished as the British Concession became the International Concession and remained such until the early 1940s.

As a self-governing city away from Beijing's direct control, Shanghai's notoriety and fame grew in those days as rapidily as the wealth of merchants who traded not only in the city's famed silks and textiles but opium and many other commodities easily marketable as the port thrived.

But while Western traders prospered and built fine homes for themselves, the majority of Chinese lived in squalor and the contempt for which foreigners had for them became inbred. None of the locals, for instance, ever ventured near the city's famed Bund.

The Chinese Communist Party was founded in Shanghai in 1921 and, in May 1949, the Communists took the city.

Shanghai was the scene of many intense political struggles during the Cultural Revolution of the '60s yet, miraculously, most of the city's architectural landmarks survived the ravages of that time.

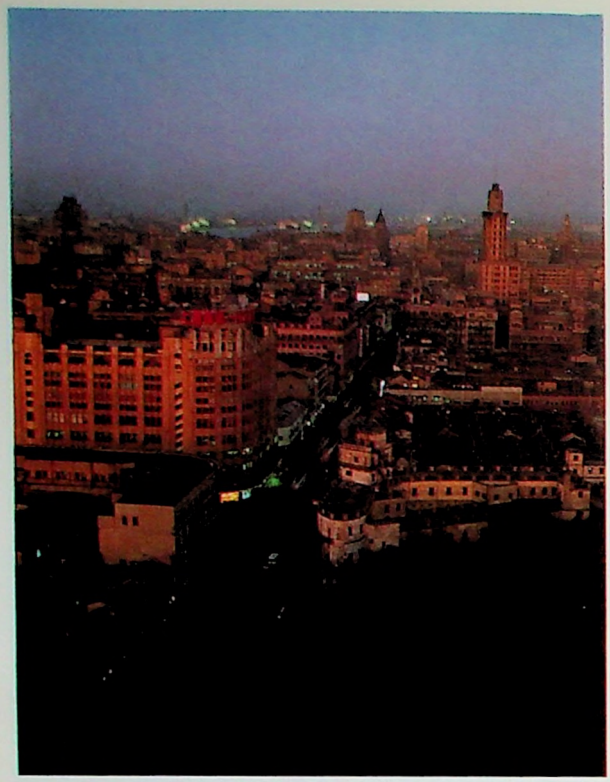

Today, of course, Shanghai once more is open to foreign visitors and they can reflect on the fabled past. And the bustling present as well.

Shanghai is a city of noise: The bicycle is the predominate form of transport but buses, both electric and fuel-powered, cars, trucks and a large taxi fleet travel the tree-lined and impeccably clean streets.

It is through the most unlikely form of the bicycle that most noise is created.

In fact, there is a continuing cacophony as drivers constantly beep their car horns as warnings to cyclists who swarm over the roads, including the Bund where locals were once not allowed.

Shanghai, indeed, is many things.

Nanjing Road East, Shanghai's busiest shopping street.

上海是中国第一大城市，估计人口有一千二百万，世上只有东京的人口可以相比。

上海的街道上永远都是熙熙攘攘，挤满了人，像春节期间的香港。

上海的人对外国人都很好奇，所以常可以见到一大群人跟着或围着一个外国人，指指点点。

上海市有很多漂亮的建筑物。从建筑学的观念来看，上海是中国国内中国味道最淡的一个都市，宏伟的西方国家风格建筑物，到处可见，而从这些建筑物，也可以看到以前的上海是一个怎样的城市。

也许最能反映出昔日上海的风貌的，就是那些旅馆和饭店，它们大多数建于二十年代和三十年代，那时候，上海有“东方巴黎”和“东方最邪恶都市”之称。

上海的锦江俱乐部，以前是法商总会，有“东方丽池”之称，到今天，它仍是个供游客玩乐的地方。

上海是一个富有历史意义的城市。它在一八四二年被英军攻陷，于同年成为对外开放的商埠，并有英租界、法租界，后来又有日租界。自此之后，上海市就日趋繁荣，可是与此同时，上海的臭名也日渐昭彰，鸦片充斥，罪恶泛滥。

中国共产党是在一九二一年于上海成立，一九四九年五月，共产党攻陷上海市。

在中国文化大革命期间，上海发生过多次激烈的政治斗争，但像奇迹似的，该市大部分具有特色的建筑物，竟然逃过被摧毁的命运。

上海是个充满噪音的城市，因为驾驶无轨电车、公共汽车、货车或其他汽车的司机，要不断按喇叭警告那些骑脚踏车的人不要横冲直撞。

上海市は中国最大の都市で，人口は約1200万，世界でこれに匹敵することができるのは東京だけである。

上海の通りはいつも人の往来がはげしく，にぎやかである。人にあふれ，まるで旧正月の香港の通りのようである。

上海を訪れる外国人がまだ少ないので，多くの人が珍しがって，一人の外国人の後にぞろぞろついて歩いたり，取り囲んだりしているのをしょっちゅう見かける。

上海には立派な建物がたくさんある。建築学の観点から見ると，上海は中国で，もっとも中国的たたずまいの少ない都市だと言うことができる。雄大なヨーロッパ風の建築物が至るところで目に止まる。これらの建築物を通じて，以前の上海市がどういう都市であったか察しがつくのである。昔日の上海の面影をもっともよく残しているのは，ホテルやレストランであろう。これらの建物はほとんどが20年代，30年代に建てられたもので，当時，上海は「東洋のパリ」とも，または「東洋一の罪悪都市」とも言わわていた。

上海はまた歴史的意義のある都市でもある。1842年英国の軍隊はここを攻め落し，同じ年，門戸開放によって，外国に開放した商業都市となった。英国とフランスはそこにまず租界を設けた国である。その後日本もここに租界を設けた。外国に開放されてから上海は日に日に発展し，繁栄の道を歩んだのだが，同時にアヘンがこの都市に充満し，罪悪の氾濫する都市ともなった。

1921年，中国共産党はここ上海で成立した。1949年５月共産党は上海市を攻略したのである。

中国の文化大革命の間，上海では非常にはげしい政治闘争が何度も発生したが，同市の大部分の特色のある建築物は奇跡的にも破壊の運命から免れることができた。

上海はまた騒音にみちた都市でもある。それはトロリバス，バス，トラックその他の自動車の運転手が，交通規則を無視して，めちゃくちゃに走り廻る自転車に，クラクションを鳴らすためだからである。

THE JING JIANG

THE Jing Jiang easily is the largest of Shanghai's hotels. Indeed, it is more like a miniature town and, from afar, the stone facades of the two predominate wings appear to rise like the ruins of some ancient city to dominate the centre of a vast and impressive skyline.

It was at the Jing Jiang where former United States President Richard M. Nixon and China's late Premier Zhou Enlai signed the Shanghai Communiqué, signalling an end to the cold war between the great powers.

And it is, without doubt, this historical feature which makes a visit to the Jing Jiang one of the high points of any visitor's stay. But that is not all.

A garden setting, in the midst of which stands a convention hall where the Shanghai Communiqué signing took place, provides a fresh and colourful view from the front windows of the exquisite French designed North and Central wings.

Mr Nixon stayed in the ornate and almost opulently-appointed presidential suite on the 16th floor of the Central wing.

The suite, similar to two others in the building, occupies an entire floor and includes three bedrooms in addition to a master bedroom, each with an adjoining bathroom; a sitting room featuring breath-takingly beautiful mother-of-pearl ingrained furniture; a loungeroom with television and wireless sets; a dining room with a setting for ten; and a study with a writing desk, piano and adjoining bathroom.

A thick pile, wall-to-wall carpet in rich red in each room and hallway is complemented by velvet drapes drawn across the French windows and Chinese lanterns strung from the ornate ceilings.

The de luxe suites cost ¥500 a day yet are constantly booked, no sooner one party moving out than another moving in to become temporary homes for foreign heads of state or international businessmen.

The 18-storey Central wing was built by the English in 1935.

Directly opposite the Central wing, on the other side of the garden setting, is the North wing, originally Cathay Mansions. Built in 1925, it rises 14 storeys as one enters up a series of grand-forming steps.

A West wing, built a year earlier than the Central wing, originally was designed the annexe of Gaona Apartments. It spreads sideways and has six blocks, each of three storeys. Rooms here are comfortable but not nearly as well appointed as suites in the North and Central wings.

The south wing completes the Jing Jiang complex. It is the only sector of the hotel built after the liberation, the five-storey block having been completed in 1965.

The Jing Jiang takes its name from the beautiful river which passes through the provincial capital of Chengdu.

All suites are air-conditioned in summer and heated in winter in accordance with Shanghai's distinct variations in temperature. Fast, efficient lift services in the North and Central wings, which have a certain old-world charm, take guests to their floors.

The Jing Jiang specialises in Sichduan cuisine but guests have a wide selection, including Sichuanese and Guangdong dishes with delicacies from Yangzhou (north of Yangtzekiang in Jiangsu province) and Sichuan.

There also are Fujian, Hunan and Shanghainese dishes and the main restaurant in the North wing has an extensive European menu with dishes ranging from black caviar, to soups, fish, steaks, omelettes, bacon and eggs and sweets.

Taped "Roaring '20s"-style music gives this restaurant a certain zing.

The hotel boasts some of the finest chefs in Shanghai with the Jing Jiang having sent a delegation to the United States and Hong Kong in the spring of 1980 to demonstrate culinary skills.

A row of shops along the western side of the compound gives the hotel the look of a miniature township.

There is a branch of the Shanghai Friendship store which sells various arts and crafts; a foreign book shop where, on sale, is a selection of up-to-date magazines and newspapers; a barber shop; a store selling pots and plants and another other arts and crafts; a souvenir shop; a food shop with a selection of most reasonably priced French and American wines; and a post, telex and telephone service.

The hotel's reception desk also is housed in this wing.

The Jing Jiang is in the centre of Shanghai, six kilometres from the railway station and 14 kilometres from Hongqiao Airport.

锦江饭店是上海市规模最大的饭店，分北楼、中楼、南楼和西楼四大部分。事实上，说它是一个迷你市镇也未尝不可。

说起来，锦江饭店真是名闻世界，中国已故总理周恩来和美国前任总统尼克松当年就是在这里签署上海公报，使两大强国之间的冷战从此结束。

当时，尼克松是住在中楼十六楼的华丽的总统套房内，这个套房和饭店其余两间总统套房一样，都是占用整层楼，包括三个卧房和一个主人房，一个布置着漂亮得令人惊叹的嵌真珠母家具的客厅，一个设有电视机和无线电设备的起居室，一个可供十人使用的饭厅，一个有写字台和钢琴的书房，邻接着一间浴室。

这三个特级豪华套房的租金是每天人民币五百元，可是从来没有空置过，外国的国家元首和国际著名商人此去彼来，一个搬出，另一个马上迁入。

饭店的中楼旅馆高十八层，是在一九三五年由法国人所建，原名茂名公寓。

在中楼的正对面，中间隔着一个花园的，是北楼旅馆。它楼高十四层，建于一九二五年，原名华懋公寓。

西楼旅馆比中楼旅馆早一年建成，原是高纳公寓的附属建筑，有六幢三层高炮台式公寓。

南楼旅馆是整个锦江饭店中唯一在解放后兴建的部分，楼高五层，建成于一九六五年。

以上四幢大楼共有套房七百二十六间。所有房间都有冷暖气调节装置。

锦江饭店是以流经四川省成都市的秀丽锦江为名。它所供应的四川菜和点心，也是非常著名的。除此之外，还有广东菜、扬州点心、福建菜、湖南菜和上海菜等供客人选择。如要吃西餐，在北楼的主餐厅内可以吃到各式各样的欧式西菜。

锦江饭店有不少名厨，且曾于一九八〇年春派遣代表团前往美国和香港表演烹饪技术。

沿着饭店的西边有一排商店，是这些商店使饭店看来像个小镇。这些商店包括翠竹厅南园咖啡室、上海友谊商店分店、外文书店、理发店、盆栽和工艺品店、纪念品商店、食品店（有法国和美国佳酿出售）、邮电服务处和总服务台。

锦江饭店位于上海市中心，离火车站六公里，离虹桥机场十四公里。

錦江飯店は，上海でもっとも規模の大きいホテルで，北　中，南，西の四つの館から成り立つている。ホテル内は小さな町だと言っても過言ではない。

錦江飯店は世界に名の知れわたったホテルである。中国の故周恩来総理は，　アメリカの前大統領ニクソン氏と，ここで上海コミニュケに署名をした。これによって，中米両大国間の長年にわたる冷戦状態は終止符が打たれたのである。

当時ニクソン大統領は，中館の16階にある豪華な貴賓室に泊っていた。部屋がコンビネションになっているこの貴賓室は，当ホテルにある，あと二つの貴賓室と同じように，一つの階全部を占領し，マスタベッドルームの外にベッドルームが三室ある。応接間は，真珠貝をはめこんだ螺鈿細工の家具で飾られ，そのきれいなことは，誰が見ても感嘆してやまないのである。居間にはテレビ，無線設備セット等が置いてあり，食堂は十人の人が食事をとることができる。書斎にはデスクの外に，ピアノが置いてあり，そのとなりはバスルームとなっている。

この豪華な設備をそなえた貴賓室は，一泊人民券500元である。それにもかかわらずこれらの部屋は，未だかって明いた例がない。外国の元首または，国際的に有名な商人が入れ代わり立ち代わり，明いたかと思ったらすぐ入ってくるという具合に利用している。

ホテルの中館は十八階になっており，1935年フランス人が建てたもので，以前は茂名マンションと呼ばれていた。

庭園を中にはさんで，中館の真正面に北館がある。ここは十四階で，1925年の建築である。もとの名は華懋マンションでした。

この外に，マンションの附属建築物として，六棟の三階建ての建物がある。

南館はこのホテルの中で，只一つの解放後の建築である。五階建てで，1965年に竣工した。

このホテルの四つの館には，部屋がセットになっているのが全部で726室あり，各室とも冷暖房の設備がそろっている。

錦江飯店の名は，四川省成都市のそばを流れる美しい綿江からとった。それで，ホテルで出される四川料理とその軽食は非常に有名である。この外，広東料理，楊州軽食，福建料理，湖南料理及び上海料理などがあって，客の注文に応じている。もし洋食の好きな方は，北館の第一食堂でヨーロッパ各国のいろいろな料理を味わうことができる。

錦江飯店には名コックが少なくない。1980年春，ホテルはコックの代表団をアメリカと香港に送り，各地で有名な料理を披露した。

ホテルの西側には商店が並んでいる。そのおかげで，ホテルがまるで小さな町であるかのような感じを受ける。ここには次のような商店がある。上海友誼商店分店，外文書店，理髪店，美容院，盆栽，工芸品商店，スーベニアショップ、食品店（ここにはフランス，アメリカの酒も売っている）などである。その外に郵便局，電報局とサービスステーションなどが設けられてある。

錦江飯店は上海市の中心地区にあって，上海駅から6キロ，虹橋空港から14キロである。

THE JING JIANG CLUB

The Jing Jiang Club's ballroom.

IF the Jing Jiang Club's exterior defies its immensity, guests are in for an even greater surprise once inside.

The club, across the road from the Jing Jiang Hotel, formerly known as the French Club and once popularly dubbed the "Ritz of the Orient," was built in 1926.

It occupies an area of 40,000 square metres and stepping through the revolving doors off Maoming Road and into a flower-decked foyer is like passing through the doorway into another century.

Foreign visitors, to whom the club was opened on December 15, 1979, are greeted with hand-written warnings about the dangers associated with being drunk or disorderly on the premises—but from that point on, it is fun and leisure all the way.

Immediately off to the right of the foyer is a 10-pin bowling alley, very much a part of the past.

The pins are manually set by an attendant who stands by as each ball rattles down.

Yet, significantly, the old is combined with the new.

In front of the bowling lanes are eight of the most modern pin-ball machines on the market.

Add a bar, and comfort and pleasure are exemplified.

Step along the vast, red-carpeted hallway and one comes to amusement rooms where cards, mahjong and ping pong can be played. There also is a room where one can sit to read or relax in complete quiet and other private rooms where many important deals have been sealed.

Further along is a restaurant with French cuisine outlined on a hand-written menu which is truly indicative of a page out of the past. Wines and liquor are served, but guests also can take in their own drink.

The club has a function room and, in wings off the rear, an Olympic-sized indoor heated swimming pool and a bar.

A billiard room, with three full-sized snooker tables which have survived since 1925, makes up the club's impressive ground floor array of facilities.

If one walks the grand curved stairway to the second floor, another world from the French era of the 1920s opens up.

An indented and sprung oval dance floor, for example, is a feature of the French colonial ballroom in a wing off to the right.

The floor must be the envy of today's disco-going youth and the Steinway grand piano on stage a relic of the type which must cause tears to well in the eyes of those who can recall reminders of the great and glorious past.

The club's second floor also provides living quarters for foreign heads of state.

Yugoslavia's late President Josip Tito, for example, stayed at the club during his visit to Shanghai in 1978.

A spacious garden, featuring a sundeck bar, tennis court, fish ponds and springs, is included within the club's compound.

The club, however, admits only foreign guests and overseas Chinese who stay at hotels in Shanghai plus foreigners who reside in the municipality.

锦江俱乐部在锦江饭店对面，建于一九二六年，以前是法商总会，曾一度有“东方丽池”之称。

俱乐部占地四万平方米，在一九七九年十二月十五日开始开放，不过，只有住在上海各饭店内的外国游客和海外华侨，以及住在市区的外侨，才准进入俱乐部。

客人一穿过旋转门进入门厅，就仿似进入了另一个世纪。

门厅右首是一个十瓶保龄球球场，可是很落后，需要工人用人手把瓶子逐个捡起放好。

不过这里也不是没有新的东西，在保龄球场前就有八具最现代的弹球游戏机。

穿过铺着红地毯的过道，就到达一个娱乐室，客人可以在那里玩纸牌、打马将或者打乓乒球。那里还有一个清静的阅览室和其他的小会议室。

再往里面走，是一个供应法式西餐的餐厅，并有各类洋酒出售。

俱乐部还有一个大集会室、一个标准的室内温水泳池、酒吧和一个弹子房，弹子房内的三张球桌，从一九二五年一直留存至今。

二楼有一个充满法国二〇年代风味的舞池，还有若干客房，供外国国家元首住宿。南斯拉夫已故总统铁托一九七八年访问上海时，就曾在锦江俱乐部住过。

俱乐部的花园宽阔而美丽，树木成荫，绿草如茵，有假山、凉亭、鱼池和喷泉，还有一个网球场和一个露天酒吧。

The Jing Jiang Club, looking towards the sundeck bar.

錦江クラブは錦江飯店の向いにある。1926年に建てられ，以前のフランス商工会議所（フランスクラブ）で，「東洋のリィッツ」と呼ばれていた。

クラブの敷地は四万平方メートルで，1979年12月15日はじめて一般に公開された。しかし，出入りできるのは，上海市内の各ホテルに泊まっている外国の旅行者，海外華僑及び市内に住んでいる外国人に限られている。

廻転ドアを押して中に入ると，まるで違った他の世紀に足を歩み入れたような気分になる。

玄関ロビーの右側は，十本のピンのあるボーリング場になっている。しかし設備は古く，係員が手でピンを一つ一つ拾いあげ並べなければならない。

だからといって，ここには新しいものが何もないというわけではない。ボーリングレーンの前には，八台の最新式のピンボールマシンが置いてある。

赤絨毯を敷きつめた廊下を通って，中へ入っていくと娯楽室がある。そこでトランプ，麻雀，ピンポンなどを楽しむことができる。その外ここには，静かな閲覧室，談話室，小会議室などがある。

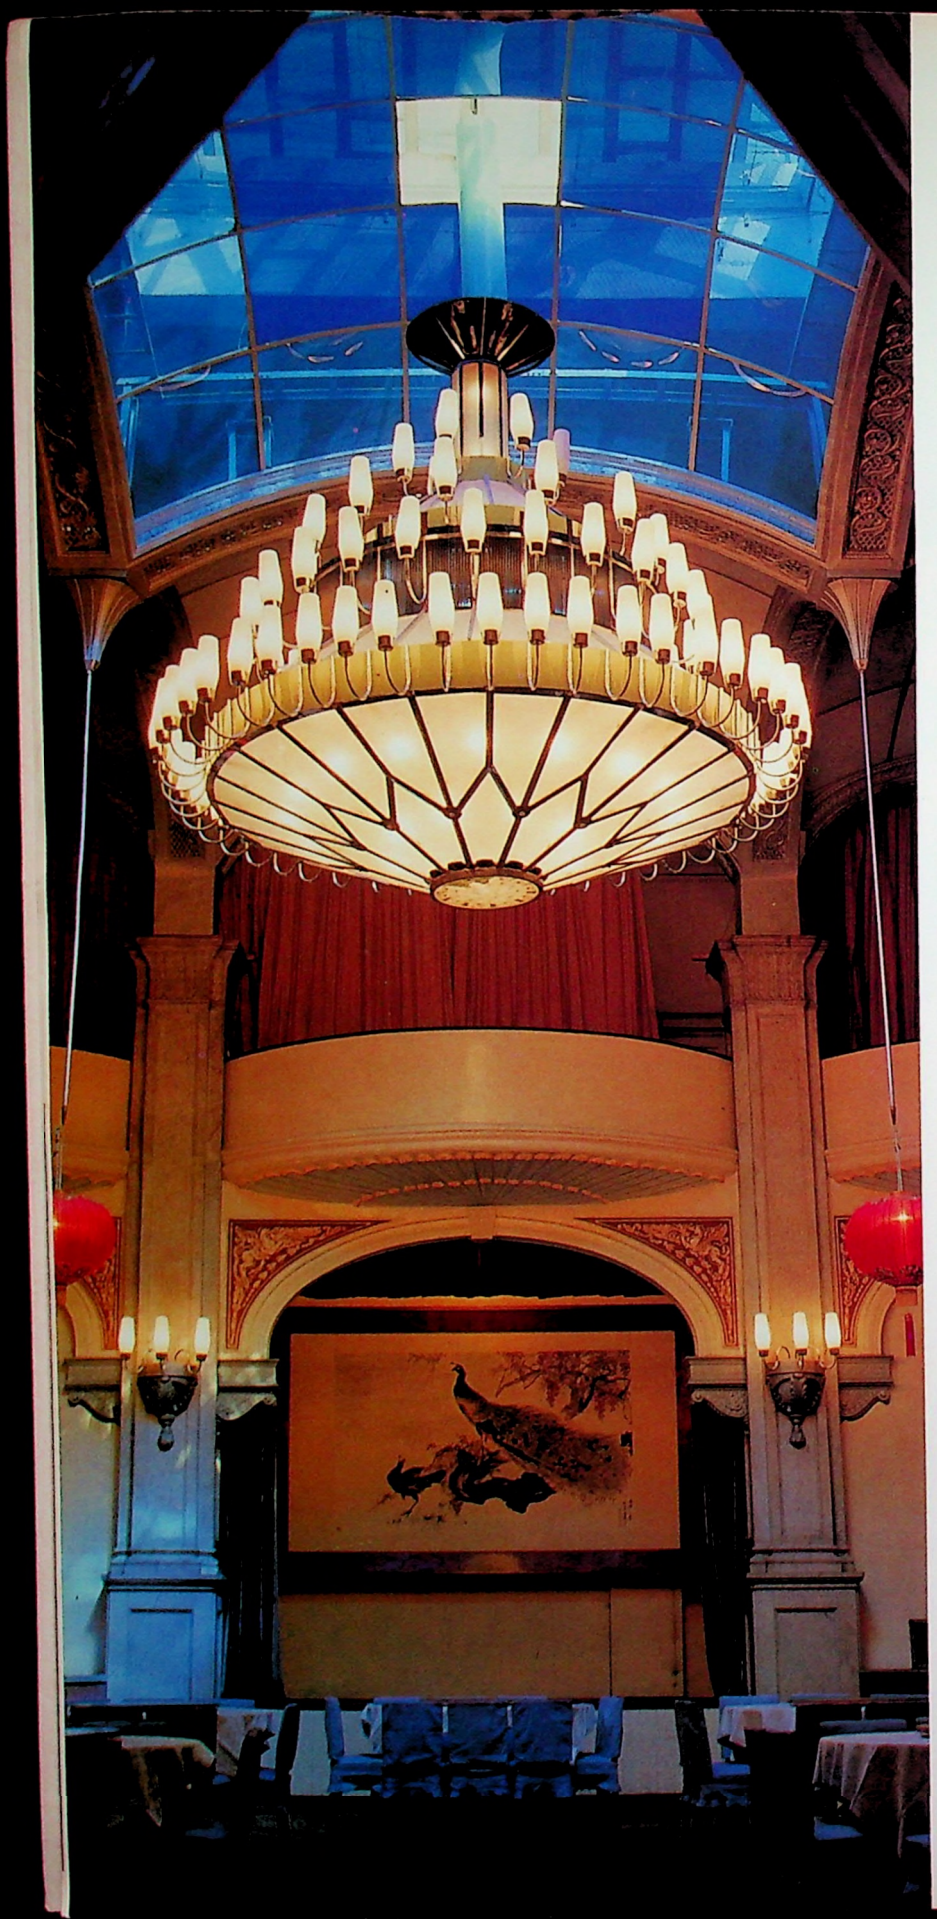

更に奥へ入って行くと，フランス料理専門のレストランがあり，ここでは料理の外，各種の洋酒も販売している。

クラブには，この外大きなパーティーが開けるホール，規格にあった室内温水プール，バー，ビリヤードなどがある。ビリヤードルームには，1925年に備えつけられた玉突き台が三台今でも残っている。

このほか部屋もいくつかあって，外国の元首の宿泊に供している。ユーゴスラビアの故チト大統領が，1978年上海を訪問した際，ここに泊まった。

クラブの庭園は広々として美しい。樹木は青々と茂って緑陰をつくり，芝生は緑の敷物を敷いたようにきれい。その他築山，東屋，魚の池，噴水などが設けられてある。それにテニスコート，露天バーが各一カ所ある。

THE dominate red-brick facade of Shanghai Mansions climbs like a series of paddy fields cut into a hill at each upper floor level to taper at the top of its 22 storeys into one of the city's tallest buildings.

And, from the top, one gets a panoramic view of the city and the bustling river life almost at the front door, for Shanghai Mansions looks out onto Suzhou Creek and the great, if muddy, Huangpo river just beyond.

Guests also command a view of Huangpo Park where local lovers, once never seen, now discreetly embrace.

The view is exciting by day but genuinely more spectacular by night.

Shanghai Mansions, formerly the famed Broadway Mansions, was started in 1930 and completed four years later.

Originally, it was Shanghai Lands property and built to accommodate senior businessmen from Britain and Europe.

But because of its location to the north of Suzhou Creek—just outside the European-controlled international settlements—it went through a great many upheavals.

With the advent of the Sino-Japanese war in 1937, the part of Shanghai where Broadway Mansions stood—known as Hungkuo—fell into Japanese hands.

Consequently, Europeans staying at Broadway Mansions found travelling difficult between their temporary home and their offices near the Bund in the international settlements.

The result was the number of guests staying at Broadway Mansions sharply declined.

A year later, a Japanese real estate company bought the Broadway from its original owners for 5.1 million yuan. The company used the building as quarters for Japanese businessmen.

The Nationalists took over the Broadway on the surrender of the Japanese and the lofty edifice was used by three groups.

Shanghai Mansions

The ground floor was a reception centre occupied by the Nationalist-controlled Lizhi Society.

The American Military Hospital used the second and third floors and the United States Military Advisory Group occupied the area between the fourth and 12th floors.

The Foreign Press Club had five floors between the 13th and 18th storeys.

The ruling Communist authorities took over the building when they moved to Shanghai in 1949 and, on May Day 1950, it was renamed Shanghai Mansions.

Today, it caters for foreign visitors, tour groups and businessmen plus overseas Chinese and visitors from Hong Kong and Macau.

Shanghai Mansions comprises a main building and an annexe.

There are 249 rooms, including 12 three-room suites and 49 two-room suites, in the main building which, in reality, makes Shanghai Mansions deceptively small in contrast to the giant facade.

Shanghai Mansions provides European dishes and specialises in Yangzhou cuisine and river aquatic food.

Adjoining a cafe off the main lobby are pinball machines and a billiard table. There also is a shop which sells arts and crafts.

上海大厦看来好像一级级的梯田，共二十二层，是上海最高建筑物之一。

登楼高望，整个城市景色都可尽收眼底，宽阔的黄浦江、漫长的苏州河和雅致的黄浦公园都历历在目。

上海大厦原名百老汇大厦，一九三〇年开始筹建，四年后落成。

它本来是一家英国公司的物业，是该公司的英籍和外籍高级职员宿舍。

中日战争爆发后，一家日本地产公司以五百一十万元购入该大厦，供日本商人居住之用。

日本投降后，国民政府接管百老汇大厦。稍后该大厦分别被三个团体使用：楼下是国民政府控制的一个会社的接待中心；二三楼是美国陆军医院，四至十二楼由美国军事顾问团占用；十三至十八楼是外国记者协会。

一九四九年，共产党进入上海，接收了百老汇大厦，并于一九五〇年五月一日将它易名为上海大厦。

上海大厦包括一座主楼和一座附楼，接待外国游客和商人、华侨、港澳同胞。

主楼共有十二个三房套房、四十九个双房套房，一百八十八个单人房。附楼又名浦江饭店，共有客房一百二十一个。

主楼所有客房都有冷暖气设备，豪华套房并有冰箱和电视。

食品方面，上海大厦供应淮扬菜点和西餐。

大厦的主大堂有一个咖啡室、一些弹球游戏机和一张弹子桌，还有一个工艺品售卖店。

其他服务设施包括理发室、邮电服务处、外币兑换处和代租汽车处等。

上海大厦离机场十八公里，离火车站三公里。

上海大厦の外観はまるで段段畑のようである。全部で二十二階，上海で，最も高い建築の一つである。

屋上から眺めると，上海市の全貌が一眸の中に収められる。広広とした黄埔江，長長とゆっくり流れる蘇州河，それに雅趣に富む黄埔公園などを眺めるとき，昔の事が一つ一つ目に浮んでくる。

上海大厦は以前ブロードウェー大厦と呼ばれていた。1930年から建築を始め，四年後に竣工した。

このビルは，もともと英国の某公司の不動産だった。その頃ここは，その公司の英国と外国籍の高級職員の宿舎として使われていた。

中日戦争勃発後，日本のある不動産会社が510万元でこのビルを買いとり，宿舎として日本商人に提供していた。

日本敗戦後，国民政府はこのブロードウェー大厦を接収した。その後まもなくこのビルは三つの団体が使用することになった。一階は国民政府の支配下にある某団体の接待センタで，二階三階はアメリカ陸軍病院，四階から十二階まではアメリカ軍事顧問団がそれぞれ占領し，十三階から十八階までは外国人記者クラブが使用していた。

1949年，共産党が上海を占領すると，この大厦も接収され，翌1950年5月1日に今の名上海大厦に改められた。

上海大厦は本館の外に，もう一つの附属ビルがあり，別館となっている。今ここは外国の旅行者と商人，華僑，香港，マカオからの中国人の旅行者が宿泊できるホテルになっている。

本館には，三間ワンセットの部屋12室，二間ワンセットの部屋49室をふくめて全部で249室ある。

本館の全ての部屋には冷暖房の設備があり，セットになっている豪華な部屋には冷蔵庫，テレビが備えつけられてある。

ここでは楊州の料理と軽食及び洋食をとることができる。

大厦の大ロビーには，コーヒショップ，ピンボールマシン，玉突き台などがある。工芸品の売店もある。

サービス施設として理髪店，郵便電報受付け，両替所，タクシサービスカウンターなどが設置されてある。

上海大厦は虹橋空港から18キロ，上海駅から3キロのところにある。

The Park

THE Park, as the name suggests, overlooks a large park and it is Shanghai's tallest hotel.

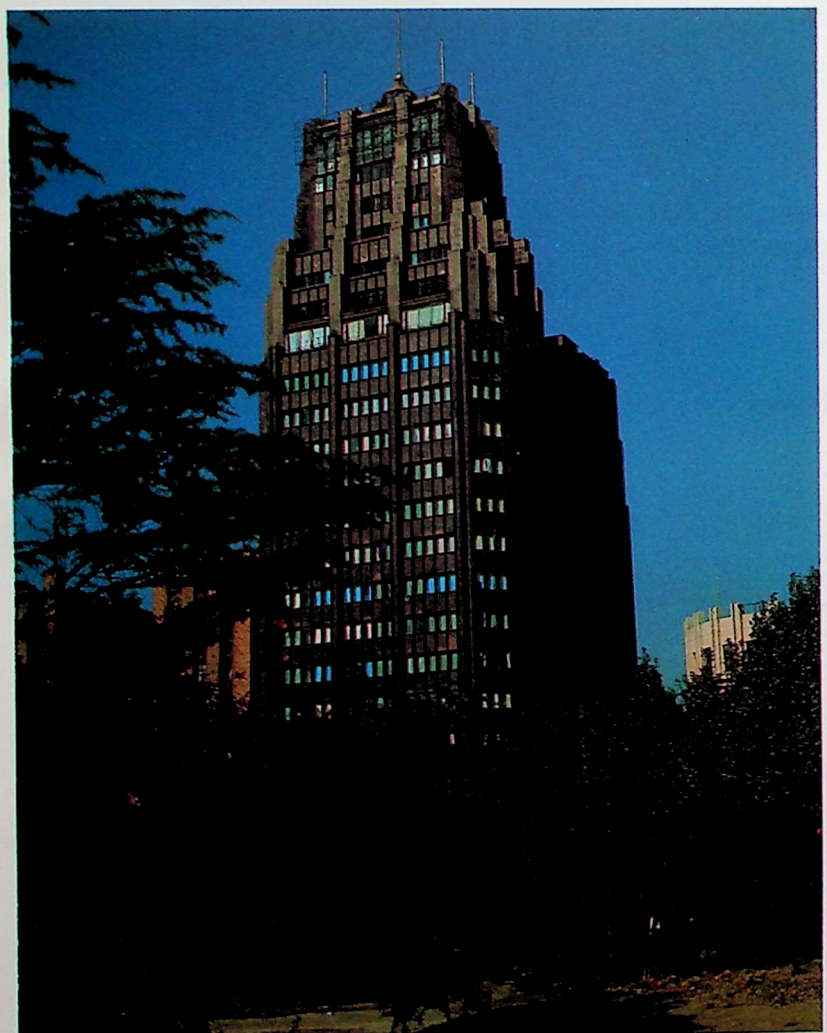

In fact, what now is the People's Park and the People's Square was once a racecourse, the outline of which still can be traced from the park's tree-fringed circumference.

But the hotel was not always known as the Park.

Like so many of Shanghai's hotels, its name has been changed on several occasions. Originally known as the Park, the hotel's name was changed to Guoji, or International, in the 1970s.

Only recently has it reverted to Park even though the Chinese name Guoji is retained.

The Park's construction began in the summer of 1932 and work was completed in November 1934 with the hotel opening a month later.

The Park rises 24 storeys (two are below ground level) and stands 83.8 metres to provide one with a complete panorama of the city.

Away to the west is the Bund with Shanghai Mansions and the Peace Hotel directly in view. Off to the east, the giant, brown-stone twin facades of the Jing Jiang rise like a colossus above the skyline.

Only the nearby Television Tower provides a higher vantage point in Shanghai than the Park. It reaches 750 feet into the sky and daily relays programmes in colour.

Yet the roof of the Park affords a view of places as far away as Woosung to the north and the hills of Kunshan and Sheshan to the west are dimly visible on a clear day.

The Park has 168 suites and rooms. There are 15 singles, 129 doubles, 23 suites and a special de luxe suite.

Like the other hotels, all rooms are air-conditioned in summer and heated in winter. There are automatic sprinkers in each room and a refrigerator for guests' convenience on each floor.

Like rooms in most other Shanghai hotels, the Park's feature high ceilings with heavily ornate designs and thick wooden-panelled fittings and doors.

There are seven banquet and dining halls of various sizes. The Phoenix Palace, specialising in Beijing and Shanghainese dishes, is on the second floor; a European restaurant, serving French-style food, is on the third floor and there's the Peacock Hall, with Beijing food, on the 14th floor and the Sky Terrace, featuring Beijing specialities, on the 19th floor.

There is a coffee house on the ground floor off which are pin ball machines.

Other facilities include gift shops, a barber shop, a foreign exchange counter, postal and telecommunication services and, of course, the ever-essential taxi service.

The Park is 15 kilometres from Hongqiao airport and two kilometres from the railway station.

国際飯店のビルは上海でもっとも高い。ビルの南側は広広とした人民公園に面している。現在，人民公園，人民広場と呼ばれている所は，昔の競馬場である。

当ホテルはこれまでに何回か名称を変えたことがある。最初はパークホテルと呼ばれ，七十年代になってはじめて現在の名国際飯店を使うようになった。最近，ホテルの英文名を昔のパークホテルに戻したが，中文名は依然として国際飯店の名称を使っている。

ここの建築工事は1932年の夏にはじまり，1934年11月に終了し，一カ月後に営業を開始した。

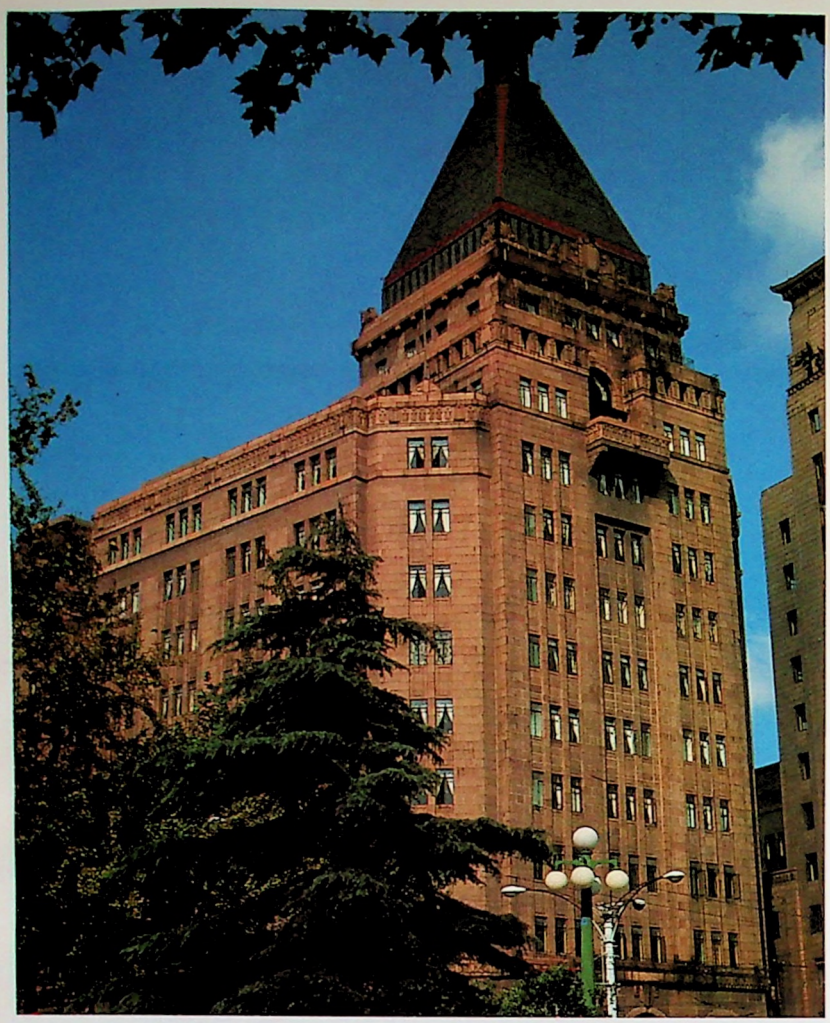

ホテルは二十四階からなり，その中地下は二階である。ビルの高さは83.8メートルで，屋上からは上海市の全景が俯瞰できる。東の方には，上海大厦，和平飯店などのあるバンドがまぢかに見え，西の方には錦江飯店が巨人のように聳え立っているのが眺められる。北の方は遠く呉淞まで見える。西の方はずっと先に昆山，佘山がかすんでぼんやり見える。

ホテルには特別豪華な部屋一室とセットになっている部屋23室，ダブル部屋129室，シングル部屋15室があり，ベッドは全部で323ベッドある。全ての部屋にはエアコンが備えつけられており，その外自動消火器も完備し，各階には冷蔵庫が置いてある。

The Peace Hotel, easily recognised by its green roof tower.

The Peace

THE Peace has been fittingly described as the businessman's hotel for a widely held belief is when someone stays there, he is in Shanghai to do business.

Indeed, the Peace is located in the heart of the city's business sector with its dual wings rising on either side of Nanjing Road East which was, and still is, Shanghai's busiest shopping street.

Nanjing Road runs more than three miles and incorporates the former Nanjing Road now known as Nanjing Road East.

The hotel's western front borders on Zhongshan Number One Road East, formerly called the Bund and, once, the best known street in the East.

An imposing line of European-style buildings stretches along the Bund. They were built in the days of the foreign concessions and remain, today, a focal business point.

Hence, the Peace earns its reputation as a businessman's hotel.

The northern wing, formerly the Cathay Hotel, was built in 1929 by businessman, Victor Sassoon. It easily is recognised by its green-roofed tower which aspires to give the hotel a cathedral-like look.

The 12-storey building is the earliest building on the Bund.

The five-storey southern wing, once called the Palace Hotel, was built in 1906.

The two wings have a total of 338 rooms and suites, including five singles, 273 doubles, 51 two-room suites and nine three-room suites.

They are all air-conditioned in summer and heated in winter.

The nine special suites are decorated after the styles of nine countries: China, Japan, the United States, France, Britain, Germany, India, Italy and Spain.

Some of the suites have TV sets and objects d'art on display. Some have open fire places. All have old-world upholstered lounge furniture, ornate ceilings and wooden-panelled walls.

They're decadent, almost, and certainly hotel rooms of this kind are no longer built in this day, truly an indication that this is one of Shanghai's most magnificent hotels.

The main wings have two spacious dining halls: the Chinese-style Dragon-Phoenix Hall with exquisite Chinese decor and the French-style hall. Many of Shanghai's major banquets and receptions are held here.

The colourfully-decorated 9th floor reception area is where important guests are received and, it is in this room, where the late Premier Zhou Enlai received many foreign visitors.

The culinary specialities include Shanghainese, Guangdong and Sichuanese tastes with the Shanghainese dishes being especially appreciated by foreign visitors.

The Peace proudly boasts an elderly barman adept as a cocktail mixer. He serves in the hotel's coffee shop and his drinks are widely received by visitors.

The coffee here also is a feature of the hotel. It comes from the true brew of powder prepared just minutes before it is served.

The hotel has postal and telecommunication services, foreign exchange, shops for the purchase of souvenirs and other necessities, a barber shop, foreign bookstore, billiard room and taxi service.

The Peace is 18 kilometres from Hongqiao airport and 2.5 kilometres from the railway station.

The Huaqia

THE Huaquia, or Overseas Chinese Hotel, is centrally located just north of the People's Park and only a few doors from the Park Hotel in bustling Nanjing Road West.

Built in 1930, it was originally the headquarters of the Hua'an Life Insurance Company but, in 1938, converted into a hotel and called the Jingmen. It was given its present name in 1958.

The squat nine-storey hotel rises 38.7 metres and is basically a marble structure, easily recognisable by its marble columns, beams and walls plus the nine-metre-high gold-plated clock tower atop the building beneath which is China's familiar red star.

As the name indicates, the hotel mainly caters for overseas Chinese and visitors from Hong Kong and Macau.

However, the hotel soon may accept foreign visitors who will be taken by the Colonial, Western and Edwardian settings—Settings elsewhere which might have been destroyed but here graciously and immaculately retained.

The hotel's lobby is on the second floor where also located is a coffee shop, a China Travel Service counter, and a souvenir shop.

Post and telecommunication services, taxi service and a general services counter are on this floor, too.

There are 90 guest rooms and five suites between the third and seventh floors. All are air-conditioned in summer and heated in winter. The suites have TV sets and, on each floor, is a refrigerator.

Guests are exceptionally well catered for with seven banquet halls of varying sizes located throughout the nine floors of the hotel.

Fujian cuisine is especially prominent and some of the better known dishes have won the acclaim of overseas Chinese whose forebears hail from Fujian.

Guangdong and Chaozhou food also is served.

Many tour groups of overseas Chinese stay at the hotel but individual guests are received.

They are warmly welcomed by a staff who, in fact, are so gracious that guests come to regard the hotel as home.

The Huaqiao is 15 kilometres from the airport and two kilometres from the railway station.

这座九层高的饭店标高三十八点七米，基本上是一座大理石建筑，屋顶有一个九米高的钟楼和镏金圆顶，很易辨认。

正如名字所示，该饭店主要是招待海外华侨和港澳同胞，有时也招待外国游客。

饭店的大堂在二楼，那里还有一个咖啡室，一个中国旅行社柜台、一个日用品和纪念品售卖部、邮电服务部、代租汽车处、和一个总服务柜台。

The Jing'an

THE Jing'an—literally peace and tranquility—is a hotel or guest house which certainly lives up to its name.

Located in the west of the city, the hotel takes its name after the famous Jing'an Temple nearby.

It is set adjacent a small park in which guests can take a morning or evening stroll and fully capture the quiet and beauty of the surrounding area.

The hotel has a Spanish look with a white facade and black wrought iron balconies.

It is a look which gives lie to the fact the hotel was built by a German businessman called Haig and, originally, named after him as Haig Mansions.

The nine-storey structure was built in 1925.

The hotel has 104 rooms and suites, including one de luxe suite, seven two-room suites and 96 other rooms.

The airy rooms feature rich red, wall-to-wall carpet and those on the front side look out onto the park with doors leading to French-style balconies from both bedroom and sitting rooms in the two-room suites.

There are TV sets in the living room of the suites and large writing desks which afford businessmen a spacious working area.

Bathrooms in the Jing'an are modern to the extreme.

Guests enter the Jing'an beneath an archway, climb a red-carpeted stairway and enter an elegant lobby where, seated in lush, blue lounge chairs they can view a number of traditional brushwork paintings which grace the walls. The lobby typifies the déco mood of Shanghai hotels' re-

The Dahua Guest House

THE 10-storey Dahua Guest House or hotel is set in an industrial area of the city and built of materials similar to those used in construction of the Park Hotel.

Some people, in fact, refer to the Dahua as "The Park Junior."

The industrial nature of the area is clearly illustrated when one looks out onto the rows of black-tiled homes and factories which are singularly different from the red-tiled roofing which dominates so much of the city's skyline.

But the area in no way detracts from the hotel's comforts, especially in the suites.

The fully carpeted suites are airy and bright and each suite and front room has a large balcony which can be entered from either bedroom or living room.

The hotel has two special suites, one standard suite and 87 other bedrooms.

A four-storey annexe has been built to the east of the main building where a large banquet hall and some dining rooms are located.

A fine selection of food is available with Beijing dishes the house speciality.

The hotel has in-house services similar to the other larger hotels. They include a coffee shop, a bar, a barber shop, taxi, postal, foreign exchange and repair services.

There also is an arts and crafts shop, familiar to all the hotels.

The Dahua is 10 kilometres from the airport and seven kilometres from the railway station.

宾馆共有特级套房两个、标准套房一个、普通客房八十七个，每一个房间都空气流通，阳光充足。

在宾馆主楼的东侧，又新建了一幢四层楼，内设餐厅和大型宴会厅。供应的食品主要为北京菜。备有冷暖气设置。

宾馆的服务设施，和其他大饭店的一样，包括咖啡室、酒吧、理发店、代租汽车、邮电服务、兑换外币、售卖艺术品和工艺品的部门。

達華賓館は上海市の西地区にある十階建てのホテルである。このホテルの設計構造，建築材料が国際飯店のに似ているので，「小国際飯店」と一部の人たちに呼ばれている。

ここには普通部屋87室の外に，セットになっている特別室２室と一般部屋１室とがある。各部屋とも日当りがよく風通しもよい。

本館の東側に四階建ての新館を増築した。食堂と大宴会場はともにここにある。食堂は北京料理が主となっている。冷暖房の設備も完備している。

ここのサービス施設は他の大ホテルと比べて少しも遜色なく，次のようになっている。コーヒショップ，バー，理髪店，タクシ受付け，郵便電報サービスコーナ，両替え所及び工芸美術品の売店などいろいろそろっている。

THE Shenjiang—near the city centre—is one of Shanghai's smaller hotels.

It is tucked away in Hankou Road near the People's Square and in a line almost directly opposite the Park Hotel.

The hotel has a white facade and French-style windows-cum-balconies.

The nine-storey hotel was built in 1934 and originally known as the Yangtze Hotel.

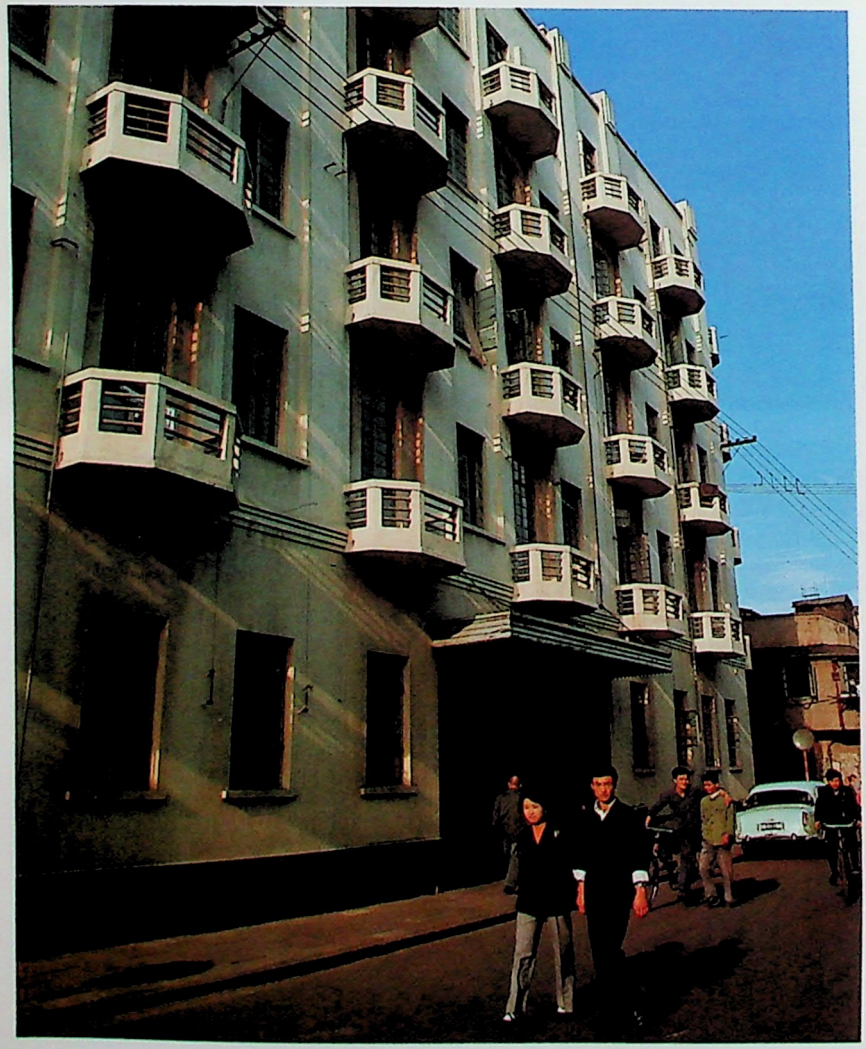

It was renovated in 1978 and renamed Shenjiang.

The hotel caters mainly for overseas Chinese and visitors from Hong Kong and Macau.

There are 200 rooms plus four dining rooms on the ground floor which specialise in Guangdong and Sichuan dishes in addition to Yangzhou cuisine.

General services are provided and there are shops and a coffee house.

The Shenjiang is 16 kilometres from the airport and 2.5 kilometres from the railway station.

申江饭店坐落于上海市中心的漠口路上，西面靠近人民广场，是上海市规模中型的饭店之一。

饭店共有客房二百间，楼下有四个餐厅，供应广东菜、四川菜和扬州菜。此外，饭店并设有小卖部、咖啡室和一般服务。

申江饭店距机场十六公里，距火车站二・五公里。

上海市の中心地区に近い申江飯店は漠口路にあって，西は人民広場に近い。ホテルの規模からいうと中程度のホテルの一つである。

ホテルは9階で1934年の建築である。旧名は「楊子飯店」と呼ばれていた。1978年改装して現在の「申江飯店」に名称を改めた。このホテルは華僑，香港，マカオの観光客が主として利用している。

申江飯店は虹橋空港から16キロ，上海駅から2.5キロのところにある。

HOW YOUR BUSINESS PLANS IN CHINA COULD BENEFIT FROM A BRIEF DISCUSSION WITH RCP-TV

RCP-TV is a Hong Kong-based video production company.
But besides being the most modern video facility in Hong Kong, RCP-TV is priveleged to be one of the few production houses in the world to have extensive experience in China.

The Hongqiao Club

THE steel gates which snap open on either side of the huge barbwire-lined fence, do not betray a single hint of what is beyond.

But once inside and on the narrow, winding road with exquisitely manicured lawns and pines on either side, one looks in awe as the world behind those gates opens up.

This, truly, is a case of East meeting West.

Imagine, if you can, the genteel setting of elegant, well-to-do English gentlemen and their ladies sipping tea and nibbling scones beneath maple and poplar trees in a vast manor.

Imagine dwellings with high-pitched gabled roofs, each with an attic and stone chimney from which smoke gently emits on a cool day and each blending Edwardian and Chinese architecture in a unique style.

Imagine a vast artificial lake lined by willows and bamboo; a lake spanned by a series of curved bridges at intervals along its breadth; a lake on which small boats are moored and in which couples can elegantly glide.

Imagine a tennis court in grounds studded with pagodas and a private swimming pool as well.

And, above all, imagine the possibility of such an idyll in Shanghai, the bustling, never-stop-city with its endless cacophony.

Now, cast all imaginings aside. This is for real.

This is the Hongqiao Club set in grounds which occupy more space than the great People's Park and People's Square rolled into one. And, being several kilometres from the city centre, it is in a rural belt well removed from the continuous din.

For such spacious beauty and peace one, of course, must be prepared to be in benevolent mood. And the most recent occupants paid 1,000 yuan a day for the grounds and two houses, although the huge petroleum company which employed them footed the bill.

它的大门是道钢栅门，它的四周被有刺铁丝网围住，光看外表，你绝不会猜想得到它原来美丽宁谧得仿似神仙世界。

如果你能够，请你想像一下在一个大庄园里，一批英国绅士淑女坐在枫树和白杨树下喝茶吃烤饼。想像一下那些有高高的人字形屋顶、揉合了爱德华七世时代和中国的建筑风格的屋子。想像一下一个岸边垂柳、波平如镜、有一系列曲桥的人工大湖。想像一下建在庭院里的网球场和私家游泳池。最后，想像一下在上海这样一个繁荣喧闹的城市，是否可能有这样一个清幽美景。

现在，请把一切想像抛开。这是真的，上海真有这样一个地方，它就是虹桥俱乐部。

虹桥俱乐部的面积，比人民广场和人民花园加起来还要大。而由于它远离市中心，闹市的喧嚣绝不会传到这里。

要享用这样的清幽美境，腰头钱自是绝不能稍惜。最近住在那里的两幢房子的客人，一天所付费用是一千元。

Pagodas, a lake and a gable-roof house set in immaculately maintained grounds . . . the Hongqiao Club.

クラブの大門は鋼鉄製で，周囲は有刺鉄線でかこまれ，外側から見たのでは，内がこんなに美しく静かで，まるで仙人の住んでいるような別天地だとは誰も想像しえない。

もしそれが可能なら，次のようないろいろな場面を想像してみよう。

まず，某大荘園の広広とした庭園，その庭園の大きな楓やポプラの木の下で英国神士と淑女たちが腰かけてお茶を飲み，スコーンを食べている場面。

急勾配の破風をもった高い屋根，エドワード七世時代の建築と中国様式の建築をミックスしたような家屋。

しだれ柳の並木のある池の畔，その池は波一つたたないまるで鏡のような池，それにいろいろな形をした曲った橋がかかっている。このような池。

庭園の中につくられたテニスコートと自家用プール。

最後に，繁華で喧騒をきわめる大都会上海にこんなに静寂で清清しいふん囲気をもったところがあるだろうかと想像してみよう。

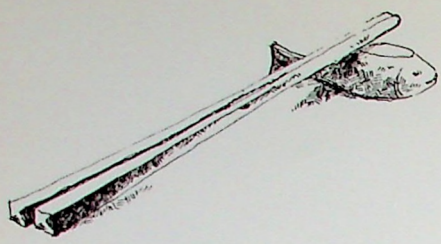

もうそんな想像はしなくてもいい。想像でなく実際にそんなところが上海にある。どこかと言えば，それは虹橋クラブである。

虹橋クラブの敷地は，人民広場と人民公園を合したのよりも広い。その上クラブは，市中心を遠く離れているので，繁華街のかまびすしさがここまで伝わってこないのである。

このようなすがすがしい静けさを享受しようと思うなら，支払いをいささかたりとも惜んではならないのはいうまでもない。最近ある人が一日1000元を支払って，ここの二棟ある家に泊った。

Eating in Shanghai... a gourmet's delight

EATING out is any visitor's delight: Eating out in Shanghai is especially delightful—but take note of some handy hints.

Restaurants in Shanghai abound but, in most, strict service hours are observed.

In hotels, especially, don't expect to get breakfast outside the hours of 7am and 9am; lunch outside 11.30am and 2pm; or dinner outside 5.30pm and 7pm.

Don't try to eat at restaurants without making a prior booking and, to be sure of getting seats, try to avoid eating out on even days in the month.

Even days are popular for weddings and other party celebrations and restaurants are heavily booked.

An exception to time limits is the Jing Jiang Club opposite the Jing Jiang Hotel in Maoming Road.

The club is open until 11pm and guests can order, almost until that time, French cuisine from out-of-the-past hand-written menus.

The club is extremely popular with visitors and tables can be sometimes hard to acquire as Shanghai's European-based community also likes to patronise the club.

Prices are remarkably cheap, a three-course meal consisting of soup, steak and desert costing as little as 10 yuan.

There is a fine selection of food at the dining and banquet halls of all the hotels.

Each has its speciality: The Jing Jiang boasts Sichduan cuisine but also available are Sichuanese, Fujianese, Hunanese, Shanghainese and Western dishes.

Yangzhou cuisine and river delicacies are delights at Shanghai Mansions. The Peace Hotel specialises in Shanghainese food; the Park's chief dishes come from Beijing; and Fujian cuisine wins acclaim at the Huaqiao Hotel.

The Jing'an Guest House or Hotel and the Hengshan Hotel both place emphasis on Sichuanese cuisine. The Dahua Guest House specialises in Beijing tastes and the Shenjiang Hotel offers Guangdong, Sichuanese and Yangzhou cuisine.

Shanghainese food has a sweeter taste than other Chinese cuisine and generally is lighter. Yet it takes time to prepare, so make allowances accordingly.

Some of the delicacies served at banquets, especially hors-d'oeuvres, are incredibly intricate and eye-catching.

They almost defy the will to eat and thus destroy the hours of work spent in preparing food delicately laid out in the form of exotic birds or flowers.

Apart from the club and hotels there are literally hundreds of outside restaurants, especially in bustling Nanjing Road. There also is on sale a wide variety of snacks, pastries, cakes and dim sum (small dumplings usually centred with meat) to entice visitors as they stroll around the city streets. Noodles are another great speciality.

And the hearty eater might like to try a Shanghainese breakfast based on noodles.

But place your order with hotel staff when dining the night before. You won't be served if you order on the spot.

Liquor is served with all meals but only local brands.

Imported brands can be bought outside, notably palatable French and American wines in the food shop of the Jing Jiang arcade. These can be taken into restaurants outside.

Shanghai beer is good but wines tend towards a variety of port and generally are very sweet. The tradional Chinese drink maotai is, however, a must to try. No Chinese banquet is complete without this clear spirit which provides its own special lift.

对于外来游客来说，上馆子实在是件赏心乐事，特别是在上海——但有几点要记住。

上海有很多餐厅，但大多数只在限定的时间内营业。饭店或旅馆的餐厅供应早午晚三餐的时间，一般是早上七时至九时，中午十一时半至下午二时，晚上五时半至七时，过了钟数就别想在那里吃到东西。去餐厅吃饭以前最好先订位，否则很可能找不到位子。

唯一没有时间限制的，是锦江饭店对面的锦江俱乐部，营业时间直到晚上十一时。

该俱乐部的餐厅常常客满，因为在上海的欧洲国家侨民也喜欢到那里光顾。

上海所有其他饭店和旅馆的餐厅都提供多式菜肴供客人选择。锦江饭店以川菜为号召，可是也供应福建菜、湖南菜、上海菜和西餐。

上海大厦的扬州菜很著名，和平饭店供应上海菜为主，国际饭店以京菜闻名，华侨饭店的福建菜傲视上海。

静安宾馆和衡山宾馆主要供应川菜，达华宾馆以京菜为主，申江饭店供应广东菜、四川菜和扬州菜。

除了俱乐部和饭店，上海还有以百计的餐厅，特别是在繁盛的南京路。这些餐厅售卖各式各样的菜肴和咸甜点心。

游客应该试一试以面为主的上海式早餐，但记住要在前一天晚上先吩咐饭店的职员，如果到时才叫，不会获得供应。

早午晚三餐时间都有酒卖，可是只是中国酒，洋酒可以在外边买到，游客可以带洋酒到外面的餐厅去。

上海啤酒不错，可是其他酒却一般都喝来像葡萄酒，而且很甜。

不过茅台酒却必须一试，在中国人的宴会上，此酒是必备之物。

旅行者，観光客にとって，レストランで食事をとるということは，たいへん楽しいことである。上海に於いては特にそうである。——しかし二三注意しなければならないことがある。

上海にはたくさんのレストランがあるが，大多数のレストランは営業時間が限られている。例えばホテルの食堂の朝昼晩三食の食事時間は大体次のようである。朝食は7時から9時まで，昼食は11時から午後2時まで，夕食は5時半から7時までとなっている。時間を越したらもうここで食事をとろうなんて考へないほうがいい。食事をとろうなら席を予約しておくことである。そうでないと食事時間に行って席がないことがある。

時間に制限なく食事がとれるところが上海に只一カ所ある。それは錦江飯店の向いにある錦江クラブである。ここは夜の11時まで営業している。

当クラブのレストランは何時も大入満員。それは上海居住のヨーロッパ人が好んでここで食事をとるからである。

上海の全てのホテル，賓館の食堂は，それぞれ各自得意の料理を準備しているので，客は自分の好きな料理を選ぶことができる。錦江飯店は四川料理専問を看板にしているが，そのほか福建料理，湖南料理，上海料理，洋食などもある。

上海大厦の楊州料理はその名がよく知られている。和平飯店は上海料理を主とし，国際飯店は北京料理が有名で，華僑飯店の福建料理は上海でその右に出るものがない。

静安賓館と衡山賓館は主として四川料理，達華賓館は北京料理，申江飯店は広東料理，四川料理，楊州料理などを提供している。

特に繁華な南京路では各レストランが多様多彩な惣菜料理や甘いのや，からいのやいろいろな菓子類，軽食類などを並べて売っている。

上海に来たからには，めん類を主とした上海式の朝食を味わって見るべきである。その場合，前日の晩，ホテルの係りの人に前もって注文することを忘れてはならない。そうでないと、その場で注文しても受付けてくれない。

酒類は朝昼晩三食とも売っている。しかしそれは洋酒ではなく，中国産の酒である。洋酒は外で買えるし，外のレストランに洋酒を持って行くこともできる。

上海ビールは悪くない。しかしその他の酒は葡萄酒のようで大変甘い。でも茅台酒は必ず味わって見るべきである。中国人の宴会にはこの酒は缺くことができないものである。

The bicycle . . . Shanghai's predominant form of transport.

Travel...

by rail, sea or air

VISITORS can reach Shanghai by either rail, air or sea.

And, of course, air is by far the best mode for those on a quick trip.

The tourist with time on his hands may, however, prefer to travel by train or even by sea.

CAAC (Civil Aviation Administration of China) and Japan Airlines operate regular and direct flights between Shanghai and Tokyo.

CAAC also has a regular service between Shanghai and Guangdong. There are rare, and unscheduled, charter flights between Hong Kong and Shanghai.

Most visitors travel by train from Hong Kong to Guangdong then either continue by train or take a two-hour CAAC flight to Shanghai.

Patience is a virtue at Shanghai's Hongqiao Airport.

There usually is a long wait to clear the first declaration point, a further wait for baggage and a long delay as customs' officers meticulously check all baggage.

Those who prefer sea travel can board the vessel, The Shanghai, for twice monthly sailings from Hong Kong.

The Shanghai can accommodate more than 400 passengers. They are treated to the usual string of cruise ship attractions such as a swimming pool and cinema. There also are shops, a clinic and restaurants which serve both Chinese and Western cuisine.

交通

要到上海去，可以坐飞机、搭火车或者乘船。坐飞机无疑最快，可是许多不用赶时间的旅客，也许更喜欢搭火车或船去。

中国民航和日航有定期班机来往上海和东京。此外，中国民航并有定期班机来往上海和广州，不定期包机来往上海和香港。

大多数旅客都是先坐火车到广州去；然后换火车或者转搭二小时的飞机前往上海。

如果想坐船去上海，可以坐“上海号”轮，该轮每月从香港开出两次，前往上海。

“上海号”载客四百多人，船上有游泳池和电影院，也有商店、医疗所及中西餐厅等。

交通

上海へ行くのに飛行機，船，汽車で行く三通りの方法がある。飛行機を利用するのが最も早いことはいうまでもない。しかし時間的に余裕のある多くの旅行者は，むしろ汽車か船かで行くことを好むかも知れない。

上海と東京の間を中国民航と日航の定期便が飛んでいる。この外，中国民航は上海と広州との間にも定期便がある。上海香港間を不定期ではあるがチャタ便が飛んでいる。

しかし大多数の旅行者は，まず香港から汽車で広州まで行き，そこで汽車に乗りかえるか，または，二時間の飛行で上海に着く飛行便を利用するかして上海へ向う。

もし船で上海へ行きたいなら，毎月二回香港から上海へ行く航路を走っている上海号を利用することができる。

上海号は400余名の船客をのせることができる。船にはプール，映画館などの設備がある。その外に売店，医務室及び中華料理と西洋料理の食堂がある。

Taxis... an outstanding service

THE Shanghai Friendship Taxis Service runs a large fleet of vehicles and provides an outstanding service to and from the airport and journeys around the city.

Visitors can select to ride either in one of the service's Red Flag limousines, similar to the type in which former U.S. President Richard Nixon travelled, or one of the 400 conventional taxis.

Tour groups have the choice of taking one of the service's 70 coaches.

Service is fast and courteous and vehicles are readily obtainable by inquiring at any of the city's hotels or at the airport.

Taxis are relatively cheap. One can be hired between 8am and 6pm for 25 yuan, provided the passenger does not travel more than 40 miles.

A charge of 50 fen is levied for each additional mile.

汽车服务

上海友谊汽车服务公司，拥有一支庞大车队，为客人提供租用汽车服务。旅客可以选择乘搭红旗牌高级轿车（当年尼克松就是坐这种汽车）或者普通小客车。该公司共有四百多辆大小客车，可供租用。

该公司的服务快捷，在市内任何饭店或者机场，随时都可以召租到该公司的汽车。

包车车价是合理的。从早上八时到下午六时，如果行车不超过四十哩，收费是人民币廿五元，每超过一哩多收人民币五角。

タクシ

上海フレンドシップタクシサービス公司はたくさんの車を用意して，旅客の需要に応じている。当公司には大型小型など各種の車が四百余輌あって，貸切り其の他いろいろな業務を取扱っている。

高級乗用車紅旗を呼ぶこともできる。この種の車はニクソン前大統領が中国を訪問したとき乗った車である。また普通の乗用車を頼むこともできる。団体の場合には大型の遊覧バスを貸切ることもできる。

当公司のサービスはスピーディーで，市内のどのホテルからでも，或いは空港からでも当公司の車を何時でも呼ぶことができる。

貸切りの場合その料金は比較的安い。午前八時から午後六時まで，走行距離が40マイルを越さない限り，料金は人民券25元である。超過した場合１マイル当り50銭の割で計算される。

Climate...
the hot and cold of it all

Shanghai's climate does not vary a great deal from Hong Kong's—the city which, today, remains the gateway for most visitors to China.

Summer is long and hot, running from April to October.

The hottest months, however, are May to August when the daily temperature climbs to 35 degrees Celsius and dips only marginally throughout the night.

Yet the weather is not unbearably hot with breezes off the Huangpo River providing relief.

Summer also is the rainy season. An average of 11 days each month are wet.

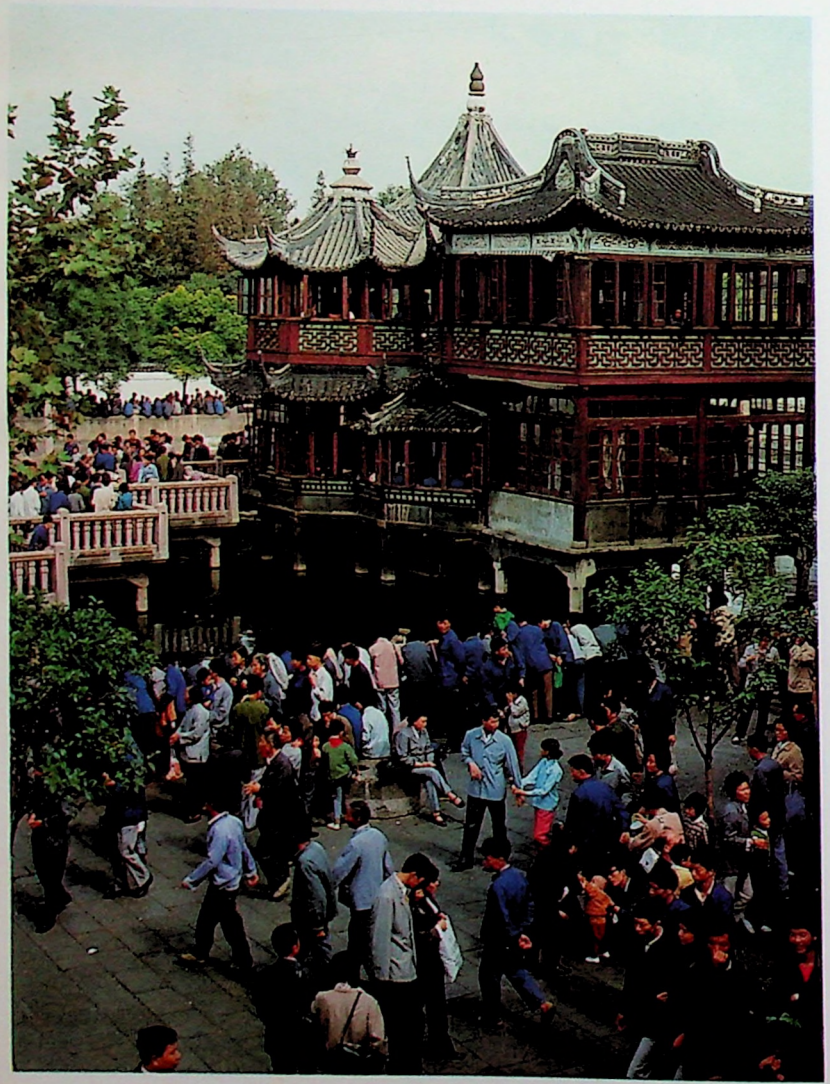

Autumn is the best time to visit Shanghai: Between October and November, in fact, when mornings are crisp and the sky usually is blue above the city's industrial haze.

Winter, from December through to the end of February and sometimes into March, is very cold, providing an extreme from the summer months.

Temperatures can dip as low as minus five degrees Celsius during these months.

Visitors need to rug up for winter opposed to the extra-light clothing required for summer trips.

Formal dress rarely is required.

气候

上海位于长江出口东海之滨，属季风气候，四季分明，全年适于旅行游览，其中尤以春、秋两季最为理想，春、秋季节（三至六月，九下旬至十一月）天暖日丽，晴空万里，你只需穿着轻便衣着（如夹衣，羊毛衫等）。夏季（六至九月中旬）因受长江区域气候及海面台风影响，雨水较多，气候潮湿，旅行者最好备有雨衣和折叠伞。冬季（十二月至二月）气候较冷，须备厚呢大衣之类，以便室外御寒。

気候

上海は長江の河口，東中国海の沿岸にあって，季節風気候帯に属する。ここは四季の変化がはっきりしている。一年中遊覧旅行に適するが，その中でも春と秋はもっとも最適な旅行シーズンと言える。春（三一六月），秋（九月下旬一十一月）は空が高く晴れわたり，日射しもやわらかで暖かい。この時期には軽い上着か，カーディガンでもあればいい。夏（六一九月）は長江地区の気候と海上から来る台風の影響をうけて雨が比較的多く，湿度も高い。この時期に訪れる旅行者はレインコートか折り畳みの傘を準備することである。冬（十二月一二月）は気温が低く寒い。屋外の寒さを防ぐためには厚手のオーバが必要である。

Cosmopolitan Shanghai— Metropolis of North China

GAY, exciting, and always entertaining, Shanghai is one of the most fascinating cities in the world. Its streets are filled with life and color, for here every nationality is amply represented. Opened to world commerce as a treaty port in 1843, it is the commercial center of North China and is really three cities in one, consisting of the International Settlement (British and American), the French Settlement, and the Chinese city. The foreign population is 25,000 and the Chinese population over 900,000. The city, situated in about the same latitude as Cairo and New Orleans, is on the banks of the Whangpoo River, about 15 miles from Woosung, where it joins the great Yangtze River near its delta. Formerly all steamers anchored at Woosung, but now they come up to the city docks.

What to Do—What to See— In and About Shanghai

THE BUND, principal thoroughfare, extends along the river front, ever teeming with activity. It has modern, handsome office buildings on one side, and an amazing medley of vehicles crowds its pavements —motor cars of every make, carriages, rickshas, sedan chairs, and wheelbarrows contending for the right of way. Nanking Road is the main shopping street, with many splendid foreign and Chinese stores filled with silks, furs, gems, rugs, silver, curios, embroideries, shawls, and other treasures of merchandise. The leading Chinese restaurants and theaters are in Foochow Road. The famous Willow Tea House is in the Chinese city and is surrounded by temples, curio shops, and bazaars. Excellent motor roads lead to the points of interest in the level back country, such as the Loongwha Pagoda, Siccawei Jesuit School, Jessfield Road, Rubicon Road, and Arsenal.

Astor House Hotel— Distinctly Different

THE oldest hotel in Shanghai, the Astor House Hotel, has always kept up with the times. Its present modern concrete fireproof building has replaced the structures of earlier days, with new facilities for service, provided as conditions changed. In accommodation it is the largest hotel in North China; in situation it is unexcelled, being convenient to steamer landings, railroad stations, and everything in the International Settlement; in food and in service it maintains the highest standard. The grill and dancing room of the Astor are the nightly rendezvous of the pleasure-loving travelers from many lands—presenting one of the most cosmopolitan and interesting gatherings. To have been a guest at the Astor House Hotel is to have experienced the best in Shanghai.

美陸長主張服強迫軍役 每年徵召百萬

【法國新聞社賈金山二日電】美國陸軍部昨向處邇，頃在美國參戰軍人大會中發表演說，主張美國人民應強迫服役半年，壓實行合併統一指揮。其言略謂：凡年滿十七歲者，均須應徵，至十八歲時，即開始訓練，預計每年徵召壯丁一百萬人，其餘廿七萬六千人，均屬於海軍，但每徵召五百萬之青年，雖受軍事當局管制，但仍保留其平民身份。美國常備軍不能少於一百萬人，其餘志願軍則陸地部隊應為六十萬人，空軍應為十萬人。「國衛軍」亦應有六十八萬二千人，此乃美國軍隊之骨格，應依照後備編制，編成陸軍七十師，及空軍廿七大隊。平常備軍之任務有二：即（一）協衛警察及太平洋之敵國領土以確保盟國之勝利。（二）遇有企圖進襲美國時，常備軍須立即予以迎頭痛擊。我人之目的並不在使美國全副武裝，而祇備能嚇阻他國，但過去事實證明，軍事上之作弊，極易招致野心國家者之乘虛而入。要之，我人保持相當可觀之軍隊，作為聯合國陣營維持世界和平之有力後盾。

關於時局諸問題

政府的嚴正聲明

中國代表團上第「國聯修訂，共策進行」的老把戲。昨經羅部長在首都招待新聞記者發表外部對目前時局之態度。完全不與事實，明明可以解決的事，偏要拖延下去，使全國人民，在不安狀態中過日子。這種政治，實在不能說是負責的政治。嚴正聲明，要求日本政府立即取消其錯誤的態度，以誠意與我國作直接的交涉，以期兩國間懸案的早日解決。這是全國人民一致的要求，也是政府的嚴正立場。

解決時局的唯一道路

最近三五天內，敵人是時時刻刻要挑釁的時期，倘不整頓一切，如期召開國民大會，則一切的召集，便成了非法的召集，促成軍事政治的動搖與崩潰。我們不要有絲毫的僥倖心理，不要怕外交枝節，不要怕內部糾紛，不要怕危險犧牲，不要畏縮，不要失去勇氣，加油。

逆耳的忠言

各國輿論，共產黨言論之局面，將可結束。但就共產方面言，不在此失敗的時候，改變作風，放下武器，走上正途，將來敵國失敗，可以勝言。就政府方面言，能以軍事勝利，而不注重政治之改善，目前的共產黨，或因兵力優勢可以平定於一時，而形勢的共產必暗暗的孳生不已；就是論軍事的力量，所謂消滅的勝利，亦非軍事的力量，所謂消滅的勝利。

國大應無再度改期之理

——民國日報——

由二十六年延期到本年十一月十二日召集，但是現因中共與我駐印已表示不願派代表參加，他們所謂為由政府單方面召集的國大，因此又似有改期的預兆。其實國民大會是國民代表大會，其法律的基礎是在國民所產生的憲法，不在此失敗的時候，改變作風，放下武器，走上正途，將來敵國失敗，可以勝言。就政府方面言，能以軍事勝利，而不注重政治之改善，目前的共產黨，或因兵力優勢可以平定於一時，而形勢的共產必暗暗的孳生不已；就是論軍事的力量，所謂消滅的勝利，亦非軍事的力量，所謂消滅的。

周恩來將軍之觀念

周恩來將軍昨日於招待新聞記者會中發言，抨擊統一美軍，此為彼所早已習見者，其言舉無新穎之感，實際乃重複老調耳，且無一言示明彼所代表之黨已相相愛更態度。今展地圖一視，共軍今日處境之劣，真前所未有。果爾，則其所持之討價還價籌碼，已少於往日。其實國民大會實緊就是國民代表大會，其法律的基礎是在國民所產生的憲法，不在此失敗的時候，改變作風，放下武器，走上正途，將來敵國失敗，可以勝言。就政府方面言，能以軍事勝利，而不注重政治之改善，目前的共產黨，或因兵力優勢可以平定於一時，而形勢的共產必暗暗的孳生不已；就是論軍事的力量，所謂消滅的勝利，亦非軍事的力量，所謂消滅的。

決於中共一念間

演變，每在無意中決定。共產黨在無條件，全部全案中，一線曙光時，由於中共言論無信，全部全案中，共產黨在無條件，全部全案中，共產黨在無條件，全部全案中，共產黨在無條件

由美國共產黨分裂 到美軍退出中國週

【本報專稿】最近半月來，國際局勢和國內局勢都未定型，而由這兩個未定型所表示的一種有計劃的操縱。先從國內來看，上月十九日，中共代表周恩來曾對聯合社記者稱：本人已決定暫時退出政治談判，不再與政府及美國代表舉行無意義之談商，并聲明中共將繼續作最後努力，以求和平解決。這種言論，自足以表明中共方面對最近未來局勢的態度，有所期待，也有所依持。果然不幾日，美國共產黨領袖在九月二十二日至廿八日止，舉行「美軍退出中國週」的宣傳運動，要求美軍立刻撤退。這一連串的舉動，與中共對馬歇爾將軍的外交政策，於是立刻開中共和它的附和國「美軍退出中國週」運動，而作擴大宣傳。趙巧這時華盛頓又向安全理事會提出對美軍駐華艦隊監督之指摘，認為足以引起國際摩擦，要求美軍立刻撤退。這一連串的舉動，顯然是以美軍退出中國週」及蘇聯之仲訴安理會，指美軍駐華等等，都是無聊之有計劃行動。這兒且先剖美共作一個最近情勢的報導。

美國共黨也有了近廿年的歷史了，其大部一向唯蘇俄中央馬首是瞻，行動方針，都是跟着蘇俄的指揮棒轉。在美共黨內的地位，就和中共早年陳獨秀的地位差不多，不僅是當的一手創造者，并且權威之高，大有黨內領袖之勢，此人并且也曾數度為美政府逮捕，當時美共黨為關注，要求釋放，而同時國際間的共產主義者，亦多為九一八事變後，日本軍閥所迫害，其中最著名者，也有一位是日本共產黨的領袖野坂參三，可是美國共產黨，可不是這樣的。原來由於這次歐戰以來，美共領袖都有自己的思想，也有些轉變了，特別是自民氏看到共產主義在美國已經不適合美國人的要求，便使美國共產黨的組織，因此而分裂為二，一個自己稱正統的美國共產黨，一個是以白勞特為首的「美國共產主義者協會」，他曾想推行「美國化的共產主義」，不受蘇俄支配，可是這次歐戰以後，蘇俄在美國的地位，增加了無限的威望，白勞特計劃，無法實現，而且他的組織，也不能成為一個獨立的政黨，因此他就解散了「美國共產主義者協會」，而重新加入共產黨內，「親蘇國際派」，來展開了新的鬥爭。

白勞特計劃 共黨美國化

美者，也一致予以譴責，呼籲美國政府制止，得了。可是美國共產黨究今僅止「始終是產於一個不十分重要的小黨，小黨派，自也在國家分家了，而且「嘴唇紅小，五臟俱全」也同得有點有色，相當有勢，大概這就是共產黨一向照慣的把戲。

【本報訊】日來金融市場，情形雖稍見安定，但最嚴重問題之美鈔，仍在高峯掙扎，各種物價上漲不已，方面宣稱：行政院高當局對於抑平美鈔價格之有效辦法，政府已與有關各國進行洽商，共同採取同一步驟。在美鈔漲風之造成，大多由於投機分子，趁機囤積，操縱市場，其中最大原因乃為遊資作祟，得悉當局對此，已有相當之認識，特常清理款官行使訓練職務，訓練目的，使警犬能與緝毒人員合作，以利交通，注意實施，以增健康。

重九感言

·江上楓·

一年容易又重陽！今天，已經是農曆九月九日了。

重陽節，有一件登高的故事，相傳汝南桓景，隨費長房語，知是日當有災，乃家家插茱萸囊，登山飲菊酒，請以免災。可是，多少年來，每當重陽節，人們多只登高望遠，作消極的感懷，成了文人騷士的韻事了。

茱萸幼年，到了重陽那天，正當茱萸開始長成父兄們，邀於一處，登山遠望，作消極的感懷，成了文人騷士的韻事了。

概　況

熟悉和平飯店的人都知道，和平飯店最美麗動人的時刻是在夜晚。當暮色降臨，南京東路外灘霓虹燈閃爍，和平飯店南北兩座歐式建築豐姿綽約。大廳裡，老式吊燈柔和的光暈溢漾在銅欄杆、木廊柱、大理石上，仿佛一首幽遠的歌從本世紀初一直吟唱到如今。

和平飯店建造于二十年代，成立于五十年代中葉，南北兩幢大樓現均已被列爲近代優秀保護建築。一九九二年三月，被世界最著名飯店組織評爲世界最著名的飯店，是國內唯一獲此殊榮的大飯店。

和平飯店距離虹橋國際機場十八公裡，距離火車站三點五公裡，位于上海最繁華的南京東路外灘口。登樓俯瞰，外灘建築風貌，浦江宜人景色一覽無遺，浦東开發區新姿盡收眼底。

和平飯店南、北樓客房四百二十間(套)，其中有中國、英國、美國、法國、日本、意大利、德國、印度、西班牙等九個國家不同裝飾風格的特色豪華套房。您可以在有銀燭臺的美國特套房的餐室裡享用一道中國菜，也可以在雕梁畫壁的印度特套房裡找到神的旨諭。從德國特套房的窗口您可以眺望浦江夜色，英國特套房裡的老壁爐則使您感到溫馨。

所有客房內都裝有閉路電視，音響設備，廿四小時衛星電視播放CNN,BBC,NHK電視臺的內容。除此之外，專用衛生間、電話、微型酒吧等一應俱全。

您若想用餐，飯店有和平廳、龍鳳廳、九霄廳等十七個中西式餐廳、宴會廳供您選擇，可以容納一千三百余人共同進餐。和平廳的歐式宮庭風格獨具魅力;和平扒房老式銀餐具值得把玩;或許您還願意走走匯中廳外的大弧梯，感受一下龍鳳廳裡穿旗袍的中國小姐親切的微笑。

美味佳肴品種很多。中菜以滬、粵、川三幫爲優勢;西菜以法式看家。均由經驗豐富、手藝高超的厨師爲您烹飪。

下塌和平飯店，您的工作、起居、休閑、娛樂均能得到滿足。飯店有商務中心、商場、外幣兌換處、郵電服務所、外文書店及彈子房、健身房、干濕桑拿浴、美容理發室等。如果您外出需要用車，服務員可以爲您聯系出租車輛。

和平爵士酒吧裡老年爵士樂隊名聞遐邇，由六位從事音樂事業半個世紀的老樂手組成。小号清麗、薩克斯風悠揚、爵士鼓的節奏中有大提琴倍司的深沉。三十年代的老爵士樂曲，混合了小壺咖啡的清香與陳年佳釀馥郁，緩緩地升騰，在那英國式鄉邨酒吧的粗壯樑梁上久久地縈繞，讓年邁的紳士流連于過去的好時光，讓年輕的伴侶沉醉于愛情的甜蜜中。擅長演奏三、四十年代世界爵士名曲的老年爵士樂隊曾多次出訪美國、日本，深受海內外賓客的贊譽。

和平飯店的宗旨是"賓客至上，服務第一"，經營方針貫徹"以誠取信，以質取勝，以優贏譽"，使所有的賓客都可得到完美和超值的享受。

和平飯店曾留下許多中外知名人士的身影:緬甸奈溫、加拿大總督讓娜·索維、澳大利亞總理霍克等，除此國際政要，我國領導人周恩來，朱德，李先念，江澤民，李鵬，朱鎔基，鄒家華，劉華清也曾先後光臨。拳王阿裡以及香港著名影星周潤發對和平飯店情有獨鐘，十分喜愛。

和平歷史

和平飯店北樓前身系華懋飯店，這座建于一九二九年的芝加哥學派哥特式建築是外灘最早興建的一座大樓，樓高七十七米，共十二層，建築面積三萬六千三百一十七平方米。

南樓前身系匯中飯店，建于一九〇六年，仿照十五到十七世紀文藝復興時期公寓建築的形式，采用古典均衡庄重的比例建成，高七層，各層窗戶的排列，仿佛工整的凹凸圖案，顯示出該建築風格對稱而又不乏裝飾穩重的特色。

和平飯店北樓前身系沙遜大厦，曾是上海灘富甲一方的英藉夏利斯·維克多·沙遜居住享用的地方，所以建築的用料昂貴考究，做工也極其細致。北樓外墻采用花崗石塊砌成，大樓金字塔式的尖頂用綠色銅皮瓦楞裝飾。由旋轉廳門而入，大堂地面是用乳白色意大利大理石鋪成，還有古銅鏤花吊燈等等都是豪華與身份的象征。因此當時北樓有“遠東第一樓”的美譽。

和平飯店落成以後，主要部分經營華懋飯店，其余出租給銀行、公司。當時，華懋飯店名噪上海，以豪華著稱。主要接待金融界，商貿界和各國社會名流。如美國的馬歇爾將軍、司徒雷登校長，劇作家Noel Coward最有名的一部戲《私人生活》就是在和平飯店寫成的。三、四十年代，魯迅，宋慶齡曾來飯店會見外國友人卓別林，蕭伯納等。

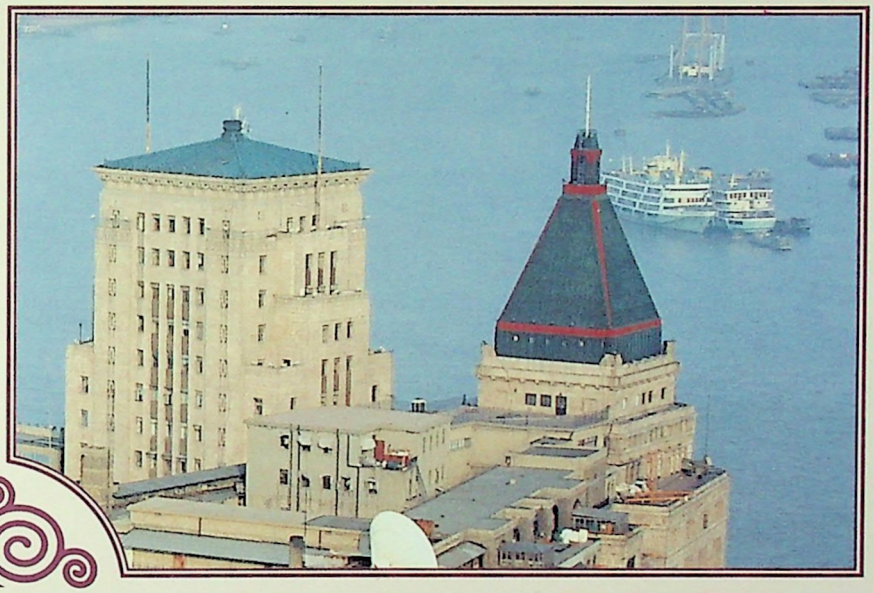

解放後，北樓、南樓分別于一九五六年和一九六五年恢復飯店業務，起名和平飯店。

近年來，飯店對客房、餐廳、大堂、總臺等進行了維修改造，面貌煥然一新，而建築風格仍保持了當年的舊貌，使下榻于此的賓客仿佛置身于時間隧道，在現代與傳統、新潮與古舊的融和、交錯中浮想萬千。

A DISTINGUISHED HISTRORY

The 12-storey North Building of the Peace Hotel, built in the Gothic sytle of the Chicago School, first opened as the Cathay Hotel in 1929. The hotel's granite exterior with its copper-sheathed roof rises 77 metres above ground level. The art decor interior, with its white Italian marble floor, has been exquisitely restored to its original condition.

The seven-storey South Building, dating from 1906, incorporates elements of European Renaissance design in its architecture. It was formerly known as the Palace Hotel.

The first owner of the Cathay Hotel was Victor Sassoon, an Iraqi Jew of British nationality who had made a fortune trading in opium and weapons. At the time, the building was also known as Sassoon House, for in addition to the Cathay Hotel, it housed a bank and commercial offices.

The hotel enjoyed one of the finest reputations in the world, and was where Noel Coward wrote his play "Private Lives." In its heyday in the 1930s and 1940s, the hotel welcomed such notables as Charlie Chaplin and George Bernard Shaw on their visits to China.

After the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949, the North Building reopened as a hotel in 1956, and the South Building in 1965, both operating under the name of the Peace Hotel.

大堂 GRAND LOBBY

特式套房

一九二九年飯店开業時設置的特式套房，分別依照中、英、美、法、意、日、德、印度、西班牙等九個國家不同的建築風格裝飾而成，迄今仍保持着原有風貌，獨具魅力。九國式特套房，每套三間，由臥室、餐室、客廳組成，依窗遠眺，浦東新區遠景，外灘新姿，黃浦江秀色，盡收眼底。

九國式特套客廳曾經迎來英國蒙哥馬利元帥、日本石橋湛三、美國杜波依斯、法國富爾等各國尊貴的客人。

SUITES FROM AROUND THE WORLD

The Suites of Nine Nations in the North Building date back to the founding of the Cathay Hotel in 1929. Each suite is composed of three rooms: sitting room, dining room and bedroom; and all enjoy views of the Huangpu River. The furniture and decor of each of the nine suites evokes the atmosphere of the country after which the suites are named. Spending a night in one of these suites is like riding a magic carpet to a faraway place.

一九九一年，一九九二年連續兩年，海外著名的海濱娛樂團一年一度的狂歡之夜在這裡舉行。主要來自美國、澳洲、歐洲駐香港機構以及其它西方國家的達官顯貴，歡歌暢舞豪飲通宵達旦。在歐式宮庭風格的大廳裡，在老式的彈簧地板上，在巨型水晶吊燈與老爵士樂曲共同營造的浪漫中，盡享光榮，夢想與浮華。

In 1991 and 1992, the once a year China Coast Ball was held in the Peace Hotel. Hundreds of guests came from as far away as Australia, Europe and the USA to attend this unforgettable night of dining dancing in Shanghai, once known as Paris of the East. WELCOME TO SHANGHAI

You are now in, or thinking of visiting, the largest city of China—and almost in the world. Tokyo's census figures place that city's population slightly higher than Shanghai's estimate of 11.5 million people.

Shanghai is an ancient city, but it is also surprisingly modern—areas like Yu Gardens in the old town are all that are left to remind residents and visitors of life 4–500 years ago.

Because of commerce—Shanghai is at the mouth of the Yangtse River and near the Beijing-Hangzhou Grand Canal—the city developed as a trading port.

For more than 100 years until 1949, the British and French had trading concessions in Shanghai (and the Japanese for a shorter period). These concessions were liberated, but some of Shanghai's present-day architecture still reflects that era. This is why the visitor's view of the city can sometimes be of buildings unlike traditional Chinese structures.

Since the liberation, Shanghai has become an even more important commercial city.

Its citizens warmly welcome foreign visitors.

The further pages of this magazine attempt to advise you on how best to enjoy your stay in Shanghai. The suggestions look towards the interests of individual travellers, but those on tours should find them useful too.

欢迎访问上海

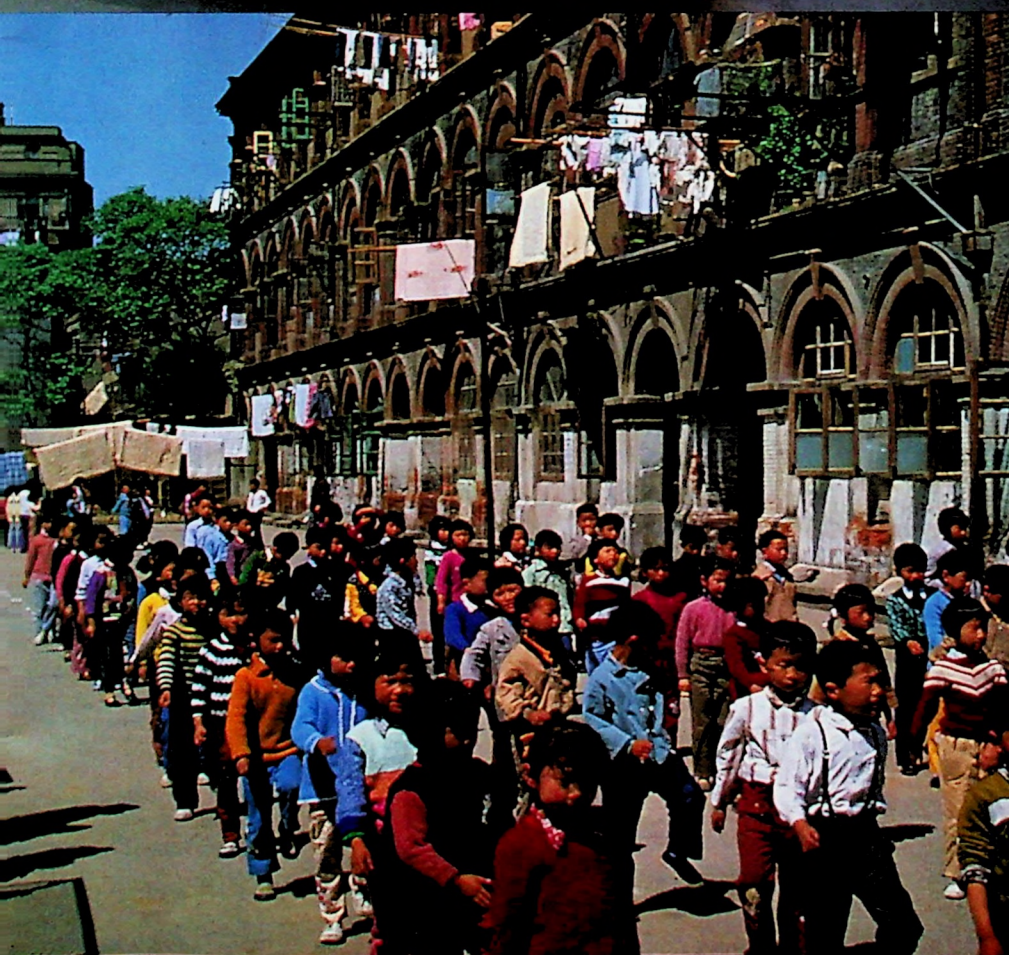

上海是中国最大的城市，位于中国南北海岸线的中心，是长江流域的门户。总面积六千一百八十五平方公里，其中市区一百五十多平方里。人口一千一百四十六万余人，仅稍微少于东京市。

上海是个古城，但也很现代化，既有高楼大厦，也有像豫园之类可使人想起四五百年前的人的生活方式的古迹。

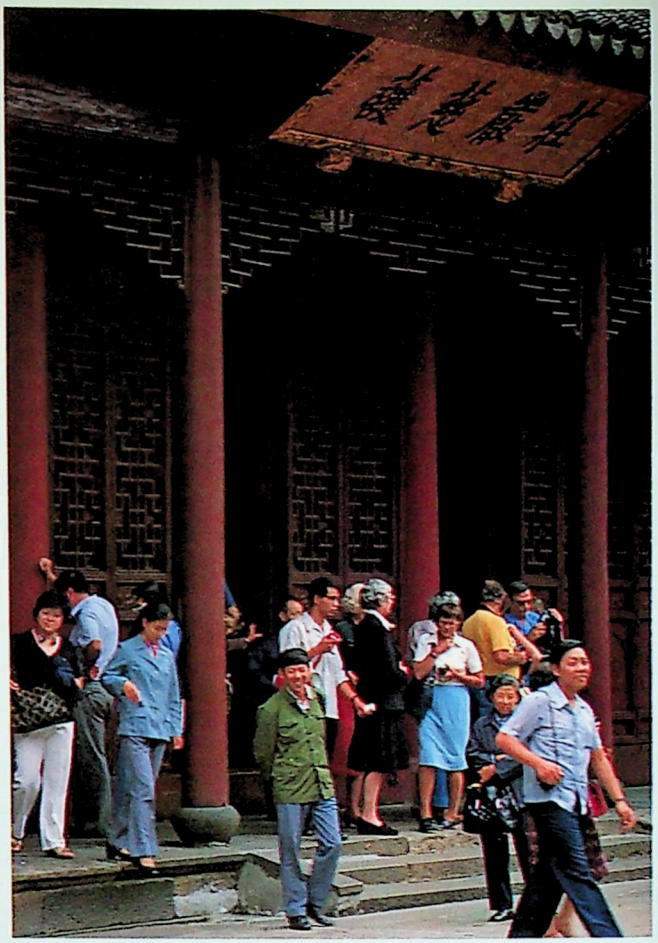

解放前的上海曾被称为"冒险家的乐园"，是一个畸形发展的城市。它只有一点轻、纺工业，重工业非常薄弱。解放以来，经过一系列的改造，上海已成为中国的一个综合性工业城市和科学技术基地，也是中国对外贸易的主要港口之一。

上海人民热烈欢迎各国来访者。

ようこそ上海へ

上海市——これから訪れようと，あるいはもうそこを旅行している——この中国最大の都市，もしかしたら世界で，もっとも大きい都市の一つかもしれません。そこには1150万の人が生活しています。世界では，東京の人口だけが，この数をわずかに上回っているのです。

上海は古い都市です。しかし，そこには，驚くほど現代的な息吹きを感じさせるものがある一方，旧い町の中にある豫園は，古色蒼然として，人人に4〜500年前の人たちの生活を思いださせるのです。

商業都市上海は，長江が海にそそぐ河口の要所に位置し，また近くを北京杭州を結ぶ大運河が走っているので，早くから貿易港として発展してきました。

1949年以前，100年以上に及ぶ間，イギリスとフランス両国は，それぞれここに租界を設けていました。日本も短期間ではあるが，ここに租界を設けました。今日，これら租界は，中国の解放とともに全部なくなりました。しかし，今日の上海の建築物には，未だに，その時代の名残りをとどめています。それで，旅行者が上海を訪れて，まず感じることは，ここの多くの建築物に，少しも中国伝統のものが，感じられないということです。

解放後，上海はいっそう重要な商業都市に発展しました。

上海市民はみな非常に客好きなので，訪れる外国の旅行者を，いつでも心から暖かく迎えてくれます。

本誌は，旅行者のみなさんに上海の旅をフルに楽しんでいただこうと思って，いろいろな方面についてご案内いたしました。個人旅行者のみなず，団体旅行のみなさんにも，何かと便利なところがあると思っています。

Huangpu River Voyage

Zongshan Road East.

Commerce in Shanghai has long been linked with the vast variety of ships and rivercraft that serve the port.

To view the ocean-going ships, and much more besides, take the orange-hulled tourist ferry for a run down the Huangpu River to its junction with the Yangtse estuary (for rivercraft, see the following article on Suzhou Creek).

The ferry leaves from a pier on Zhongshan Road East opposite Nanjing Road, slightly north of the Peace Hotel, at 1.30 pm every day, and also at 8 am on Sundays (towards December check that services have not been suspended due to winter weather). The trip takes three hours.

Foreigners are directed to the ferry's top deck, where seats in comfortable multi-lounge cabins are assigned, and light refreshments served. The ship's shop on this deck also sells some alcoholic beverages in China-ware tumblers. Most passengers later gravitate to the outer deck for better viewing, if it is not too chilly. Here more chairs and tables are provided.

Once under way, the full scope of Shanghai Port's Huangpu River arm is opened up.

Ships of many classes and flags line the wharves on both sides of the river—passenger vessels, general freighters, bulk carriers, container-ships, ro-ro ships.

The busy port can take around 100 ocean-going vessels at one time, which is not evident from the riverside hotels of Zhongshan Road East, but which becomes increasingly clear as the ferry proceeds downstream.

Most of the ships are under 20,000 tons dwt, but a few 40,000 dwt bulk carriers can be seen on the eastern bank near one of Shanghai's biggest shipyards. A "Port of Shanghai" booklet, in Chinese and English, which is available on the ferry, says that half-loaded 100,000 dwt bulk carriers may enter with the tide for further unloading.

Shanghai handles some 2,000 large ships a year, plus 15,000 coasters, discharging and loading 85 million tons of cargo.

Suddenly a breakwater and light-house come into view, and beyond them, to the horizon, are the waters of the Yangtse's mouth.

Here many more ships lie at anchor, waiting for the tide (the Huangpu is relatively shallow), or for a berth, or to go alongside a large carrier that has been converted to an offshore unloading platform where vessels may be lightened sufficiently for the trip upriver to further unload.

The port, incidentally, is being extensively redeveloped to increase its capacity, and additional container terminals are under construction.

On the return journey, foreigners may try a glimpse of the popular music and magic show on the ferry's bottom deck.

Finally an odd sailing junk tacks past, the passenger ships and cruise liners near Shanghai Mansions reappear, and the ferry docks in plenty of time for dinner. Taxis back to inner-city hotels and restaurants can be rapidly arranged from the nearby Peace Hotel or Shanghai Mansions.

If one has an afternoon to spare, the Huangpu River trip is a most worthwile venture.

黄浦江遨游

长久以来，上海的商业一直都是和在港内服务的各式各样大小船只脱不了关系的。

要欣赏那些远洋轮船，可以坐那条橙色身的游艇沿黄浦江而下，前往黄浦江与长江出口汇合之处。（至于内河航行小船，本期苏州河一文中有介绍。）

游艇每天下午一时半，从中山东路和平饭店以此的一个码头启航，每逢星期日，增开上午八时启航的航次。（在冬天，游艇可能会因为天气寒冷而停航，所以要先查清楚）。全程来回需时三小时。

外宾席设在游艇顶层的特等舱内，并有茶点供应。舱内的小卖部也有一些酒类出售。启航之后，如果天气不是太寒冷，多数乘客都会走到甲板上，以获得更广阔的视野。甲板上放置了一些桌椅。

船一启航，上海港伸入黄浦江的部分便立即进入眼帘。

江两边的各个码头，泊满了挂着各国旗帜的大小船只——客轮、普通货轮、巨型货轮、货柜轮。

繁忙的上海港可以同时容纳约一百艘远洋船只。从中山东路黄浦江边的饭店，是看不到上海港的，可是当游艇顺流而下，上海港便越来越清楚。

大多数船只都是在二万吨以下，可是，在东岸附近一个大船坞，可以看见几条四万吨的巨型货轮。根据一份叫做"上海港"的小册子（可在游艇上买到），载货量只及最高限额一半的十万吨巨型货轮，在水涨时也可以驶入卸货。

上海港每年处理大约二千艘大型船只以及一万五千艘沿海航船，去年一年港口的吞吐量将近八千五百万吨。

突然之间，一个防浪堤和灯塔呈现眼前，在它们的另一边，就是长江口的水域。

这里停泊着更多船只，其中有些是在等待水涨（黄浦江水相当浅），也有些是泊在巨型货轮旁边，準备装载从货轮卸下的货物，然后运入港内卸下。

顺带一提，上海港目前正在积极重新发展，以扩大它的吞吐能力，而新的货柜码头也正在兴建。

在回程途中，游艇的下层有音乐魔术表演，游客有兴趣可以去看看。

最后，上海大厦终于重现眼前，不久，游艇也泊岸而结束这次旅程。可以到离码头不远的上海大厦或者和平饭店去召辆出租汽车，到你要去的目的地。

如果你要消磨一个下午，遨游黄浦江是个最好的节目。

黄浦江遊覧

長期以来，上海の商業は，港内服務をやっている各種各様の,大小さまざまの船と，密接な関係をたもってきた。

もし遠洋航路を走る船舶を，より一層そばによって眺めたいのなら，オレンヂ色をした遊覧フェリーに乗って，黄浦江を下り，長江と合流するところまで行く間に，見ることができる。河川を走るはしけについては，本誌の蘇州河の紹介のところですでに述べた。

遊覧フェリーは，南京路の向いの中山東路の，和平飯店から少し北に行ったところにある桟橋を，毎日，午後一時半に離れる。日曜日には午前八時の便が追加される。（冬，天気が寒いためフェりーは運航を停止することがあるので，予かじめ問合せることである。）全コースを往復するのに要する時間は，三時間で，である。

外国から来た旅行者のために,フェリーは最上部に特別キャビンを設け，茶や菓子を用意している。キャビンにある売店でも，ちょっとしたアルコール飲料も売っている。出発後，外の気温がそんなに低くなければ，デッキに出て来て，美しい景色を眺めるといい。そこには，みんなが休みながら，ゆっくり景色が楽しめるように，テーブルやチェアーなどが置いてある。

フェリーが桟橋を離れると，すぐに，黄浦江に伸び出ている上海港の全景が，目に入ってくる。

黄浦江の両岸の埠頭には，各国の旗をかかげた大小さまざまの船舶が停泊している。客船，普通の貨物船，超大型貨物船，コンテナ船など。

多忙をきわめる上海港は，一時に百隻もの遠洋航路の船舶を停泊させることができる。中山東路にあるホテルからは，その全貌を見ることができない。しかし，フェリーで黄浦江を下っていくとき，上海港の全貌が手にとれるように，ますますはっきりしてくる。

大部分の船舶は，２万トン以下である。しかし，黄浦江の東岸にある上海で一ばん大きい造船所附近に，４万トン級の船舶が停泊しているのが見える。中、英文で書かれたパンフレット「上海港」（フェリー内でも売っている）によると，積み荷が総トン数の半分を超えない場合，10万トン級の超大型貨物船も満潮時には入港し，貨物を下すことができる。

上海港は毎年2000隻の大型船舶と沿海航路の船舶15,000隻を処理し，積み荷の吞吐量は，去年一年で8500万トンに達する。

そうこうしているうちに,突然，防波堤と灯台が目に入ってくる。防波堤の向うはもう長江の河口流域にあたる。

この一帯には，停泊している船舶がもっと多い。これらの中には，満潮時を待っているのもある。（黄浦江は大変浅いので）。あるものは大型貨物船に横づけになって，積み荷を下す準備をしている。これらの船は積みこんだ貨物を港内へ運び，そこで，積み荷を下すのである。

ついでに一言加えると，上海港は，今，新しい発展にカを入れ，港の吞吐量を大巾に拡大しようと努力している。また，新しいコンテナ埠頭も建設中である。

帰りには，フェリーの下のデッキで，音楽とか，手品などの出しものがみんなに披露される。のぞいてみるのもおもしろい。

いろいろ変ったジャンクなどが，そばをかすめていく。遊覧コースがいよいよ終りに近づくとともに，上海大厦が再びみんなの目の前に現れてくる。フェリーもまもなく接岸する。一日の遊覧のコースもこれで終るのであるが，夕食にはまだ十分時間がある。桟橋に近い上海大厦か，和平飯店でタクシを拾って，市内のホテルまたはレストランへ行くのが便利である。

このようにひと午後使って黄浦江を遊覧することは，とても楽しいプランだと言えるでしょう。

Strolling Suzhou Creek

Shanghai's rivercraft tend to congregate in Suzhou Creek, and can best be seen by strolling along the northern bank of this fascinating waterway.

Suzhou Creek branches off the Huangpu River at Shanghai Mansions, a few minutes walk from the Peace Hotel.

Start from the double-arch girdered Garden Bridge, which once marked the border of the foreign concessions along the Bund (now Zhongshan Road East), and proceed inland along the Shanghai Mansions-side of the Creek.

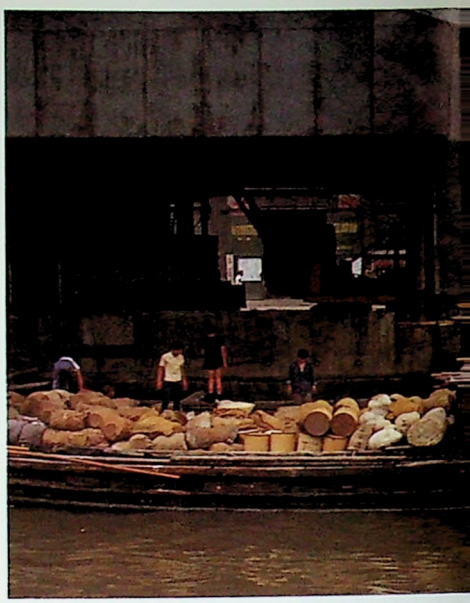

Lining the walled banks thereafter are row after row of barges, bringing cargoes from the furthest reaches of the Yangtse River. Crews live aboard, often engaged in journey's-end domestic chores if not discharging or loading all manner of produce—perhaps bags of wheat, a shipment of melons, or wine casks from the interior.

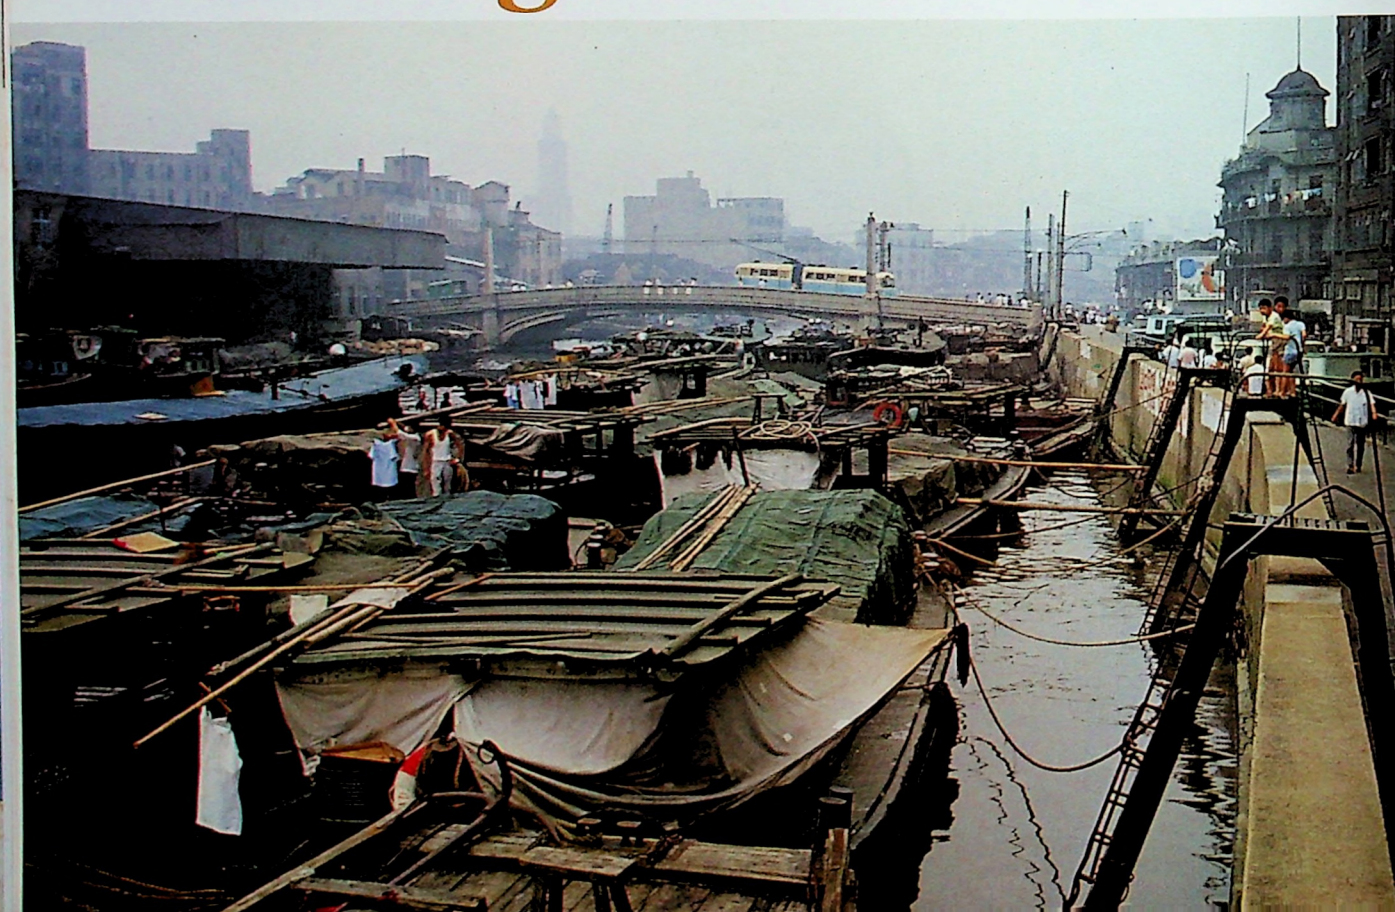

Diverse other vessels are intersparsed with the barges, their propulsion systems and superstructures so individually designed that no two seem remotely alike. Here also are occasional junks, and oared sampans left bobbing in the wake of larger steel craft ploughing through the narrow reaches.

Buildings facing Bei Suzhou Lu (North Suzhou Road) include a major hospital, and opposite the Creek's second Hunan Bridge is Shanghai Post Office, easily distinguished by its imposing clock tower.

Continue at least until the third Sichuan Bridge, and beyond if desired — the scenery is ever-changing.

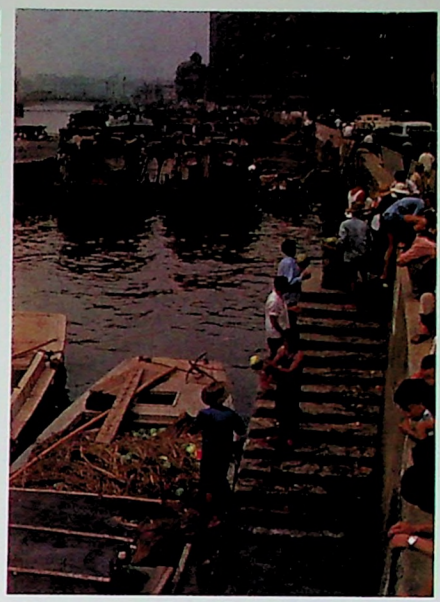

Returning to Zhongshan Road East, the south side of Suzhou Creek may be explored, but warehouses mostly block waterway views. Watch for the unique architecture of a former church that is now a research establishment for Shanghai's electric lamp industry, or in the early morning, the small park just before Zhongshan Road East is packed with Shanghainese practising tai chi (Chinese shadow boxing).

漫步苏州河边

上海的内河航行小船通常都是集中于苏州河，要看看这些小船，最好是沿着这条美丽河道的北岸漫步。

苏州河在上海大厦之前流入黄浦江，从和平饭店到上海大厦，只需步行几分钟。

从双拱的花园桥（它以前是外滩租界的边界）出发，沿苏州河对着上海大厦那边的岸，向内陆前进。

不久，就可看到河的两边有一排又一排载着货物的小船；这些小船最远可航行到长江，所运载的货物也许是小麦、瓜和酒桶等。船上的船员都是以船为家。

除了小船之外，也可以看到各式各样其他船只，这些船只的推进系统和船身，是彼此各不相同的，所以看起来没有两艘是稍微有点相似的。此外，在那里偶然也会有一两条舢舨，在大船的尾浪中摇摇晃晃。

苏州河岸有很多建筑物，有一幢是一间医院，在苏州河第二桥—湖南桥——的对面，就是上海邮电局（它有个大钟楼，很易办认）。

至少要继续走到第三条桥——四川桥，如果意犹未尽，可以继续前进，沿途所见景色，没有两个是一样的。

回程可以走苏州河的南岸，不过，由于有一个个货仓挡住，有大部与时间将会看不到河道的景色。记得看一

蘇州河河畔の散策

上海市内の河川を走っている川蒸気，伝馬船など各種の船は，ほとんどが蘇州河に集まってくる。これらの小船を見ようとするなら，景色のいい蘇州河の北岸に沿ってぶらぶらすることである。

蘇州河は，和平飯店から歩いて数分のところにある上海大厦のそばで，黄浦江と合流している。

以前外国租界であったバンド（今の中山東路）との境をなしていたガデンブリッジのたもとから，上海大厦側の岸に沿って上流に向って散歩していく。

しばらく行くと，両岸に列をなして，貨物を積んだ小船の群が，目に入ってくる。これらの船は，一番遠くても長江までしかいけない。貨物は，上流各地から積んできた小麦とか，瓜類とか，酒樽とかなどいろいろある。船員たちにとって船はかれらの家である。

これらの小船の外に，またいろいろな船も見える。大小も違うし，推進機構も異なり，上部の構造もそれぞれ特色があるので，この中から，全く同じである二艘の船を見つけ出すことは，極めて困難である。このほか，ときには，大きな船のたてた波の間に，小さなはしけが今にもひっくりかえりそうに，漂よっていることもある。

蘇州河に面した多くのビルの中，病院になっているのが一つある。蘇州河の二ばん目の橋——湖南橋——の向いに，上海中央郵便局がある。このビルには時計台があるので，非常に簡単に他のビルと区別がつく。

この散歩は，少なくとも三ばん目の橋，四川橋まで行きたいものである。そこまで行って，まだ興味があるなら，更につづけていけばよい。途中の景色は一歩ごとに変って行く。

中山東路への帰り途は，蘇州河の南岸を選んで，ぶらぶらするのもおもしろい。しかし行手に倉庫が並び，河の景色をさえぎってしまうのは残念である。また，ここを通るとき，以前教会であった或るユニークな建物を忘れないことである。ここは，今，上海電灯工業の研究所となっている。もし朝早くなら，中山東路の傍の小公園の中で，多くの市民が，そこで太極拳をやっているのを，見ることができる。

孙中山先生故居

Dr Sun Yat-sen's House

Foreign statemen and distinguished businessmen are sometimes invited to visit the Shanghai home of Dr Sun Yat-sen.

Unfortunately tour groups are prohibited, simply because of the wear and tear this would impose on the carefully-kept old home, but individual travellers interested in the historic site could well ask their hosts if it may be included in their itinerary. Permission is a distinct honour not often granted, and no more than three or four visitors are allowed at one time.

Dr Sun's Shanghai home is at 7 Xiang Shan Road, which used to be called Zhongqing Road—the name was recently changed in honour of the county of Dr Sun's birthplace in Guangdong.

He lived here for six years (1918–24), immediately prior to his death at 59 on 12 March 1925, with his wife Soong Ching-ling, who remained at the premises until the Sino-Japanese War of 1937. Soong Ching-ling herself of course died only this year in Beijing, her death followed by nation-wide mourning.

The home, a two-floor structure, has a facade of small stones cemented together beneath red-tiled sloping rooves, and boasts a beautifully green rear garden with a carved miniature rockery and a crafted house for the doves Dr Sun symbolically linked with peace.

The ediface was given to the scholar, politician and philosopher by wealthy Canadian colleagues.

Its ground-floor rooms contain much interesting memorabilia depicting Dr Sun's life, including historic photographs showing various phases of his career.

In the copious book cabinets near the stairway are well-thumbed volumes of the History of the Chinese Dynasties, in Chinese characters, and in English such tomes as the Encyclopaedia Britannica, Japan's Fighting Ships 1907, and The Statesman's Yearbook 1903.

Upstairs the study is also book-strewn. Among these cabinets one can find copies of Dr Sun's own work The International Development of China. On his desk are Chinese brushes, and bright red sealing wax still wet after more than 50 years.

An adjoining balcony overlooking the garden has an ancient wood-panelled cabinet radio, from the United States, as is the gramaphone of the Victor Talking Machine Company on the floor below.

It was on this balcony and in the garden, in May 1924, that Dr Sun met with Communist Party leaders, including Li Daqao, in an effort to resolve a suitable course for the future of modern China. Zhou Enlai also visited the home in 1930 for discussions with Soong Ching-ling.

Madame Soong and Dr Sun's bedroom contains a picture of Madame Soong visiting Russia, and the adjacent bathroom still has old hairdressing implements and surprisingly a hot-and-cold running water system—the later fired by an iron heater in the kitchen below, which Dr Sun also imported from the United States. In a nearby drawing room, one can see Dr Sun's original medical instruments.

The home is thus fascinating, both as a place where decisions that changed the course of Chinese people were made, and for an intriguing insight into Dr Sun's own remarkable life.

外国的政治家和杰出商人，有时会获邀请前往参观孙中山先生的上海故居。

不过，由于怕这间被小心保存的旧楼房受到破坏，旅行团一般是谢绝进入参观的，至于个别的游客，如果有兴趣到这幢富历史意义的楼房一游，可以请求他们的东道主代为申请。不是每个申请都获得批准的，如果获得批准，绝对是个荣誉，同时每次最多只准许三四人入内。

孙中山先生的上海故居座落于香山路七号。孙先生于一九二五年三月十二日逝世，享年五十九岁。逝世前，他和他的夫人宋庆龄女士，在那里住了六年（一九一八年——一九二四年）；他逝世后，宋女士仍住在那里，直到中日战争爆发。宋女士在今年中才于北京病逝，全国人都曾为她的逝世深感哀痛。

孙先生的上海故店是一幢两层高的小楼房，后面有个美丽的小花园，园里有一个小石山和一个精巧的鸽子屋；在孙先生眼中，鸽子是和平的象征。

这所房子是旅居加拿大的富有华侨集资购置，送给这位学者、政治家和哲学家的。

房子的楼下有很多珍贵的文物，包括富历史意义的照片簿，透过这些文物，可以对孙先生的一生有个概括的了解。

楼梯旁的书橱，个个都摆满了书，包括中文的“廿四史”、英文的“大英百科全书”、“日本的军舰(1907)”以及“政治家年鉴(1903)”等。

楼上的书房里也藏书丰富，其中有些是孙先生自己的著作。他的写字桌上放着毛笔和鲜红色的火漆，在五十多年后的今天，这些火漆依旧没有变干。

向着花园的书房阳台上，有一座美国制造的木柜式收音机，像放在楼下的留声机一样，它也是非常古老。

一九二四年五月，孙中山先生就是在这个阳台上，和在花园里，与中国共产党领导人李大钊等召开会议，商讨中国的未来方针。一九三〇年，周恩来也曾到此与宋庆龄会谈。

宋女士和孙先生的卧房里挂着一幅宋女士当年访问苏联的照片；在浴室里，那些陈旧的理发用品和冷热水系统仍然存在——后者的热水是从楼下厨房里的铁热水器供应，也是孙先生从美国买回来的。在附近的绘图室里，可以看到孙先生早期行医时所用的仪器。

这幢房子不但是作出许多使中国人民命运改变的决定的地方，透过它也可使人对一个伟人的一生有所认识，所以值得参观。

孫中山先生旧居

外国の政治家，または有名な事業家は，ときには，1911年に清王朝をくつがえし，中華民国を創立した孫中山先生の上海旧居に招待されることもある。

しかし，注意深く保存してきたこの古い建物が，こわれるのを防止するため，団体旅行の人たちには，ここは開放されてない。この歴史的意義をもつ旧居をぜひとも見学したい方は，接待してくれている人に頼んで，関係方面に見学を申しこむことができる。しかし，みんながみんな許可されるとはかぎらない。もし許可されたなら，それはこの上もない光栄なことである。でもここは，一度に３～４人しか見学することができない。

孫中山先生の上海旧居は香山路７号にある。先生は1925年になくなられた。享年59歳でした。なくなられる前，先生は夫人宋慶齢女士といっしょに，六年間（1918—1924年）ここに住んでおられた。先生がなくなった後も，宋女士は1937年，中日戦争が勃発がするまで，ここにずっと住んでおられた。宋女士は今年，病気のため北京でなくなられた。彼女の逝去にたいして，全中国の人人は心から哀悼の意を表わした。

この旧居は，こじんまりとした，赤い屋根の二階建ての洋館で，正面玄関は小さな石がはめこまれている。裏には美しい小さな庭園があり，そこには築山と精巧な鳩小舎がある。孫中山先生は，鳩は平和のシンボルだを考えておられた。

この住いは，カナダ在住の華僑の資産家が，学者であり，政治家・哲学者でもある孫中山先生に贈呈したものである。

一階には貴重な文物がたくさんある。その中には，歴史的意義をもつアルバムも含まれている。これらの文物を参観することによって，先生の一生のアウトラインを知ることができる。

階段のそばにある本棚には，どれにも書物がぎっしりと並べられている。そこには中文の「二十四史」英文の「大英百科辞典」，「1907年度の日本軍艦集」，「1903年度の政治家年鑑」などがある。

二階の書斎にも，同じように蔵書がいっぱいある。その中には先生の著作「中国の国際的発展」がある。デスクには毛筆と朱色をした印肉が並べてある。五十余年も立っているが，この朱肉は今でも乾いてない。

書斎に接した庭の見わたせるバルコニーには，米国製のラジオが一台ある。そのキャビネットは，木をはめこんでつくったものである。これは階下にあるビクターの蓄音器と同じように，非常に古いものである。

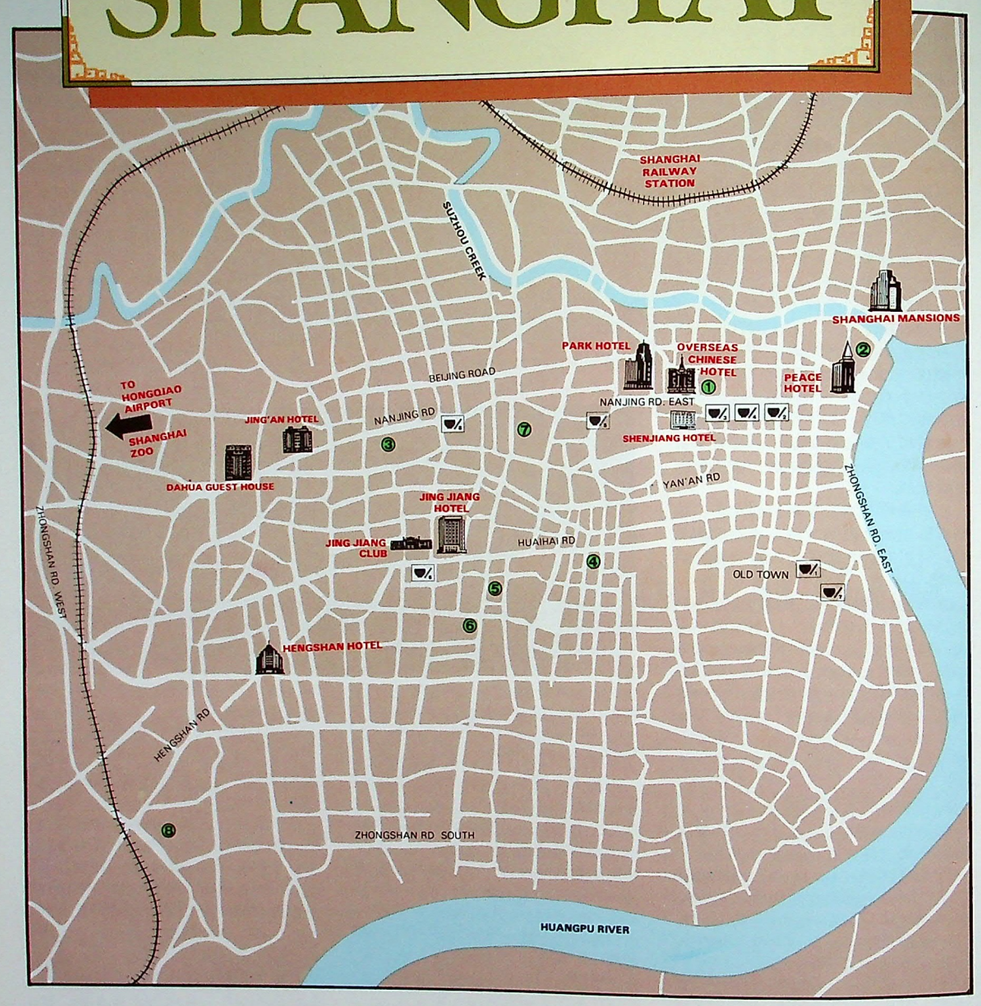

1924年５月，孫中山先生はこのバルコニーで，または庭で，中国共産党の指導者李大釗と，中国の将来進むべき方向について，討論分析した。1930年，周恩来もここにきて，宋慶齢女士といろいろな問題について意見をかわした

宋慶齢女士と孫中山先生の寝室には，女士がロシヤを訪問したときにとった写真が飾ってある。隣接したバスルームには，理髪に使った用具と，水とお湯の出る設備がそのまま残っている。この設備に便われるお湯は，階下の台所にあるヒータを通して供給された。この設備も孫中山先生がアメリカから帰国するさい，買ってきたものである。隣の客間には，孫中山先生が医者をやっていた頃，使った医料器具が置いてある。

ここは中国人民の運命を変えた多くの決定をなしたところであるだけでなく，参観を通じて，一人の偉人の非凡な生活の真相を伺い知ることができるというこの二点だけででも，絶対に参観するべきところであると思う。

Shanghai's Hotels

Shanghai has many of the most impressive hotels in China, but their facilities are constantly being up-dated. Hence there are important changes in this general description since our last quarterly issue.

Foreign businessmen most often stay at the Jing Jiang or the Peace, although it is not unusual to find them at nearby Shanghai Mansions or the Park, and Japanese groups sometimes prefer the Hengshan where things like Japanese cigarettes can be obtained. Overseas Chinese and compatriots from Hong Kong and Macau visiting relatives frequently lodge at the Overseas Chinese Hotel beside the Park, and sometimes in the Dahua and Shenjiang, but there is no special rule for who stays where—it is simply a matter of mutual convenience. The Spanish-looking Jing'an accommodates a variety of tourists, and is also an important city taxi base, while the very English Hongqioa Club on the outskirts of Shanghai incorporates two Tudor houses, and is generally leased to resident foreign businessmen on long-term charter. Foreign visitors should leave the incumbents in peace.

Following is a general description of the hotels. Their excellent restaurant facilities are outlined in the next article.

The Jing Jiang is easily the largest of Shanghai's hotels, and its diverse buildings surrounding a garden are like a small township.

Biggest of these is the French-built North Wing, whose rooms, suites, dining and banquet halls are quite sumptuous—the latter have dark wood-panelled walls, white ceilings and iron chandelliers among the pillars.

The Jing Jiang's Central Wing is equally popular, and contains some 30 suites. It was in the 16th floor Presidential Suite that President Nixon stayed when he came to China to sign the famous Sino-US accord with Premier Zhou Enlai in the early '70s. A convention room in the garden outside is where the ceremony actually took place. Today the suite, which has numerous opulent bedrooms, plus a sitting room, dining room and study, can be rented at 500 Yuan.

Smaller suites—two bedrooms—cost considerably less, and these are also to be found in the hotel's lower-facade West Wing. A fourth five-storey South Wing completes the complex—this was built in redbrick in 1965.

The Jing Jiang pioneered closed-circuit television in its rooms earlier this year, and the service has now been extended to all group hotels from 1100–1330 and 1900–2400. House music channels were also scheduled to be introduced this winter. For television, ask the floor attendant, who can probably speak Mandarin, English and French, how it works (a special lead is required).

The Jing Jiang has its own branch of the Friendship Store, plus souvenir shops, two hairdressing salons, a wine and snack shop, foreign book stall, odd other places where one can buy a mossy miniature tree or order live or stuffed birds, and perhaps Shanghai's best telecommunications rooms.

The Jing Jiang Club, across the road from the Jing Jiang Hotel, is discussed elsewhere.

The Peace Hotel, on Zhongshan Road East or the former Bund, overlooks the Huangpu River and is centred among an imposing line of European-style offices which remain the hub of Shanghai's commercial activity. The Bank of China is next door.

The hotel itself is easily recognised by its four-square green-roofed tower. It was built in 1929 by businessman Victor Sassoon.

Beside it is a period red and white brick annex, also suitably located for both business and shopping in Nanjing Road.

These buildings combined have similar facilities to the Jing Jiang. Apart from the Peace's river-view restaurant (arrive early for a window seat), try the "Panda" and "Peace" cocktails in the ground-floor disco coffee shop, or a game of billards.

Shanghai Mansions, just over Suzhou Creek from the Peace, and within walking distance, commands attention because of its history, its spectacular views over Shanghai, and its Yangzhou cuisine.

The building was once called Broadway Mansions, and will be familiar to a number of older visitor to Shanghai as the seat of the Foreign Press Club and American Military Hospital. Since it was outside the foreign concessions of those days (the Bund, now Zhongshan Road East, was inside), it was occupied by Japanese during the Sino-Japanese War of the late '30s.

The Park Hotel, gazing upwards, is a most impressive structure, and as the name suggests it overlooks the People's Park and Square, which were Shanghai's racecourse (look closely at buildings on the western side, particularly Shanghai Library off Nanjing Road, and the shape of racecourse stands can still be seen).

The Overseas Chinese Hotel is also known by its translation as the Huaqiau.

This classic building adjoining the Park is impossible to miss, among other things because of its nine-metre-high gold-plated clock tower beneath which is China's familiar red star. If you like Fujian food, go no further.

The Shenjiang, also bordering the People's Park, and the Dahua, more to the west, are a little smaller than the hotels so far mentioned, but both are most comfortable and suitable for overseas visitors. The Dahua's suites are immaculate, and the nine-storey Shenjiang, built in 1934 as the Yangtse Hotel, was completely renovated in 1978.

The Jing'an and Hengshan Hotels are in the west of the city, but are really rather nice. Jing'an means "peace and tranquility", and lives up to the name. It was built in 1925. Its rooms have been refurbished, and the atmosphere of the hotel is most pleasant. At the 15-storey Henshan, suites on the upper floors have large roof gardens with impressive views of the basically-flat city, and as with all the hotels listed, facilities for tourists are fully provided.

Finally the Hongqiao Club, out towards the airport beside Shanghai Zoo, is not a club at all but a rented two-house dwelling set in magnificent grounds. Although the complex goes at something close to 1,000 Yuan a day, when last heard executives of BP had secured it, and hoped to keep it on for a year or more.

上海のホテル

中国でもっとも印象的なホテルが，上海市にたくさんある。でもこれらのホテルの設備はたえず改新されている。本号は前号以後の主な変化について紹介しょう。

外国のビジネスマンが上海にくると，ほとんどの人が錦江飯店か和平飯店に泊る。しかし，上海大厦，国際飯店に泊る人も少なくない。日本人の旅行者は，日本製のタバコなどが手軽く手に入るので，衡山飯店に好んで泊る。海外華僑と香港，マカオから帰ってきた人たちは，華僑飯店に泊るのが普通である。でも達華賓館，申江飯店に泊ってる人もいる。誰がどこに泊るかは，何もはっきりした規定，条例があるわけではない。例えば，スペイン風の静安賓館には各国の旅行者が泊っている。それは，そこがタクシの駐在所の一つだからかもしれない。イギリススタイルの虹橋クラブは，上海郊外にあり，二棟のイギリス式家屋しかないが，長期滞在の外国ビジネスマンが契約を結んで住んでいる。

次に，各ホテルの様子を簡単に紹介しておこう。また各ホテルのレストランの設備については，専問に紹介している項を参照していただきたい。

錦江飯店—ここはほんとうに上海第一のホテルの名に恥じない。大きな庭をとりかこんで，いろいろな建物があって，まるで小さな町のようである。

ここのいくつかの建物の中で，一ばん大きいのはフランス人の建てた北館である。この館にある普通部屋，スイートの部屋，レストラン及び宴会ホールなどみな非常に豪華である。宴会ホールの壁は木の入り子張りで，天井は白で，柱にはシャンデリアがついている。

中館の設備も同じようにりっぱで，みんなの好評をうけている。この館には，約30室の豪華なスイートの

部屋がある。七十年代の初期，当時のアメリカ大統領ニクソン氏が中国を訪れ，周恩来総理と上海コミュニケに署名したとき泊った部屋が，この館の十六階にある貴賓室—大統領の間—である。この貴賓室はいくつかの部屋がセットになってできている。庭園のそばにある会議室はよく儀式を行うのにつかわれている。多くのりっぱな寝室を備えたスイートは，外に居間があり，食堂があり，書斎がある。このスイートの部屋代は一日人民券500元である。

ベッドルーム二部屋の小さいスイートの部屋は，部屋代がずっとやすい。このような部屋はホテルの正面わきの低い建物—西館—にある。赤レンガの五階建ての南館は，1965年に竣工した。

錦江飯店は，他のホテルに率先して，今年の始め，各部屋にクローズ回路テレビを備えつけた。今ホテル内のほとんどの部屋に，ゆきわっている。その放送時間は日に二回，11：00～13：30と19：00～24：00である。音楽チャンネルの設備も導入することが予定されている。テレビについては，各階の係りの者に問い合せればよい。係りの者はあおそらく，中国の標準語，英語，フランス語が話せるはずで，特別ののコードをとりつけてくれる。

錦江飯店にはホテルの友誼商店がある。その他にスーベニアショップ，理髪店２軒，食料品店（酒，軽食などもある（，外文書店，変ったところでは盆栽，小鳥，剝製のとりなどの買えるところもある。その外，たぶん上海でもっとも設備のよい郵電室がある。

錦江飯店の筋向いにある錦江クラブは，外のところで述べたのでそれを参照していただきたい。

和平飯店—このホテルは中山東路，有名なバンドにあり，黄浦江が見わたせる。ヨーロッパ風のりっぱなビルが並ぶオフイス街，今でも依然として上海の商業活動の中心である—の中に位置している。中国銀行が隣にある。

屋上には四角の形をした，緑色の屋根をもった塔があるので，一目ですぐわかる。イギリス商人ビクトル・サースンが1929年このホテルを建築した。ビジネスにもショッピングにも便利な南京路をはさんで，赤と白レンガ造りの別館がある。

黄浦江に面したレストランは別として，このホテルの設備は錦江飯店と同じである。レストランの窓ぎわの眺めのよいテーブルをとるためには，早目に行かなければならない。また，一階のデイスコ・コーヒショップで出す「パンダ」と「ピース」というカクテルも，ぜひ味わってみたいものの一つである。ビリヤードでワンゲーム楽しむのも，旅の疲れをとるよい方法であろう。

上海大廈—蘇州河河畔にあるこのホテルは，ちょうど蘇州河を距てて和平飯店と相対している。この二つのホテルは非常に近い。上海大廈はホテルの歴史と有名な楊州料理，及び屋上から全上海が見はらせることなどで，旅行者の人気を博している。

以前，ホテルはブロードウェーマンションと呼ばれていた。多くの年輩の人たちには，なじみのある名前である。ここはかつて，外国記者クラブ，アメリカ陸軍病院として使用されところである。租界外にあったため，中日戦争の間，日本に占領されていた。（パンド，今の中山東路一帯は租界内にあった。）

国際飯店——ここは上海でも，もっとも壮大な建築物である。ホテルの南がわは，広びろとした人民広場に面している。そのためここは一名パークホテルとよばれる。公園と広場は以前の競馬場である。ホテルの西の方，南京路の向うに見えるビルをよく見ると，昔の競馬場のスタンドを思いだす。今そこは上海市図書館となっている。

ホテルは24階建てで，上海のホテルの中でもっとも高い。屋上から上海市の全景が俯瞰できる。

華僑飯店——中文のホテル名で通っているこのクラシックなビルは，国際飯店のすぐ隣にある。ホテルの屋上には，金めっきしたドームのついた高さ９メートルの時計台があり，またその真下に中国でよく見かける赤い星があるので，他のホテルとは一目で見わけられる。もし上海で福建料理を味わいたい場合，ここに泊った人は，外へ出かけていく必要がない。それはここの福建料理が上海一だからである。

申江飯店，達華飯店——国際飯店の向い側，人民公園を越したところに申江飯店がある。ここも人民公園に近い。更に西の方に達華賓館がある。

以上紹介したホテルに比べて，両ホテルは規模が小さいが，気持のよい，くつろげるホテルである。外国の旅行者に適したホテルである。達華賓館のスイートの部屋は清潔で気持がいい。九階建ての申江飯店は，1934年に竣工した。当時「楊子飯店と呼ばれていた。1978年徹底的な修築が行われた。

静安賓館，衡山賓館——この二つのホテルは，ともに上海市の西区にあり，なかなかりっぱなホテルで，静安賓館はその名に恥じない安穏静寂なホテルである。

ホテルの部屋は，最近，全部新しく改装したので，雰囲気はいっそうすばらしいものになった。衡山賓館は15階建てのビルで，最上階のスイートの部屋には広い屋上ガーデンがついている。ここから上海市の景色が一応眺められる。全市の各ホテルが旅行者の便宜に設置してあるいろいろな設備も，ここにはみんなそろっている。

虹橋クラブ——最後に虹橋クラブ。

ここは虹橋空港に行く途中，上海動物園のそばにある。クラブと呼ばれているが，実際はクラブではなく，

すばらしい景色と広びろとした庭と二棟の家屋をもった貸し別荘といったほうが適切かもしれない。ここの借り賃は，日にして人民券約1000元。最近，ここを借りて住んでいるある外国商社のＢＰが，ひきつづき一年またはもっと長く，ここを借りたいと申しでたそうである。

WHERE TO EAT

Continuing our series on eating out in Shanghai, this issue may we recommend a superb Beijing-cuisine banquet at the Park Hotel (also known in Pinyin as the Guoji Hotel).

An account of the superbly varied cooking styles of other Shanghai hotel restaurants and a number of outside establishments is given later, but for the moment consider the merits of the Park.

To begin, this is the tallest hotel in Shanghai, and its position in Nanjing Road overlooking People's Park offers commanding views of the Shanghai skyline quite unlike anything else in the city. On a clear day one can see far beyond the Huangpu River to the east, and to the mountains of outer Shanghai in the west.

Rising 24 floors (two are underground), it was completed in 1934. Older visitors may recall that its ground floor used to be a bank before liberation.

Now restaurants abound to service its 168 rooms and suites and visitors trying something different from the cuisines of other hotels.

The Park has seven banquet rooms and restaurants. The largest is the Phoenix, a restaurant with red velvet drapes specialising in Beijing and Shanghai dishes, on the second floor. A few small banquet tables are available beside picture windows on this level, from which diners can watch bustling Nanjing Road.

On the 3rd floor is a European-style restaurant, and then comes the Beijing-cuisine Peacock Hall on the 14th. This has an unusual roll-back roof that opens to the sky within a central shaft of the building.

Higher still are the Four Seasons Banquet Rooms, so called because of their distinctive decor.

Here the fare is finest Beijing, ideal for returning the hospitality of hosts. Even individual travellers and resident businessmen often band together, making up a table of eight or more, to sample its exquisite Beijing food that was once prepared for emperors.

Table setting at the Park Hotel.

Here is a sample menu—

*Flower Basket of Assorted Cold Dishes. Presentation is extremely intricate. Morsels of duck, walnuts and seaweed surround a centreplate of duck eggs, prawns, pork and non-oily vegetables. Both vegetables and meat change according to the seasons.

*Phoenix prawns. Beijing-style, this appears as a long pattie in egg white.

*Sliced fish in white sauce. Absolutely delicious.

*Bamboo shoots with edible leaves and mushrooms.

*Beijing Duck. The piece-de-resistance. In Beijing itself some restaurants serve nothing else, in sittings for up to 3,000 people, and the result can be a trifle oily.

By comparison Beijing Duck in Shanghai is relatively dry and the skin delightfully crisp. These are white ducks, unlike the grey ducks of southern China, and they are hand-fed for three months, taking no exercise, in a special Shanghai breeding farm.

Consume in the usual way—skin in patties followed by slivers of meat.

*Four Jewels in Chicken Oil. Asparagus, abalone, green vegetable and bird's eggs thoroughly stewed.

*Fried Dumplings. Boiled then lightly fried, these are filled with prawns and meat. Their fantastic fan-looking presentation is a speciality of the Park.

*Fish Egg Soup with pepper, another dish found only at the Park.

*Sugar-coated apples.

*Tientsin Pears.

Such a banquet can cost as little as Y400 for 8–12 diners. Bookings should be made through your hotel reception desk.

Now a roundup of dining facilities at the other hotels. No discerning gourmet sampling Chinese cuisine should bypass the Sichuan specialities of the Jing Jiang Hotel (principal restaurant 11th floor of North Wing, where lavish banquet rooms are also situated). The Jing Jiang chefs are famous not only in China but also abroad—they are invited on many foreign tours. Sichuan is only one of many specialist cuisines in their imaginative repertoire, so do not be put off if you find Sichuan food too hot and spicey. The adjacent Jing Jiang Club is discussed in the next article.

The Peace Hotel specialises in Shanghainese food, the Park's chief dishes come from Beijing, and the Jing'an and Hengshan Hotels both place emphasis on Sichuan cuisine. The Dahau Guest House looks towards Beijing tastes, and the Shenjiang offers Guangdong, Sichuan and Yangzhou cuisine. The Overseas Chinese Hotel, also known as the Huaqiao, has food from Fujian, Guangdong and Chaozhou—Fujian dishes being the most prominent.

Meal hours are rather strictly adhered to, and are a trifle earlier than those of many Western countries. Breakfast is the normal 7–9 am, lunch 11.30–2.00 pm, and dinner 5.30–7.00 pm, except in places like the Jing Jiang Club.

For outside restaurants, all the guidebooks say booking is absolutely necessary, but in practice the booking procedure itself can be a problem if your Mandarin and/or Shanghainese accent is not up to par (special dishes really require a personal appearance beforehand, paying a deposit and giving one's hotel room number). Try arriving up to half an hour before the times given above for lunch and dinner, and the chances are that a table will be found.

Foreigners are requested to sit in a special section of outside restaurants, which could be behind Chinese screens on principal dining hall floors, or a floor or two up, depending on the layout of the restaurant concerned. Charges in the foreign areas are a little higher than elsewhere in the restaurants, but even so dining in Shanghai is not expensive. Sundays are very busy in all restaurants, as are even days of the month, regarded as more propitious than single days for occasions like wedding dinners.

Favourites (see map) include the Old Town Restaurant (also called Lao Fandian, Fuyou Road, Tel 283010), Yangzhou (Nanjing Road East, 222779), Xinya (Nanjing Road East, 224393), Sichuan (Nanjing Road East, 221965), Renmin Fandian (Nanjing Road, 537351), The Red House (Shanxi Road South, 565748) and the Green Wave Gallery (translated as Lu Bo Lang, Yu You Road, 280602).

Of these your foreign scribe particularly likes the latter, which is set beside Yu Gardens overlooking the famous Wuxingting Teahouse in the old town (although nobody else seems to have recommended it so far), the renowned Xinya, whose second floor foreign dining cubicles combine to appear like an olden days railway carriage, and the French-cuisine Red House.

Be cautious with wines. The driest of reds is still a little sweet to Western tastes, but chilled Great Wall white is quite palatable—rather akin to a Moselle. By all means experiment with the various other Chinese wines available, but remember that some are quite strong. Maotai is the traditional spirit drink, made from sorghum, and it is usually followed by a beer chaser (probably Shanghai, Seagull or Tsingtao brands). French, Italian and Californian wines are available at places like the Food Store of the Jing Jiang Hotel.

本期的“食在何处”是要介绍国际饭店的美味京菜宴席。

上海其他饭店的餐厅以及市内许多其他餐厅的各式各样佳肴美点，将于稍后介绍，现在先介绍一下国际饭店的优点。

首先，它是上海市最高的饭店，位于南京路人民公园对面，从那里居高临下所见景色之美，是在其他地方看不到的。如果天清气朗，向东可以看到黄浦江以外，向西可以望到上海市的郊区。

国际饭店楼高廿四层（其中两层是在地面以下），是在一九三四年建成的。年纪比较大的游客也许还会记得，它的楼下在解放之前曾是一家银行。

国际饭店共有七个宴会厅和餐厅，其中最大的是二楼的凤凰厅，供应京菜和沪菜。靠窗的地方有几张大桌子，生在那里可以看到繁忙的南京路。

三楼有一个欧洲式餐厅，十四楼有个供应京菜的孔雀厅。这个厅的顶可以卷后打开，打开后可以看到天空。在更高的层次还有春夏秋冬四个宴会厅。

这里的京菜非常著名，最适宜用来招待东道主，答谢他们的好意。甚至个别游客和长住上海的外国商人，也常常八个或十个的组成一桌，到这里来尝一尝美味可口的北京菜。

以下是北京菜筵席的一个例牌菜单。

花篮冷盆。中间是鸭蛋、虾、猪肉和青菜，四周围是鸭肉片、胡桃和菜等。肉类和菜都是视季节而不同的。

凤尾明虾。

糟溜鱼片。

干烧春笋鲜菜。

北京烤鸭。和正宗北京烤鸭相比，上海的北京烤鸭比较不油腻，皮也较脆。

鸡油四宝。

水煎包。

烩乌鱼蛋。

拔丝苹果。

天津雪梨。

一桌这样的筵席，可供八至十二人享用，收费低至只是人民币四百元。你可请饭店的服务台代你订座。

以下是继续介绍其他饭店的饮食设备。锦江饭店的四川菜是首屈一指的（北翼十一楼的主餐厅；那里也有些豪华的宴会房）。锦江的厨师不但在同内驰名，也蜚声海外——他们曾多次被邀请出国访问。四川菜只是许许多多特色菜的其中之一，所以就算你觉得四川菜过分辛辣，也有大量其他选择。在它对面的锦江俱乐部，本期有专文介绍。

和平饭店供应上海菜，国际饭店和华达宾馆供应北京菜，静安宾馆和衡山宾馆供应四川菜，申江饭店兼供广、京、扬三种菜，华侨饭店供应福建菜，兼供广东、潮州菜。

上海各饭店、餐厅的营业时间，早餐为上午７－９时，中餐11：30－２时，晚餐５：30－７时，锦江俱乐部则各餐不受时间限制。

根据各种导游书介绍，到外面餐厅进餐，一定要先预定座位，（一般需要当面预定登记，预付定金，还要告

上海の味

诉居住的饭店房间号码）届时你还必须比规定时间早到半小时，以便找到你的座位。

外宾被邀在餐厅的一个特别地方入座，有的在餐厅里用屏风隔成一间，有的设在楼上，外宾用膳餐厅的收价略高，但是上海的餐厅还是不贵的。

周日和双日，餐厅营业特别忙，据说双日是办喜庆宴席的良辰吉日。

著名的饭店还有：老饭店（福佑路，电话：283010）、扬州饭店（南京东路，电话：222779）、新雅粤菜馆（南京东路，电话：224393）、四川饭店（南京东路，电话：221965）、人民饭店（南京西路，电话：537351）、红房子西餐馆（陕西南路，电话：565748），以及绿波廊餐厅（豫园路，电话：280602）。

选酒时要小心。即使最不甜的葡萄酒，对于西方人来说也嫌稍微甜了一点，不过，冰过的长城牌白酒味道倒挺不错。不妨尽量多试其他的中国酒，但要记住，有些中国酒是很烈的。茅台是用高粱酿制的烈酒，喝完之后通常再喝一杯啤酒（上海牌、海鸥牌或青岛牌）。意大利、法国和加州的酒在锦江饭店等地方可以买到。

「上海の味」シリーズは，本号に国際飯店のすばらしい北京料理を紹介することにしました。

上海のホテルのレストランやホテル以外のレストランにも，おいしいいろいろの料理がある。それの紹介も逐次することにして，今回は国際飯店の優点について述べてみよう。

先ず最初に，ここは上海市のホテルのビルの中で，一番高いビルである。南京路にあって，その南面は人民公園に面し，屋上からは，外のホテルでは眺められない美しい景色を見ることができる。空の晴れわたった日には，黄浦江の向う，江東地区が遠くまで見える。西の方は，上海市外がはるか彼方に望める。

ホテルは全部で24階，地下が２階で，1934年に竣工した。一階は銀行だったことを，年輩の旅行者は思いだすだろう。

現在，ホテルのレストランは，主として，ここに泊っているお客に利用されている。また，ほかのホテルでは，味わえない料理を食べたい旅行者にも，利用されている。

ここには宴会の間とレストランをあわせて，七つある。その中で，もっとも大きいのが，二階にある鳳凰の間である。そこは赤紫色のカーテンをかけ，北京料理と上海料理をサービスしている。窓ぎわにいくつかのテーブルがある。そこに座って外を見ると，にぎやかな南京路が手にとれるように見える。

三階にあるのは，ヨーロッパスタイルのレストランで，14階の孔雀の間は，北京料理専門である。この部屋の天井は，巻きあげ式の珍しい天井で，開けると大空がビルの中にいても眺められるのである。

更に上の方には，春夏秋冬の四季の名をつけた宴会室がある。

ここの北京料理は，非常に名が通っている。主人側の好意に対して，返礼の宴会を設けるのにもっとも適した所である。個人旅行者や上海駐在の外国ビジネスマンたちも，よく８名，10名で一卓を予約して，かつて皇帝に供した宮中料理である北京料理に，舌つつみをうつのである。

次に宴会に出される北京料理のメインメニューを紹介しょう。

・花籃冷盆（フワァランルンパン）中国式オードブルで，この盛り合せは，非常にこみいっている。大皿のまんなかは，あひるのたまご，えび，ぶた肉，野菜などを一口で食べられるような大きさに切ったものが，かざられてあり，その周りをとりまいてあひるの肉，くるみ，海藻などが並べられてある。肉類や野菜は季節のものが使われる。

・凰尾明蝦（フオンウエミンシャ）えび料理。くるまえびを使った北京スタイルのえび料理。

・糟溜魚片（サウリュウユイペン）魚の切身に，酒粕のはいったあんをかけた魚料理。

・干焼春笋鮮菜（カンショオツンスンセンツアイ）タケノコのやわらかいところを野菜やマッシュルームなどと一緒にいためたもの。

・北京烤鴨（北京ダック）北京でも二三のレストランを除いては食べられない。上海のダックは本場の北京ダックに比べて油こっくなく，皮もカリカリとしている。この鴨は白鴨で，華南地区の灰色のと異なる。飼育期間は三カ月だけで，少しも運動させずにつめこみ式で上海の特別の農場で飼育されている。

・鶏油四宝（チユースパウ），アスパラガス，鮑，新鮮野菜，うずらのたまごを長時間とろ火で煮こんだ料理である。

・水煎包（スイチェンパウ）　これは油と水をひいた平底の鍋で焼きあげた小さなマンジュウで，あんはえびと肉である。変った扇形の形は国際飯店独特のものである。

・燴烏魚蛋（フェウユイタン）イカのたまごの煮こんだもので，胡椒で味をきかしている。これも国際飯店だけの料理である。

・蘋果抜絲（ビンコウパス）りんごを油であげたものに砂糖液をかけたもの。

・天津雪梨（テンチンセリー）デザート，天津産の梨。

このような料理は，一卓８～12名に用意したもので，料金は，一卓

400元にしかすぎない。泊っているホテルのフロントを通じて予約できる。

次に各ホテルのレストランについて，概括的に紹介しょう。錦江飯店の四川料理は，食通で知らないものがいないほど有名である。　メインレストランは北館の11階にある。そこには外に宴会に使われる部屋もある。錦江飯店のコック長たちは，中国国内でその名が知られているだけでなく，広く海外にまで知れわたっている。四川料理は，たくさんある特色のある料理の中の一種にしかすぎない。も四川料理がからすぎるなら，その外にも口に合う料理を選ぶことができる。ホテルの筋向いの錦江クラブについては，本号に紹介があるからそれを参照していただきたい。

和平飯店は，上海料理に特色があり，国際飯店の主な料理は北京から来ている。静安賓館と衡山賓館は四川料理を専門にしている。達華賓館は北京料理的である。申江飯店は広東料理，四川料理，楊州料理の三つを提供する。華僑飯店は福建料理を主とし，他に広東料理と潮州料理がある。その中で福建料理がもっとも有名である。

ホテル内，及び外のレストランの食事時間は厳格にきめられている。それもヨーロッパー諸国に比べると早いようである。朝食は平常午前７時から午前９時まで，昼食は11時半から午後２時まで，夕食は午後５時半から７時までとなっている。錦江クラブはこの制限をうけない。

ホテルのレストラン以外のその他のところについては，ほとんどのガイドブックが，食事をとるなら，早く予約しなくてはならないと紹介している。しかし，実際に予約しようとすると，いろいろな困難にぶつかる。上海語や中国標準語が話せない場合はとくにそうである。（特別料理を注文するには，自ら足を運ばなければならないし，前金も支払わなければならない。また自分の泊っているホテルの名前とルームナンバも，教えておかなければならない。などたいへんめんどうである）。一ばんいい方法は，先ほど紹介した食事時間より半時間または一時間早く行くことである。こうすれば必ずテーブルがとれる。

ホテル外のレストランに行った場合，外国人専用のところへ案内されることがある。そこは，ときには，レストランの一角を屏風で区切つた場合もあるし，ときには，そのレストランの二階，三階という場合もあって，各レストランの具体的条件によって，まちまちである。このようなところへ案内された場合，料金は普通よりいくらか高い。たとえそうであっても，「食べるなら上海で」という標準からしても，そう大きな出費ではない。どこのレストランとも日曜日は大入満員である。結婚披露宴のようなおめでたは，偶数日の方が縁起がいいといわれている。それで偶数日の方が奇数日よりもレストランはこんでいる。

有名なレストランに次のいくつかがある（地図を参照）。

老飯店
（福佑路，TEL：283010），
楊州飯店
（南京東路，TEL：222779），
新　雅
（南京東路，TEL：224393），
四川飯店
（南京東路，TEL：221965），
人民飯店
（南京西路，TEL：537351），
紅房子
（レッドハウス，洋食，陝西南路，TEL：565748），
緑波廊レストラン
（豫園路，TEL：280602）。

これらのレストランの中で，特に筆者の気にいったのは緑波廊レストランである。ここは旧城内，豫園のそばにあって，有名な「五星亭茶館」と向きあっている。しかし，誰もここをあまりすいせんしない。広東料理で有名な「新雅」の三階には，往時の列車の中を思い起させるような間切りをした外国人専用の部屋が，用意されてある。ここも悪くない。その外フランス料理を食べさせる「紅房子（レッドハウス）」もすいせんできる一つである。

酒を選ぶ場合注意しなければならない。もっともきつい「葡萄酒」でも，ヨーロッパーの人にとっては甘いかもしれない。しかし，冷した「長城」ブランドの白葡萄酒はなかなか悪くない。その味は，モーゼルの白葡萄酒に近い。中国に来たからには，できるだけ多くの中国の酒を味わって見るべきである。でもある種の酒は非常にきついから注意せねばならない。茅台酒はきつい酒の典型的なものの一つである。これは高粱を原料として醸造したものである。普通これを飲んだあと，ビールを軽く一杯飲むことになっている。ビールは「上海」か「かもめ」ブランドのどちらでもいい。フランス，イタリー，カリフォルニア産のブドウ酒は，錦江飯店の食品ストアーで買える。

Impressive facade of the Park Hotel.

Jing Jiang Club

Tourists and businessmen alike rarely consider packing swimming costumes and tennis raquets when visiting Shanghai.

Still less do they envisage pre-dinner drinks in elegant Western-style bars, to the tunes of Latin American combos or popular European groups, followed by a candlelit dinner accompanied by violins, cellos and piano, and then perhaps a late-night game of billiards or bowls.

It does indeed seem like a far-flung stretch of somebody's imagination, for such settings are not an integral part of modern Shanghai, but it happens, at the Jing Jiang Club, opposite the highly-rated Jing Jiang Hotel in Maoming Road.

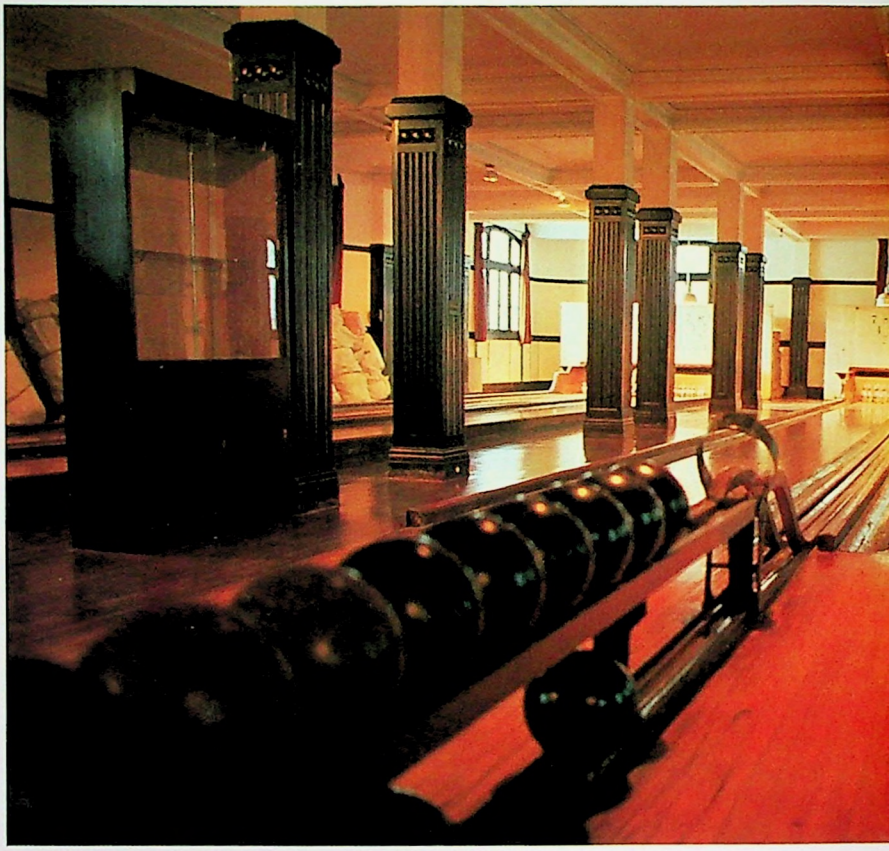

Even if you did not bring your tennis raquet and swimming costume, the club's management has thoughtfully provided such items for sale or hire.

The Jing Jiang Club also has Chinese restaurants and lately Japanese cuisine, apart from Chinese banqueting and convention rooms and the French restaurant—and its first floor suite has often been used for distinguished visitors.

Admission is 2 Yuan, and thereafter prices are equally reasonable.

Swimming is year-round in a heated, Olympic-size pool. Tennis, outdoors, is conducted in good weather on two courts reached through an attractive, fountained garden. The bowling alleys were unique in that, like a few other old-time clubs in the East, the pins were reset each time by attendants, but now the plan is to introduce automatic resetting equipment as in the West. Pin-ball and video machines in the bowling alley room have lately spilled over into the cards room—some 80 video games are presently on offer—but cards and chess continue in an adjoining cul-de-sac room facing the garden, and a separate table tennis room is well patronised.

The suite is nothing less than magnificent. It incorporates four bedrooms with double or twin beds, all with adjoining bathrooms, of a quality some say is superior to the Presidential Suite (where President Nixon stayed) in the Jing Jiang Hotel itself. The suite can also be let when not required for official purposes, at 750–1,500 Yuan a day depending on requirements.

The Jing Jiang Club's bowling alley is being converted to automatic equipment.

The Jiang Jiang Club, then, is a rather remarkable development for foreigners in Shanghai, and is worth viewing for that reason alone.

Facilities. Bar (1400–2300), Heated Swimming Pool (0900–2230, 5 Yuan all inclusive), Restaurants (1100–2230), Billiards (1100–2300, 2 Yuan per hour per player), Tennis (0800–1800, 4 Yuan per hour per court), Table Tennis (1100–2300, free), Bowling (1100–2300, 1 Yuan per game), Amusements (Chess, Cards all 1 Yuan per hour per player).

锦江俱乐部

不管是游客还是商人，他们来上海的时候，很少会把游泳衣和网球拍也带来。

他们更简直不会心存以下奢望：在一个优雅的西式酒吧喝杯餐前酒，然后在一个有乐队奏乐、用烛光照明的餐厅里吃晚饭，饭后玩一两局撞球或者保龄球，又或者在一个布置高雅的休憩室中打打牌。

不过，上述的一切，在位于茂名路的锦江俱乐部里，都可以实现。

即使你忘了带游泳衣和网球拍，也可以在俱乐部里租或买到。

——那里除了有一个法国餐厅，还有一个中国式餐厅、宴会和会议厅。最近，还增设了日本料理。那里还有陈

设完备的套房，用来招呼来访的贵宾。

入场费是人民币二元，而使用其他设备的收费，也同样合理。

室内游泳池是温水的，大小符合奥运标准。网球场是露天的，共有两个。保龄球场较落后，以前要由工人用手把瓶子检起来放好，但现在已经改装成为用机器自动捡瓶子。

以前放在保龄球场里的弹子游戏机和电视游戏机，最近已经搬了去纸牌室，不过，那个室里仍然有纸牌、国际象棋等供客人耍乐。此外，那里还有个独立的桌球室。

套房真的是华丽堂皇：共有四个双人卧房，全都附有浴室。没有外国国

套房很是华丽堂皇：一共有四个双人卧房，全都附有浴室。租金是每天七百五十至一千五百元，视客人租用多少地方而定。

以下是锦江俱乐部各项设备的开放时间和收费。酒吧（下午二至十一时），温水泳池（上午九时至晚上十时半，收费五元），餐厅（上午十一时至晚上十时半），撞球（上午十一时至下午十一时，每人每小时二元），网球（上午八时至下午六时，每个场每小时四元），桌球（上午十一时至晚上十一时，免费），保龄球（上午十一时至晚上十一时，每局一元），娱乐（国际象棋和纸牌等都是每人每小时收费一元）。

錦江クラブ

上海へ来る旅行者やビジネスマンたちは，水泳着やテニスのラケットを，荷物につめるなど毛頭考えない。

まして，優雅なヨーロッパスタイルのバーで，晩ごはん前の一杯をたしなんでから，ラテンアメリかやヨーロツパのポピュラ音楽を演奏するバンドのバイオリン，セロ，ピアノに耳を傾けながら，蝋烛のやわらない光線のもとで食事をとり，食後，男性の方はビリヤードやボーリングで，１～２セットのゲームを楽しみ，女性の方は，優美なふんきをもつ休憩室で，トランプを遊ぶというような過分な望を心に描いて上海へ来る人は，まずいないだろう。

それは，全く誰かのぜいたくな夢にしか過ぎないようだ。そんなことは，現代の上海にふさわしくないというかもしれない。しかし，それが現に，高級ホテル錦江飯店の筋向い，茂名路にある錦江クラブに，夢でなく，現実として存在しているのである。

水泳着やテニスのラケットを忘れてきても，クラブの係りにいえば，買うことも，借りることもできる。

クラブには中国料理のレストランがある。　また最近，日本料理が，ここから独立することになっている。宴会場，会議場及びフランス料理のレストランもある。クラブのスイートの部屋は，中国を訪問にきた来賓の宿泊に，使っている。

クラブの入場料は２元で，その他の設備の使用料もみな手ごろのねだんである。

室内プールはオリンピックサイズの温水プールで一年中開放している。屋外にはテニスコートが２コートあり，噴水のある美しい庭に続いている。ボーリングアレーは，アジアにある古い型のクラブと同じように非常に古く，ゲーム毎に係り員が手でピンを，一つ一つ拾いあげて並べなければならない。今，ヨーロッパと同じようなオートメーション化した設備を備えつけるプランがある。この同じルームに，　ピンボールとビデオマシンがある。近い将来，約80台のビデオゲムを備えつけると，やがて，トランプを遊ぶ今のルームを占領してしまうかもしれない。でもトランプ，チェスのできる娯楽室も庭に面した袋小路に隣接した部屋に移り，続けて遊べる。ピンポン室は独立した部屋になっている。

ここのスイートの部屋は，他に見られないほど豪華で，ダブルまたはツインになったベッドルームが４部屋あり，それぞれにバスルームがついている。

使用する部屋数に応じて人民券750元～1500元で借りられる。

錦江クラブは，上海にいる外国人のために顕著な発展をしてきた。それだけの理由でもいって見るだけの価値がある。

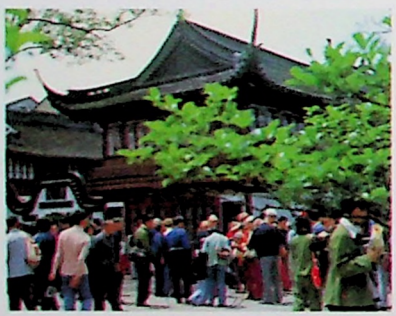

クラブの各設備の営業時間と料金は，次の通りである。

バー（14：00～23：00），温水プール（09：00～22：30，一人当り５元），ビリヤード（11：00～23：00，一人につき一時間２元）　テニス（08：00～18：00，ワンコート，１時間４元），ピンポン（11：00～23：00，無料），ホーリング（11：00～23：00，ワンゲム１元），チェス，トランプ，（一人につき一時間１元）。

Nanjing Road
A 2–3 kilometer walk along this busiest shopping street of Shanghai is fascinating. Here are some of Shanghai's largest department stores, a few of the better-known outside restaurants for foreigners, People's Park, the Park and Overseas Chinese Hotels, views of Shanghai Television Tower, and a myriad of small shops offering many different wares. On Sundays especially it is very crowded.

Huangpu River Trip
Tickets at 8 Yuan are available from a piper on Zhongshan Road East just north of the Peace Hotel, towards Shanghai Mansions. Ferries depart at 1.30 pm, and also at 8 am on Sundays. Evening voyages at 7 pm during the summer months. The ferry takes passengers down the Huangpu River to the Yangtse and back. A most worthwhile three-hour journey. (see feature article this issue).

Yu Gardens
Must not be missed. This classical Chinese garden amply illustrates what life was like in Shanghai 4–500 years ago. When in the Yu Gardens area of the city, it is not the only place to see. This is the "old town" built when a much smaller Shanghai used to be behind fortressed walls, and a maze of narrow and interesting streets are on the outer perimeter of Yu Gardens.

Shanghai Zoo
Situated towards the airport, this is open 365 days a year, from 6.30 am to 5.30 pm. Admission 10 Fen. Pandas and many more animals and birds on display. The zoo map although in Chinese characters has animal illustrations showing foreigners where to go.

Site of the First National Congress of the Chinese Communist Party
Shanghai has quite a reputation for its revolutionary zeal, and it was here, in 1921, that the Chinese Communist Party came into being. The grey and red brick house, on the corner of Xing Ye and Huangpi Nan Roads, and its contents, are definitely worth studying. The historic meeting took place in number 106.

Sun Yat-sen Museum
Not open to tour groups, but individual visitors are sometimes allowed to view the premises. Dr. Sun, although a founder of the Chinese Nationalist Party, is revered for his role in overthrowing the Manchus in 1911, bringing an end to the dynasties. He died in 1925. Before that he lived from 1918–24 in Shanghai, and his restored house contains much interesting memorabilia (feature article this issue).

Lu Xun
This writer was a revolutionary campaigner in the early 1900s. Students may recall his most famous short story, A Madman's Diary, written in 1918, which became very well-known in the West. He wrote and taught much more besides, including producing the classic novel The True Story of Ah Q. The Lu Xun Museum, Tomb, and the writer's former residence, are north of Shanghai Mansions.

These are but a few glimpses of what to view in Shanghai. Other interesting spots include the Jade Buddha Temple, Longhua Pagoda, Shanghai Gymnasium, the Industrial Exhibition Hall, the Children's Palace, and the Museum of Art and History.

Acrobatics, magic and sport are also part of the city's entertainment—ask your hotel desk what is on this week.

南京路

上海でもっともにぎやかなショッピン街，南京路を２～３キロぶらぶらするのも，非常に趣きのあることである。この通りには，上海でもっとも大きいデパートが何軒か並んでいる。その外，外国人にもよく知られたレストランがいくつかある。人民公園，国際飯店，華僑飯店，上海テレビタワー，その他各種各様の商品を売っている無数の小さな商店も，みんなこの通りに並んでいる。休日になると，通りは人でごったかえす。

豫園

豫園に行くことを忘れないように。この古めかしい中国庭園は，4～500年前の上海市民の生活模様を十二分に，説明してくれる。

豫園だけがこの一帯で，見るべき唯一のところではない。豫園のあるここは，昔の上海城があったところで，以前は城壁がこの町をとりかこんでいた。豫園の周囲には，せまい横丁が縦横に交差し，まるで迷宮のようである。

TIPS AND FACTS

Currency

Foreign banknotes and travellers cheques may be brought into China, but not Chinese currency unless in the form of Bank of China travellers cheques. Similarly Chinese currency may not be taken out. It is essential to keep exchange slips if you wish to cash remaining Yuan on departure.

Visitors are provided with Yuan Foreign Exchange Certificates, which are the same value as locally-used Renminbi (literally "people's money").

The term Yuan means "dollar", and this is divided into 100 Fen, which means "cents". Yuan notes are in 1-5-10-50 denominations, and Fen in 10 and 50 notes.

One RmB, the Chinese-used equivalent of the Yuan, is divided into ten Jiao, which may be included in change from shops and taxi drivers. Jiao has only souvenir-value, since foreigners are always expected to pay in Yuan and Fen.

Exchange

Hotel desks are the simplest place to exchange currency, if you have not already done so at the airport or railway station. Hours are 8 am—8 pm, and 8 am—5.30 pm on Sundays. Rates of course fluctuate.

A mid-year Bank of China guide for buying bank notes is £100 (Y327), HK$100 (Y31), US$100 (Y176), JY100,000 (Y756), Can$100 (Y146), A$100 (Y199), S$100 (Y81), DM100 (Y72), FFr100 (Y30). The Bank of China is beside the Peace Hotel, and is open 9.30 am—4.30 pm.

Credit Cards

Various hotels, banks and Friendship Stores in Shanghai accept Visa, American Express, Master Charge, Diner's and Federal Cards (the last is issued by the Nanyang Bank).

In most cases these cards can only be used to obtain money up to 1,500 Yuan, and a four per cent surcharge is added. American Express allows the encashment of a personal cheque up to US$1,500 at no surcharge. A few stores, such as the Antique and Curio Store, have been known to transact actual purchases with credit cards. This method of payment is spreading, but is not yet widely accepted. Not all outlets take the same credit cards. If in doubt try the Bank of China.

Tipping

Do not tip under any circumstances. Simply profer the correct amount, or expect the correct change.

Water

Visitors should use the pre-boiled water provided in hotel rooms. Bottled Laoshan mineral water is worth sampling too.

Laundry

Usually takes two days, but can be done in one if a degree of urgency is specified. For departing travellers, important to be absolutely sure when laundry will be returned.

Communications

Chinese postal authorities have an express service which would get documents from Shanghai to, say, London, in 2–3 days.

Postage stamps do not have have a sticky back—use the glue pot provided somewhere nearby.

International telephone calls can be booked from hotel rooms by filling out a form available from the floor attendant. Local telephone calls are decidedly tricky unless you speak Mandarin. Lifting the receiver connects the guest with the hotel's switchboard operators, who may speak a number of foreign languages besides Mandarin. Say "outside line please" and dial when a high-pitched tone sounds. If you are calling somebody who knows your language, you may be successful.

Larger Shanghai hotels have quite efficient telecommunications rooms—the Jing Jiang has a battery of telex machines, typewriters and so forth, but for telex one is supposed to operate the machines personally, which some visitors may have forgotten how to do. If confused, help is on hand in the non-busy periods.

Transport

Use the Shanghai Friendship Taxi Service for getting around Shanghai. Taxis can be booked at hotel desks and restaurants, but cannot be flagged down in the street. There are two types—35 black "Red Flag" taxis and 286 gunmetal grey "Shanghai" taxis. Minimum charge for the latter is Y2.50 for five kilometers. Day rate (8 am—6 pm) is Y25. If on day hire important to invite the driver to lunch.

Visitors from places like Hong Kong and Japan would do well to remember that Shanghai traffic drives on the right—look left when crossing roads if you want to avoid becoming bicycle mincemeat or worse.

All Shanghai car licences start 08-, so if a waiter gives you an ordered taxi number in a restaurant, it will probably be the last four or five digits of the car's registration.

Electricity

200-220 Volts AC—American appliances need adaptors. Plugs are provided in bathrooms of most major hotels, not necessarily near the mirror.

Language

The English interpretation of Chinese characters has seen many changes. Presently a style known as Pinyin is being encouraged. This is meant to be more phonetically close to spoken Mandarin than previous systems, but anomalies still exist. Hongqiao, a Pinyin spelling for Shanghai's airport, is actually pronounced Hongchow. So 'q' is 'ch', 'x' is 'sh', 'z' is 'ds', 'c' is 'ts', 'zh' is as in charge. You can probably get by for a few days with zao, nihao (good morning, how are you), xiexieni (thank you—this pronounced shayshayni and usually the 'ni' meaning 'you' is dispensed with) and chuzuqiche (taxi, an impossible spelling pronounced cheetserr). For anything more adventurous a dictionary of simplified phrases is the next step, and an ability at sign-language gestures can be useful too.

Floor attendants, receptionists and waiters in hotels where foreigners stay have often been assigned to their jobs because they are studying foreign languages. It is polite to assist this process if the opportunity arises.

When walking about, incidentally, the names of Shanghai's streets are given in both Chinese characters and Pinyin English.

Climate

Shanghai can be quite cold in the winter months (November-February) when temperatures sometimes fall below freezing point.

In the summer (June-August) it is decidedly hot, and frequently rainy.

Seasoned Shanghai visitors pick the spring, and still more, autumn, when the city is probably at its best, but hotel rooms can be harder to obtain.

Dress according to the seasons. Western businessmen often prefer to wear suits, but even for banquets, informality is the keynote.

Airport Tax

If leaving from Shanghai's Hongqiao Airport, 10 Yuan airport tax is charged on international flights. There is an exchange desk inside the final departure hall. Outgoing customs officers examine all baggage beyond the check-in desks, after which check baggage is simply left beside the opposite wall.

Shopping

High-value capital goods must be accompanied on departure by a sales slip, just as high-value goods like watches and cameras must be declared on arrival and taken out again.

Hotel Television

Major hotels have introduced closed-circuit foreign films this summer. These are primarily in English. Viewing times are 1100–1330 and 1900–2400. Ask the floor attendant for advice—a special cable is required for the room TV sets, and the charge is 4 Yuan a day.

Mandarin speakers will still be able to pick up Shanghai Television in the evenings. Foreign viewers may also find this station interesting even if they do not understand the language.

Hairdressing

Try having a haircut or perm in Shanghai. The barbers, whose charges are low, are meant to be among the best in China, and they can also provide scalp and partial body massages while one sits in the chair.

Security

You are advised to leave valuables in safe deposit at your hotel. It seems needless—the Shanghainese in their treatment of foreigners must be among the most honest in the world—but sometimes hotel rooms are left unlocked, and occasionally an itinerant fellow guest could be a problem.

Play safe if you want, but in reality the incidence of pilfery from foreigners in Shanghai is non-existent.

Airlines

Both CAAC and Japan Air Lines have frequent flights between Shanghai and Nagasaki, Osaka and Tokyo. CAAC is daily direct to Hong Kong except Sundays, while Cathay Pacific has two Hong Kong—Shanghai—Hong Kong flights on Wednesday and Saturday. CAAC also flies on Wednesday Beijing—Shanghai—San Francisco—New York. Pan Am has a weekly flight from Shanghai to San Francisco on Friday via Tokyo. This was the situation during summer/autumn. CAAC's winter timetable is effective 1 November. CAAC's headquarters are at 789 Yan'an Road Central (international reservations tel 532255, domestic tel 535953). In practice reception desks of the hotels have CAAC booking agents. Foreign airline tickets are issued only at CAAC headquarters. Reconfirm with the airline concerned. JAL has a reasonable staff. Pan Am can often be difficult to obtain. Cathay Pacific has become easier after its recent move to Room 123 on the ground floor of the Jing Jiang. Japan Air Lines—1202 Huaihai Road Central tel 378467. Cathay Pacific—Room 123 Jing Jiang Hotel tel 534242. Pan Am—Room 364 Hongqiao Airport tel 531935.

Shipping

Two passenger ships, the Haixing and the Shanghai, offer weekly sailings to Hong Kong. The voyage takes about three days. Cruise vessels also call at Shanghai. If any are in port, they will be tied up slightly beyond Shanghai Mansions.

Railways

Express trains operate to Beijing and Guangzhou, and there are services to many other places. Mid-year schedules showed the Beijing express leaving at 1057 and 1721, and the Guangzhou express at 0925.

Newspapers

Some foreign-language newspapers and weekly newsmagazines are available in the hotel foreign bookstalls, along with foreign-language books published both abroad and within China.

Tobacco, Liquor

A reasonably extensive range of overseas and Chinese brands are stocked by Shanghai hotels. Cigarettes are only slightly dearer than Hong Kong prices, which are lower than the dutyfree prices of many countries. Anything from French brandies and Scottish whiskies to Californian and Italian wines can be purchased at none-too-exhorbitant cost.

Check Out

Hotel check out time is 12 noon. An hour or two's grace can sometimes be given because of the city's early luncheon habits. Travellers departing in the evening can leave baggage in store at the hotel.

电信

中国邮电局设有快邮服务。例如，文件在两三天内就可从上海到达伦敦。

邮票后面是没有胶水的，不过在附近为你准备好了胶水或浆糊。

国际长途电话可以在饭店房间里打。如果你打电话到市内其他地方，拿起电话听筒对接线员说："请接外线"，接通后再拔号码。

上海比较大的饭店都设有电信服务室。锦江饭店有一批用户电报机、打字机等等，如果打用户电报，必须自己操作。如有困难，可请服务员帮助。

交通

利用上海友谊汽车公司所提供的租车服务。你可以在饭店的柜台和一些大餐厅请那里的职员代你召辆车子来。该公司的出租汽车有两款：黑色的"红旗牌"车(35辆)和灰色的"上海牌"车（286辆）。后者的起程价是人民币二元五角，可驶五公里。租车一整天的收费是人民币二十五元。如果是租车一天，记得邀请司机吃午饭。从香港和日本等地来的旅游者，要牢记上海的各种车辆是靠右行驶的，过马路的时候，一定要先向左看，否则将可能会遭受车祸的危险。

上海汽车牌照号码是从"08"开始的。服务员给你的出租汽车牌照号码，可能是"08"后面的一个四位数或五位数。

电流

交流电压是200－220伏。所以美国电气用具在上海使用应调整变压器。大饭店的浴室里都装有电源插头。

语言

在多外国人居住的饭店里工作的待应生和接待人员，他们之所以会被派担任这些工作，多数是因为他们正在学习外语，所以如果有需要，不妨用外语请他们协助。

上海的街道的路牌，除了中文名，也有拼音英文名。

气候

上海的气候，十一月至次年二月为冬季，气温有时降到零度以下。六月到八月为夏季，较热，并有降雨。旧地重游的旅游者大多选择春秋二季到上海，特别是秋季更好。不过，届时旅馆客房比较紧张。

机场税金

乘用国际航线飞机离开虹桥飞机场的旅客，每人要付税金人民币十元，行李重量超额也要用人民币付行李费。出境搭客候机室里有一个外币兑换柜台。

购买商品

要将所购高价商品携带出境须具备商店销货发票。你如携带贵重商品（如手表、照相机）入境，必须在入境时向海关申报，并在出境时将原物带回。

旅馆电视

自今年四月份开始，各大饭店都已装设了放映外国电影的闭路电视，影片以英语片为主。饭店闭路电视节目时间：上午十一时到下升一时半，下午七时到晚上十二时。请叫客房服务员为你接上电视专用电线，收费是每天四元。你在晚上也可以收看中文的当地电视节目。

报纸

各饭店和宾馆的书店发售几种外文报纸和新闻周报，以及各种中外出版的外文书籍。

烟酒

各饭店和宾馆均备有中外名酒，存量较多，品种也多。法国白兰地、苏格兰威士忌，以及加利福尼亚名酒和意大利名酒都有供应。香烟售价比香港略贵，但比许多国家的免税香烟售价低。

退房

旅客退租房间结帐时间是以中午十二时为准，但因上海有吃早午饭的习惯，所以，可以放宽一、二小时。傍晚动身的旅客结帐后可以把行李暂时寄放在旅馆里。

貨幣

外貨とトラベラーズチェックは，中国に持ちこめるが，中国銀行発行のトラベラーズチェック以外の人民券は持ちこめない。同じように人民券も持ちだすことができない。中国をはなれるとき，使いのこした人民券は，外貨にまたチェンジできる。

旅行者は，外貨を外貨兌換券に兌換しなければならない。これは人民券と等価で，同じように通用できる。

人民券の元の単位はドルの単位に匹敵し，100分からなり，分はまたセントに当る。人民券の額面は１，５，10，50円と，10，50分（１，５角）の各種からなっている。

人民券１元は10個の１角になることができる。このような小額な貨幣は，ショッピングやタクシーを使った場合にもらうかもしれない。

両替

ホテルのフロントが両替にもっとも簡便なところである。もし空港とか，駅とかで両替しなかった時に，利用するといい。平日は午前８時から午後８時まで両替できる。日曜日は午前８時から午後５時半までとなっている。両替の比率はその時の為替レートで決まる。中国銀行の近ごろの外貨買いつけねだんは次のようである。

100英ポンド（327元），100香港ドル（31元），100米ドル（176元）10万日本円（756元），100カナダドル（146元）100オーストラリアドル（199元），100シンガポールドル（81元），100ドイツマルク（72元），100フランスフラン(30元）トラベラズーチェックのレートはこれよりいくらか高い。中国銀行は和平飯店のとなりにあって，午前９時半から午後４時半まで営業している。

クレジットカード

中国の各大ホテル，銀行，友誼商店では，VISA，American Express，Master Charge，Diner's Federal Cards（香港南洋銀行発行）などのカードが通用する。

一般には，1500元までの範囲で使用できる。その場合４％の手数料が請求される。American Expressのカードは個人振出しの小切手の引出しにだけ使われ，毎回1500米ドルまで引出せる。手数料はとられない。二、三の骨董品店でも，取引きにクレジットカードが利用されはじめている。このような支払い方法は，普及しつつあるが，まだ広範囲に使用されてない。どこでも同じようなクレジットカードが通用するわけではない。くわしい事は中国銀行に問合せるといい。

チップ

いかる場合にもチップをあげる必要がない。請求書にある通りに支払い，おつりをきちんと受取ることである。

水

ホテルが各部屋に用意してあるお湯を，飲むこと。瓶詰めの崂山ミネラルウオータの味もわるくない。

クリーニング

普通は二日かかる。しかし，急ぐ場合には，特に一日で仕あげてくれる。上海を離れる前に，クリーニングに出したものが，全部もどったかどうかを，必ずたしかめること。

郵電

中国の郵政部門も，速達便の業務をやっているので，手紙や文件などを郵送する場合，上海からロンドンまで，２～３日しかかからない。

中国の切手は，うらにのりがついてないから，使うとき，そばに用意してあるのりを，利用すればよい。

ホテル各階の係り員に申しこめば，国際電話も自分の部屋からかけられる。中国語が話せない場合，市内電話をかけるとき，ちょっとめんどうである。このような場合には，交換手に英語で「外線をお願いします」といえば，外線につないでくれる。サインが出てから，ダイヤルを回わせばよい。交換手たちは，中国語以外に数カ国語知っているはずである。もし，日本語を知っている交換手にぶつかることができたら，ほんとうに大助りである。

上海の各大ホテルには，みな高能率の電信業務を受けつける部門が設けられてある。例えば，錦江飯店のそこには，タイプライタやテレクスなどが設置されて，利用者が自分で使用できるようになっている。仕事の忙しくないときには，係りの者がよろこんで，手伝ってくれる。

交通

上海フレンドシップタクシサービス公司を利用すること。そこの車はホテルのフロントやレストランから呼ぶことができる。しかし通りで，手をあげて呼びとめることはできない。この公司には，紅旗——黒い高級車——35台と，上海——グレイの普通車——286台の二種類のタクシが用意されてある。「上海」は，最低料金2.5元で５キロまである。一日借り切ると（午前８時から午後６時まで）25元である。一日の場合には，運転手に昼食をあげるよう気をつけること。香港や日本からきた旅行者は，上海の車は右側通行であることによく注意せねばならない。道を横切るとき，まず左をよく見て車が来たかどうかをたしかめてから横断することである。もしやうて来た自転車を避けようとするとはさまれるか，もっとわるいことになるかもしれない。

全ての上海の車は，そのプレートナンバーが08ではじまっている。例えばレストランで車を呼んだ場合，

ボーイが教えてくれる車のナンバーは，車の登録ナンバーの後の４桁か５桁の数字かもしれない。

電話

上海の電圧は200～220ボルトである。アメリカ製の電気器具は変圧器が必要である。大きなホテルは，バスルームにさしこみがあるが，必ずしも鏡のそばだとはかぎらない。

ことば

中国語漢字ローマ字化が大きく発展している。現在の表音文字による方法は，以前に比べて，発音の面でいっそう中国標準語に近いとみなされている。だが，個別的な発音にはまだ問題があるようだ。上海空港のある場所を漢字拼音字母で綴ると「Hong qiao」となる。実際には「Hong Chow」と発音されている。いくつかの音にこれと同じような問題がある。短い上海滞在中に，次のようなことばをよく耳にすると思う。zao，nihao（早，你好；おはよう，いかがですか）xiexieni（謝謝你；ありがとう）など。

外国人の泊るホテルに勤めている人たちは――ボーイ，ウェーター，フロントの係り員など――みな外国語を勉強しているのである。もし，何か用があるときには外国語で頼めばいい。

外出したとき，上海の通りの名が漢字とアルファベットで書かれてあるのに気づくと思う。

気候

上海は冬がたいへん寒い。11月から２月までの間だが。気温が時には零度以下になる。

それに反して夏（６月から８月まで）はすごく暑く，多雨でもある。春秋は四季の中にもっともよい。以前上海を訪れたことのある人たちは，春，秋の時季を選んでまた上海を訪れる。秋は春よりも更によい。しかし秋は遊行シーズンの為，ホテルが予約しにくいかもしれない。

服装はその季節季節に合う服を着ればいい。ヨーロッパのビジネスマンは，揃いの背広を着るのが普通である。宴会に紹待された場合でも，今ではそれほど固苦しくなく，わりと自由である。

空港税

もし上海虹橋空港の国際線で上海を離れる場合，残った人民券を全部外貨にチェンジせずに，10元の人民券を空港税として残しておくよう注意せねばならない。両替が出発ホールの内部に設けられてある。荷物は税関の検査を経なければならない。それがすんでからでから托送できる。すぐそばにそれがある。

買い物

高価な商品は出国する際，税関にそのレシートーを見せなければならない。入国の時申請した貴重品（腕時計，カメラ，宝石）は，出国の際もう一度申告しなければならない。

ホテルのテレビ

主なホテルは，今年の夏からクローズ回路テビ方式を採用し，外国のフイルムを放送する計画をすすめている。これのフイルムは英文が主である。放送時間は11：00～13：30と19：00～24：00の二回である，各階の係りの者に言えば，特別のコードを部屋のテレビにつないでくれる。料金は１日４元である。

中国国内放送のテレビは，上海テレビ局が毎晩放送している。中国語がわからなくても見ておもしろい番組もある。

理髪

上海で理髪またはパマをかけることをすすめる。ねだんが安い。腕前は中国一である。座ったままでマッサージもしてくれる。

貴重品保管

貴重品はホテルの保管室に預けておくのが一ばん安全である。このことは余計なことかもしれない。それはホテルの従業員は非常に誠実だからである。でも時には，ホテルの部屋のかぎをかけ忘れて，手くせの悪い奴にチヤンスをあたえることなるから，注意するにこしたことはない。

エアライン

中国民航（CAAC）と日本航空（JAL）の二社の定期便が，上海と長崎，大阪，東京の間をしげく往復している。中国民航は日曜日以外，毎日香港への直航便がある。キャセイ航空も水曜日と土曜日に香港――上海――香港の定期便がある。また，中国民航は木曜日に北京――上海――サンフランシスコ――ニューヨークの定期便がある。パンアメリカン航空の定期便は，金曜日，上海を出発して東京経由でサンフラシスコ，ニューヨークへ飛んでいる。これは夏秋の時刻表で，中国民航の冬期時刻表は11月１日からはじまる。（４月１日――10月31日；11月１日――翌年の３月31日）。

中国民航の上海本部は延安中路789号で，国際線の予約受付の電話は532255，国内線のは，553953である。実際には，各大ホテルのフロントには民航の代理がいて，予約を受けつけている。各外国航空会社の住所，電話は次の通りである。

日本航空　准海中路1202号，
TEL：378467
キャセイ航空　錦江飯店918室，
TEL：534242
パンアメリカン航空
虹橋上海空港364号室，
TEL：531935

船

「海興」と「上海」の二隻の客船が毎週，香港に向けて出航している。航程は約三日である。外国の巡航遊覧船が上海に寄港したときは，上海大厦の近くに投錨する。

鉄道――北京，広州に向けて特急が走っている。その他の多く都市にも同様である。1981年の時刻表によれば，北京行特急は毎日の10：57と17：21に上海を出発し，広州行特急は09：25に出発することなっている。

新聞雑誌

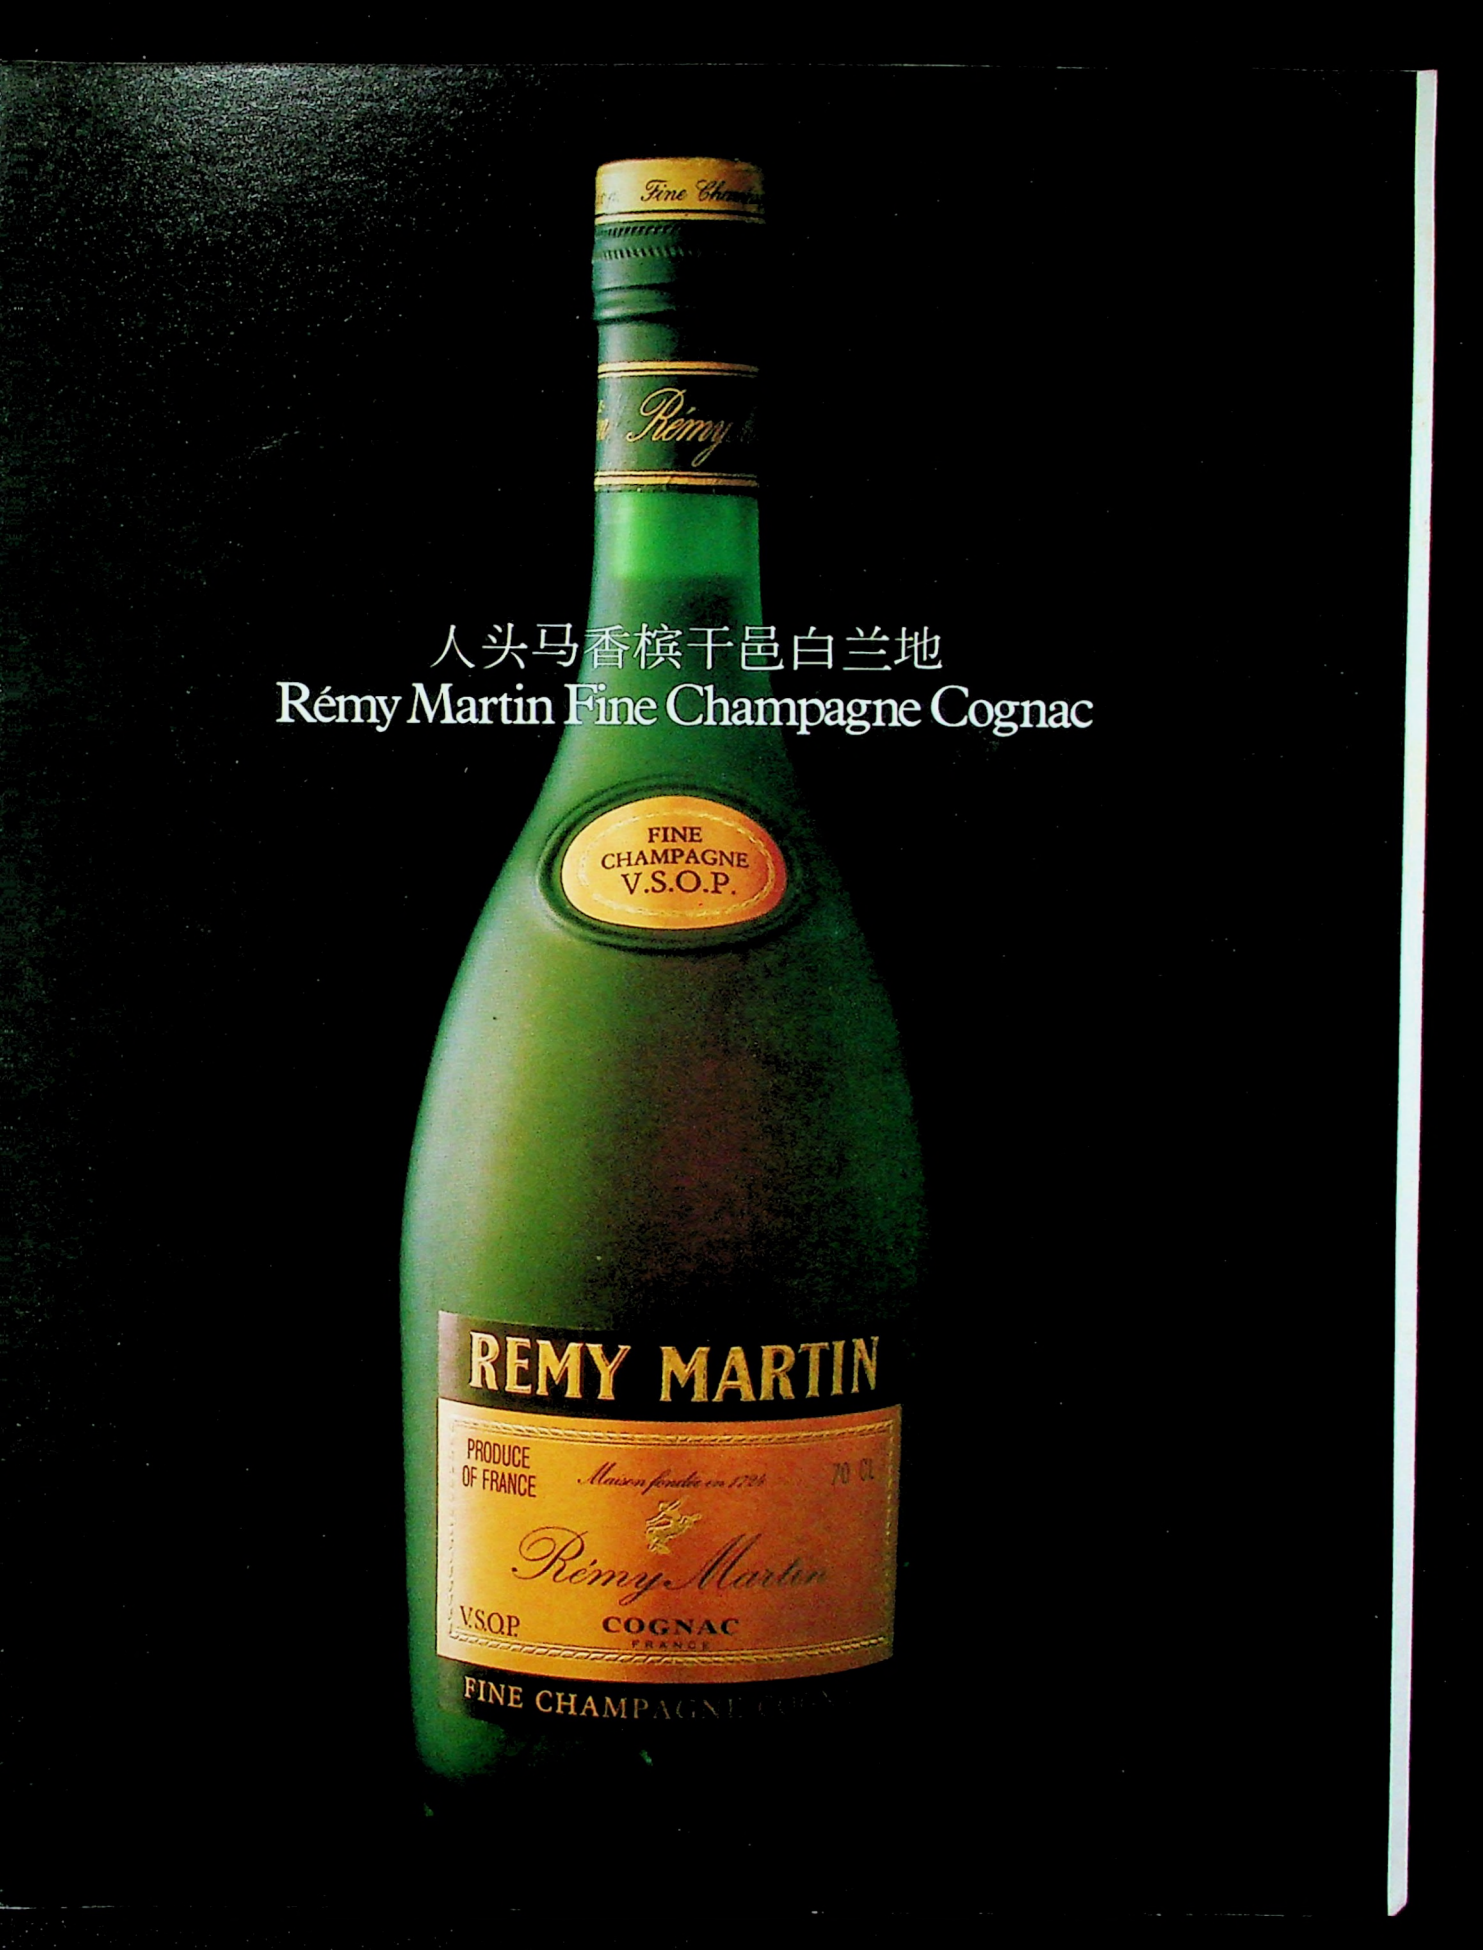

各ホラル，賓館の書店で，いくつかの外国の新聞，週刊誌などを売っている。その外にも国内外発行の外文書籍も売っている。

酒，煙草

上海の各ホテルには，相当豊富にいろいろな中国製酒，煙草と外国製の酒，煙草などがそろっている。煙草は香港と比べてわずかに高い。しかし，その他の多くの国の免税煙草よりやや低い。フランスのブランディ――からスコットランドウィスキー及びカルフォルニアー，イタリーの酒までが並べてあり，ねだんもそんなに高くない。

チェックアウト

ホテル規定のチェックアウトの時間は12時になっている。上海の昼食時間の関係で，ときに１～２時間の延長が許される。午後または夜出国する場合には，荷物をホテルに一時預かってもらうこともできる。

Exceed Quartz by Citizen.
Space-age alloy in an ageless design.

Beauty that lasts. Exceed watches are protected from the vagaries of fashion and the ravages of time. Made from ultra-hard alloy, these traditionally styled quartz timepieces are virtually scratch-proof. Made from the same durable material used in advanced space satellites, ultra-hard alloy resists dulling and abrasion to keep its rich lustrous finish for many years to come. The crystal, too, is made of a super-hard sapphire glass.

The remarkably thin movement of Exceed watches allows Citizen's designers the freedom to create watches of great beauty and elegance, while at the same time crafting timepieces of great precision and matchless durability.

EXCEED

room, smoking-room, private-bar, writing-room and a barber's shop.

The large dining-hall, 156 feet long, will be on the first floor, and it will have on both sides broad balconies where meals will also be served. The dining room is designed to accommodate 400 guests. The ceiling will be a barrel vault, and will measure thirty feet from the floor to its apex. On this floor also, facing Astor Road, there will be a large and handsome banqueting hall 92 feet long by 40 feet wide, with reception rooms and separate service arrangements: there will be as well, five large private dining-rooms.

The upper floors will be devoted to bedrooms and private sitting-rooms, being arranged so that they may be let in self-contained suites. All bedrooms, of course, will have bath-rooms attached.

The kitchen will be in the attic storey and will communicate directly by lifts, with the various serving-rooms.

The wing on the Broadway side of the site will contain a large public billiard-room, which will be gained through the public-bar. The remainder of this frontage will be utilized as shops, six in number.

Three new passenger elevators will be installed to meet the extra accommodation provided.

A special feature will be the handsome decorations. The foyer, public bar and the palm court will have marble mosaic floors, and the electric light fittings are to be of an elaborate and costly description, harmonizing with the general decorations. The palm court, which will be luxuriously fitted, will, in many respects, be similar to that at the new Waldorf Hotel, London, and will have a raised dais for the accommodation of an orchestra.

The building will be in the English Renaissance style and faced externally with red brick and artificial stone. The main façade to the Whangpoo Road will have the ground and first storeys of plain brickwork relieved by keystones and quoins of stone. Above will be a colonnade two storeys in height, composed of nine massive stone columns with cornice and entablature, all of stone, flanked by projecting wings which terminate in pediments. At the corner of Broadway and Whangpoo Road will be a tower rising to a total height of over 100 feet. The offices and kitchen on the top storey will be lighted during the day by dormer windows in the roof.

money or rendering it absolutely impossible to distribute it.

As it turned out, an impatient horde of Chinese invaded the Mixed Court some time before the appointed hour, and in its eagerness to obtain money made a rush which resulted in several broken windows, and considerable damage to the Court furniture. The few runners who were in attendance were unable to cope with the situation, and the uproar assumed such proportions that at the suggestion of Mr. Barton, who happened to be on the premises at the time, Sub-Inspector Johnson telephoned to West Hongkew for police reinforcements. This course was fully justified by what followed. By the time the nine constables arrived from the station the Mixed Court drive, the yard of the male detention house, and the native Court itself were densely packed with Chinese whose umbrellas—for it was raining hard—presented a solid black covering, save when they were lowered to assist their owners in pushing to the front. For fully half an hour the police had all they could do to preserve order.

HOW THE MONEY WAS PAID.

Cashiers provided by the Chamber of Commerce sat at long tables, close to the windows, at each end of the Court, and as soon as they appeared they were besieged by swarms of clamouring Chinese who struggled desperately to redeem their notes. Again and again a batch of kicking and squealing money-seekers had to be forcibly dislodged by the police, and a perfect pandemonium followed each such attempt to restore order. It was not until several thousands of dollars had been paid out that the police were able to close the main gate of the Court, and, a little later, the outer gate of the detention house. They then turned their attention to the inner gate nearest the Court, through which only a limited number of applicants was allowed to pass at a time. This did not at all meet the views of the dense mob in the yard, who evidently got the impression that they were being deprived of their money. They charged the gate again and again, and on several occasions bore the five constables who were stationed in front of it before them, and surged into the Court. Though almost carried off their feet, the police returned to their task manfully, and but for their efforts a riot would probably have ensued.

IDENTIFICATION.

The best place to witness the scene was inside the Court, behind the barrier of tables mentioned above. Outstretched arms were thrust through both windows, and the real difficulty seemed to be to identify the owners of the notes after they had been handed in. At one side the cashier seized the queue of each applicant for dollars, and retained it firmly in his grasp until the notes had been counted, and the equivalent in Mexican dollars thrust into an eager hand. At the other side Mr. Yu Ya-ching presided, and he adopted the simpler method of grabbing a hand, taking the notes from it, and holding it until he had replaced them by dollars. Each Chinese seemed to be possessed with the fear that was too late and it was only when they actualy had the silver in their grasp that strained and anxious faces expanded into a celestial smile, and all signs of haste and excitement vanished. Some men, who were on the wrong side of the door, hit upon the dodge of entering one of the cells, and handing their notes through a window to a confederate inside, who redeemed them, and returned the same way. This was soon stopped by shutting and barring the window. As time went on the clamour decreased, and when the last batch of applicants was admitted there was comparative quiet once more.

It was about 5.20 when the whole crowd had been satisfied, and the perspiring and mud-bespattered police were able to relax their efforts. Upwards of $19,000 had then been paid out, and though there were occasional new arrivals up till 6 p.m. the demand of the day had been satisfied. The notes, as they were received, were counted and checked, and then packed away into pig-skin boxes.

The only creatures that appeared oblivious to the prevailing excitement were a couple of children and a few chickens. The latter strutted to and fro at the back of the Court, within easy reach of a couple of musty sedan chairs which would have formed a convenient place of refuge from the crowd.

FUNERAL OF MR. A. J. FLAHERTY.

The funeral of Mr. A. J. Flaherty, Vice-Consul in charge of H. M. Land Office, took place on Saturday morning. Leaving the General Hospital about 7.15, the cortège proceeded to St. Joseph's Church in the French Concession, where a solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated at 8 a.m. The interior of the Church had been draped for the occasion and there was a large attendance of Consular officials and friends of the deceased. The coffin, which was placed in the middle of the Church, was surrounded by lighted candles, and the High Altar was similarly illuminated. Wreaths and floral tributes were sent in such numbers that they completely covered the coffin.

The Mass ended about 8.45 and the coffin was then borne to the hearse by members of H. M. Consulate staff. A long procession of carriages followed the hearse to the Bubbling Well Cemetery, where Messrs. W. P. Ker, S. Barton, J. T. Pratt, W. G. B. Fletcher, O. R. Coales, A. G. Major, G. W. King, and L. M. King, all colleagues of the deceased, carried the casket to the grave. Sir Pelham L. Warren acted as chief mourner, and besides representatives from nearly every Consulate, there were also present: Messrs. D. Landale, F. S. A. Bourne, representatives of the Municipal Council, of the men-of-war in port, and of the Taotai, and Mr. Pao Yi, the Mixed Court Magistrate. The Burial Service was concluded at the graveside about 9.30 a.m. and after the grave had been filled in, the mound was covered with floral tributes. Out of respect to the deceased the flags of all the Consulates and men-of-war were half-masted and the Police and Supreme Courts were adjourned. A message of sympathy was received from Sir John Jordan.

SHANGHAI'S NEW BUILDINGS.

II.

ASTOR HOUSE HOTEL.

One does not need very much discernment to notice the large increase year by year in the number of visitors who come to Shanghai. The additions that have been made to our leading hotels or that are now under construction, at once indicate this fact, and when the building operations are complete and the hotels ready for occupation, Shanghai will have every reason to feel proud of the structures, as they will compare more than favourably with some of the leading hotels of the largest cities in the world. Of course not in actual size are they comparable with some to be found in London, New York, or large Continental cities, but in the matter of comfort, comparisons may be made, and the local hotels relied upon to emerge from the ordeal with success.

It is, therefore, not uninteresting to give some brief description of the extensions to the Astor House Hotel which are being built under the supervision of Messrs. Davies and Thomas. It is no light work: the most important part of it will take eighteen months, and when completed the additions will give the hotel 250 bedrooms, and the whole building will stand on an area of over ten mow. Everything will be on a large scale. The large foyer of 72 feet by 60 feet, will be entered through a capacious vestibule from the Whangpoo Road, and off the foyer there will be a winter-garden, or palm court, 70 feet by 40 feet. The public bar, which is to be 60 feet by 50 feet, will be on the corner of Broadway and Whangpoo Road, and will be entered from a circular porch in the tower. The grand staircase will be at the eastern end of the foyer, and a separate entrance will be provided for ladies, from the Astor Road. Overlooking this thoroughfare will be the private sitting-rooms, comprising ladies rooms, large reading-room, private billiard

Astor House
HOTEL

Top Hats and Backpacks

by Peter Hibbard

When I first landed in Shanghai in 1986 I, like most travellers, headed for the musty dorms of the Pujiang Hotel. I remember paying a hefty 30 Yuan to share a room with 16 others. Today the hotel is a Hostelling International member and its dorms sleep eight to twelve at 55 Yuan a bed - not so much for such an historic setting and great location. Just think you could be resting your head in the same spot where King George, Czar Nicholas, Prince Heinrich of Prussia and the Aga Khan once did. The Pujiang, formerly known as the Astor House, is Shanghai's longest established hotel.

Two American sailors built a shack-like hostelry on the present-day site in 1842. However, the first true Astor House didn't evolve until 1858, when an American storekeeper, P. F. Richards erected a two-storey hotel. In the 19th century the hotel changed hands and was expanded numerous times. While the idle rich sipped whiskies, only to be interrupted by brief excursions to nearby spots to shoot wild fowl for preparation by the chef, the billiard tables introduced in 1863, were continually occupied from midday until the early hours.

A new 120 room hotel, which survived for less than a decade, was opened in 1901. With its eccentric American manager, Louis Ladlow and a famous trio of bartenders Happell, Hill and Bobbett, the bar served the finest cocktails in the East. The Russo-Japanese War of 1904 spurred a wave of wealthy Russian guests, who drank the finest champagne and were always obliging in paying for their shattered glasses.

The present hotel, in English Renaissance style was opened in January 1911 with grounds extending to the waterfront, where the Russian Consulate now stands. The ground floor was taken over with a handsome buffet bar and huge lounge hall, a billiard room and a reading room. On the first floor was found the two-storey dining room with balcony and veranda, capable of seating over 500 guests, as well as a banqueting room and private dining rooms. From the second floor upwards were to be found 211 rooms and 7 suites. It was the finest in the Far East.

A new ballroom opened in 1917 and was further remodelled in 1923 to keep up with the Shanghai passion for nightly entertainment. The new ballroom's light blue walls were decorated with dancing sylphs and maidens. A large peacock shell structure, constantly changing in colour, formed a backdrop for the Astor orchestra. At that time the hotel was owned by the Hong Kong and Shanghai Hotels, who later opened the Peninsula Hotel in Hong Kong. The ballroom to the rear of the lobby housed China's first securities exchange in the 1990s.

During its early years the anarchic and flamboyant Astor House saw managers drop dead playing billiards, commit suicide and run off with company funds. Before 1937 when the Japanese Y.M.C.A occupied the hotel it had become a hot-spot for rich American tourists more interested in the lingerie shop than the bar. After the war the hotel was in such a poor state that its future could only be secured as a second class establishment. Today modest refurbishment work continues and there are some reminders of the past glory, such as in room 103 - the only chamber to keep its original fittings. ☆

Astor House (from 1911 N-C HERALD) (WHY ANNEX??

"The Astor House Extension will greatly assist in bearing in upon the visitor that he is approaching no mean city. Favored by its site, it stands out boldly and inspires a bilief in the future of a city that can support such a huge caravanserai, in addition to others. The Shanghai resident regards it with equal admireation and also with a sense of personal pride. That gigantic edifice stands where, in the memory of may still living, the swamp-birds called defiantly to the struggling settlement that was finding its feet on the other side of the creek. It personifies to the resident the verification of the brightest dreams that in the old days the most daring dared to dream. A hugh but stately seal has in a sense been set upon the city's aspirations, and it stands at once as an emblem of accomplishment and an example for emulation."

Southern frontage overlooking the Huangpu River and the Public Gardens - five storeys and attic - corner has public bar room and buffet (60x50') and in center magnificent lounge hall (70x60') and offices - basement with storerooms, steam heating apparatus and motor fire pump.

Grand staircase, with marble dado and red panels on white background, leads upward to passenger lifts, ladies cloak room, "a very prettily and cosily furnished ladies' sitting room", a reading room furnished with two large reading tables, three writing desks, and several comfortable sofas and easy chairs upholstered in leather; a private buffet with polish teakwood bar; a large and well lighted billiard room with two tables.

"On the opposite side of a wide corridor which overlooks the hotel quadrangle are the hairdresser's shop and a small and well-secluded writing room. To this floor there is also a ladies' entrance and staircase from the Astor Road."

Farther up grand staircase is main dining hall, almost the whole length of the building (155x50'), two storeys in height with a gallery and verandah on the second floor and well lighted by a barrelled ceiling of glass. Dinners can also be served in the gallery and on the verandah.

On the Astor Road side is a handsome banquetting hall (90x40") and reception rooms (40x20'), both decorated in ivory and gold, and opposite six private dining rooms with folding doors to alter the size.

On the second floor along with the gallery are bedrooms and a winter garden, with bedrooms on third and fourth floors, some with private sitting rooms. There are luxury suites on the SW corner of each floor with magnificent views.

The kitchens and service rooms are in the attic, with six electric serving lifts.
